BULLETS MEET GANG FLEEING STORE HOLDUP

3 Robbers Escape in Car with Girl.

Three policemen outshot five bandits in a pistol battle at Sedgwick and Locust streets last night. Two of the robbers were killed and a third, who escaped, was believed to have been wounded. The policemen came through a fusillade of shots without a wound.

The slain bandits were Rudolph Kvacik, 27 years old, of 1454 South Union avenue, and Charles Jarusaitis, 23 years old, 629 West 16th street. Kvacik, shot through the head, died as he fell. Jarusaitis, also shot in the head, died later in the Henrotin hospital.

According to the police, Kvacik had served several short terms in the Bridewell. Jarusaitis also had a record as a minor hoodlum, the police said.

Meet Bandits Fleeing Holdup.

Sergt. John O'Malley and Patrolmen John O'Brien and William Walsh of the Chicago avenue station were cruising the district on a vice and gambling investigation when they encountered the bandits. The policemen were driving west in Locust street when they noticed an automobile parked on the wrong side of the street near the Sedgwick street corner. As they left their car to investigate, the five robbers swarmed out of the grocery store of Andrew Sorce at 901 Sedgwick street, where they had just held up six persons.

The robbers, their faces partly masked by handkerchiefs, opened fire immediately on the policemen. Their shots went wild, and the police returned the fire. Kvacik and Jarusaitis ran across the street toward St. Dominic Roman Catholic church on the southeast corner. As they neared the church they were struck by the bullets of the policemen and both fell.

Girl Drives Robbers' Car.

The three other bandits turned east in Locust street and ran to their car. A girl sat at the wheel. She started the engine and the car moved slowly forward. As the three robbers neared the moving car one was seen to stagger, as though from a wound. He was helped into the car by his two companions and the automobile sped away.

A few minutes before the shooting the five robbers had entered the grocery store with drawn guns and ordered all within the place to hold up their hands. Sorce, the owner, was not there, having left the store in charge of his wife, Josephine; a brother, Samuel; his father, Angelo, and a clerk, Grace Treppreil. These four were lined up by the robbers along with two customers, Miss Mary Naples, 931 Sedgwick street, and H. H. Walker, 1225 North Dearborn street, a salesman for the Washington National Insurance company.

The robbers took a purse containing $20 from Miss Naples, $35 from Walker, and $40 from the store's cash register. They herded all their victims into a back room and fled from the store into the storm of police bullets.

Slain Bandit Father of Three.

After the bodies of Kvacik and Jarusaitis had been taken to the county morgue Kvacik's widow, Lillian, and his brother, George, also of 1454 South Union avenue, appeared there.

The widow said her husband had been working for about six years for a north side painting and decorating concern and had not been in trouble with the police for a long time. He was the father of three children, Ilene, 5 years old; Rudolph Jr., 3 years old, and Delores, 1 year old.

Jarusaitis is survived by his widow, Lucille, and a sister, Mrs. Adela Burba, 5549 South Michigan avenue. They also appeared at the morgue and identified his body.

Bomb Theater as Peace Plan Is Submitted

The Commodore theater, a moving picture house at 3105 Irving Park boulevard, was bombed early this morning. The explosion was set off at a fire exit at the side of the theater, tore down two steel doors, loosened plaster on the ceiling of the theater, and caused an estimated damage of $3,000.

Shots Fired at Bombers.

Patrolman William Felsch of the Albany Park police, detailed as a guard at the theater because of the trouble between the operators' union and the Allied Independent Theater association, saw three men near the place where the bomb was set. He chased them down a nearby alley and fired three shots at them. While he was pursuing the men the bomb went off. In addition to the damage to the theater the blast shattered several windows in the neighborhood, including the show windows of the jewelry store of Gustave Kahn at 3101 Irving Park boulevard.

The theater is operated by Gumbiner Brothers. N. Gumbiner, 3028 Palmer square, one of the owners, said that since the lockout of the union operators the Commodore has employed a nonunion operator.

Eighth Bombing of War.

This made the eighth theater bombing since the war between the union and the owners began.

The bombing of the Commodore came on the heels of the submission by the union to the theater owners of a peace or an arbitration plan which will be considered this morning by the members of the owners' association. Following a conference in which Assistant State's Attorney Charles E. Lounsbury acted as mediator between Thomas D. Nash, attorney for the union, and Theodore Levin, attorney for the owners, the plan was considered by the executive committee of the association. If it is considered favorably by the owners a meeting will be arranged between the heads of the organizations.

FORMER BORDER DRY AGENT HELD AS RUM RUNNER

When state troopers stopped his car after a chase on a country highway in Wyoming county, they say they found four cases of Pennsylvania whisky and eight cases of Canadian ale in the machine.

Gunman Gets 30 Delays in Robbery Case

On Nov. 21, 1930, the Pennsylvania Oil company complained to the Chicago crime commission that every time its employés went to court to prosecute Daniel Prendergast, 3826 Parnell avenue, for the robbery of one of its oil stations, Prendergast's attorney was able to get a continuance.

The perusal of the records yesterday showed that Prendergast had been in court 30 times on this charge, that he had been indicted for six crimes in the last eighteen months, and that each time he obtained his release on bonds he had become involved in new crimes. Furthermore, with three indictments against Prendergast on the docket before Superior Judge Walter Stanton today, Assistant State's Attorney John Murphy has informed the court he is willing to allow Prendergast to plead guilty to grand larceny instead of robbery.

Prendergast was captured on Aug. 2 after he and three other gunmen had invaded the eighth floor offices of the Century Electrotype company, 847 South Clark street, and seized a pay roll of $1,643. After pursuit by the police, Prendergast, who had all the money on his person, and Edgar Cortner, 536 West 45th street, were ar-

Capture Three in Blackmail Bombing Plot

Twenty-five policemen surrounded the Temple building at 77 West Washington street yesterday afternoon and a dozen others searched through the corridors and offices until they found and arrested three men who are alleged to have extorted thousands of dollars from Chicago physicians and to have bombed the homes of several who refused their demands.

MORRIS BOGOSLOWSKI.

Those in custody are Morris Bogoslowski, 35 years old, 443 Wrightwood avenue; Charles Fried, 33 years old, 2400 West 16th street, and Joseph Haddad, 31 years old, 1313 South Albany avenue. All have long police records. Also taken to the detective bureau was Attorney Joseph Kolb, with offices in the Temple building, who arranged a rendezvous between the doctors and the blackmailers.

Intended Victims Named.

Among their intended victims were Dr. Elmer D. Howe, 190 North State street; Dr. Josephine Gabler, 1649 North Albany avenue, and Dr. Max Gecht, 729 Diversey parkway. Dr. Gecht is reported to have paid the extortionists $2,500 and Dr. Howe's home at 6701 Greenview avenue was bombed on Sunday.

According to the story told to Attorney Cameron Latter, representing Dr. Howe, and to Chief of Detectives John Norton, Bogoslowski and his accomplices threatened to make the public believe that the doctors they attempted to prey on were abortionists.

Physicians Meet Demands.

Not wishing to have such reports spread about them, it is believed that some physicians met the demands. Dr. Gecht, the police were told, sent his contribution to the three men through Kolb early yesterday. Chief Norton's men reported that they found two pistols and $2,500 in Kolb's office.

When Dr. Howe decided to fight against the blackmailers he went to Attorney Latter, who informed him he would have nothing to do with the case unless the police were informed about it also. Dr. Howe agreed, having become fearful since the bombing.

Bogoslowski, so bold was he, went even to Mr. Latter and demanded $2,000 as Dr. Howe's contribution.

"We'll take care of him," the blackmailer boasted, "and anybody else who tries to stop us. We gave him one pineapple and we've got bigger ones. There was another doctor, Frank Nathanson, who wouldn't stand for this shake, and we gave it to him."

Girl Delivers Package.

Mr. Latter told Chief Norton of the plot and Lieut. James Scully was put to work investigating. The lieutenant and his men were in the Temple building when a girl employé of Attorney Latter took $2,000 in $100 bills to Kolb's office.

Lieut. Scully then went into Kolb's office. The plotters were not there, but they were found a little later in an office on the seventeenth floor.

Kolb denied any connection with the plot. He said he represented Dr. Gecht and that his client had turned over to him the $2,500 to pay the blackmailers.

Bogoslowski was once sentenced to prison for the murder of Joseph Lanus, west side automobile dealer, in 1922. He later obtained a reversal.

Dr. Frank L. Nathanson's home at 3216 Lake Park avenue was bombed several weeks ago.

BULLETIN.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 24.—(AP)—More than two hundred world war veterans, at a meeting at the Sawtelle Soldiers' home, tonight destroyed their American Legion cards and buttons in protest against the Legion's failure to adopt resolutions at the Detroit convention for immediate payment of the bonus.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SCOTT LUCAS.

A resolution condemning the 18th amendment and demanding that congress move to hold a nation-wide referendum on the repeal or modification of the present prohibition law was adopted in the closing session of the Legion's 13th annual convention.

The vote triumphed by a vote of 1,008 to 394, better than 2½ to 1.

Workingmen the Voters.

It was the workingman of the Legion, the soldier, who voted for the downfall of Volsteadism. There was no sign of drunkenness anywhere in the great convention hall as the debate raged.

The rowdies among the Legionnaires, who had turned the city of Detroit into a ribald playground, were not in evidence. They had come here to make merry, they did make merry in an extravagant way, and, wearying of their carousals, nursing aching heads, they had departed before the real business of the convention came on. Detroit last night and today was a normal, orderly city again.

So it was the lot of the men who are the backbone of the Legion to pass upon what most of them conceded was one of the greatest issues ever before them.

New Commander Chosen.

Even the minority refused to come out boldly as favoring prohibition. There were pleas that the issue should not come up for action, but none of the speakers confessed an outright desire to uphold the law. The majority held prohibition the nation's greatest curse. The minority took a stand that the Legion should not involve itself in what the minority speakers described as a political and controversial issue in which the Legion had no part.

Undoubtedly many of the delegates who voted against the resolution were opposed to prohibition, but believed the Legion should not express an opinion upon it.

Heed Hoover on Bonus.

The convention also voted by a large majority not to press for the full payment of the adjusted compensation certificates, and by this action acceded to the plea of President Hoover. The President, addressing the convention Monday, pleaded the government's stress of finance. The vote on the resolution for immediate payment of the bonus was: For, 507; against, 902.

Another resolution, calling upon President Hoover to reorganize the wartime council for national defense, to nominate to the council the great men of the nation irrespective of party, and to intrust the council with meeting the economic crisis of the country, was adopted unanimously without comment.

It was a turbulent, at times riotous session at which the veterans of American wars spoke their thoughts on prohibition.

"We want beer!" was a slogan yelled from countless lungs many times during the debate. The few delegates who rose to oppose the resolution were booed again and again despite the pleas of National Commander Ralph T. O'Neil for dignified proceedings.

One dry delegate, before stating his argument, compared himself with the gladiators of Rome, who were permitted the favor of the emperor before going to death, and conceding the hopelessness of his cause, the delegate said:

"We, who are about to die, salute you."

"Dry" States Vote Wet.

The vote of the various delegations showed many Legionnaires coming from the supposedly arid states of the country voting wet. Alabama, the first state to vote, raised a storm of applause and cheers when its 30 votes were cast against prohibition. California, the home state of President Hoover, cast 71 votes for the resolution.

Colorado went wet, and so did many states from the dry south, including Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, and North Carolina. Indiana's delegation was split with the wets in a majority. Ohio and Michigan went wet by majorities, and Iowa split its delegation evenly. Illinois and Wisconsin were solidly wet.

All the business of the convention except the prohibition and bonus issues, and the election of officers, had been cleared away when Commander O'Neil called for the report of the resolutions committee which had wrestled with the prohibition question. There was a half hour's delay because the report had not been completed, but finally Dr. Neal D. Williams, chairman of the committee, advanced to the rostrum.

He announced that he would first read all but one of the resolutions, and move for their adoption before reading the last one. This brought a general laugh, for it was apparent the last one would be the prohibition resolution and would provoke a lengthy battle.

Text of Liquor Resolution.

With the routine resolutions out of the way, and unanimously approved, there was an air of tense expectancy in the hall. Chairman Williams then read the momentous resolution, as follows:

"Whereas, the eighteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States has created a condition of danger and disrespect for law and security of American institutions; now, therefore,

"Be it resolved, that the American Legion in the 18th annual convention assembled favors the submission by congress for repeal or modification of the present prohibition law to the several states, with the request that each state submit this question to the voters thereof."

Delegates Roar Approval.

A roar never before equaled in volume during the convention followed the reading, and in the midst of the clamor Dr. Williams moved the adoption of the report.

"You have heard the motion," began Commander O'Neil, and he was interrupted by several booming voices launching the chant: "We want beer, we want beer."

"Gentlemen of the Legion," pleaded O'Neil, as he banged his heavy gavel on a large replica of the Liberty bell, "let us proceed in an orderly manner."

Point of Order Raised.

A delegate from Nebraska moved to a point of order, contending that the terms of the resolution were in violation of the constitutional provisions of the Legion, because it was of a political nature.

Commander O'Neil had anticipated such a motion, and had obtained a ruling from the national judge advocate.

"The judge advocate advises me the point is not well taken, and as a legal matter, I agree with him," said the commander. "Personally, I believe there are many much more important matters which should properly occupy our time. I believe there is grave doubt of the desirability of introducing this subject to the possible prejudice of our organization and its efforts toward attaining our major objectives, but having no doubt that this subject, having been properly presented, must be considered on its merits without disposal by this parliamentary point, I rule that the point is not well taken."

Another roar greeted the decision of the chair.

Then Delegate Kain of Nebraska was given the floor, and he read the minority report of the resolutions committee, which held that the Legion should refrain from participation in political questions or issues.

"We believe that the prohibition question is politics and in no way within the scope of American Legion advocates," he said, and was interrupted.

"Boo! Boo!" came the deluge of rebukes to the speaker, and Commander O'Neil banged and banged on the Liberty bell before order was restored and Kain went on.

He read the resolution, ending with the following:

"Now, therefore be it resolved that the American Legion should not properly take any action on the question of prohibition, nor should we attempt to influence public or official opinion on such a political issue which can be the only result accomplished by such action."

Discussion on the two reports was then opened with a speech by Delegate Norman C. McDonald of Massachusetts.

"Since the passage of the eighteenth amendment," he said, "this country has stood by and has seen the forces of evil take control of some of the largest cities in our nation. It has seen the fingers of evil stretched forth into our smaller communities. Across the length and breadth of this land there are minor Capones, who rule in their communities just as Capone rules chief of the gangs in Chicago.

Sees Issue of License.

"We have seen our nation lose control of one of its greatest industries. We have seen it pass by one of its greatest sources of revenue. We have seen prohibition pass from a temperance issue to an issue of license. We have seen this government of ours humbled in its effort to enforce the unenforceable. We have seen in New York children playing in the streets shot down in cold blood.

"It has been truly said, ladies and gentlemen, in this resolution of ours that the security of American institutions is endangered. If that is so, can any man argue rightly or justly that this is not an issue for the American Legion to discuss?"

The delegates responded, in clarion tones—"No!"

"The time has come," McDonald went on, "for the American Legion, in common with all other civic organizations, to cast aside hypocrisy. The time has come for the American Legion to vote in this national crisis as it acts and as it believes."

Points to Law's Passage.

Then Commander O'Neil gave the floor to Scott Lucas of Illinois, past national judge advocate, who told, in this wise, how the prohibition law had been passed when the soldiers of the land were engaged in war:

"While we were engaged in the most deadly and costly conflict of civilization; while we were dedicated to the winning of the war, a frenzied, high financed group of individuals under strategic and astute leadership caused to be enacted, the most momentous change in constitutional government since the constitution was written.

"Obviously, the eighteenth amendment was passed for the primary purpose of eliminating the drunkard over the bar, the old time saloon, and all of the so-called economic evils and social ills attached thereto."

Mr. Lucas then told of the doubt expressed by one Supreme court justice on the constitutionality of the prohibition law.

"Birthright" Taken Away.

"Our birthright of statehood was taken from us and in return therefor we failed to receive even the proverbial mess of pottage," he said.

"The eighteenth amendment has been characterized as an 'experiment noble in motive,' yet it has proven to thousands of American citizens in all walks of life to be an experience lamentable and loathsome in many of its details."

Vincent A. Carroll, assistant district attorney at Philadelphia, Pa., who has prosecuted gangsters who went to the electric chair, was cheered when he came out frankly for "the beer drinkers of this great country."

"I am going to talk to the everyday Legionnaire, the beer drinker of this great country," was the way he put it. "There is a distinct tie-up between prohibition and the economic situation of the day, wherein honest employment given to thousands of decent home owners in the breweries throughout this country, the revenue that comes from that, the freight that comes from that, and all the allied industry that comes from that are swept away.

"We do not want beer so much as we do want an end to gang rule, more revenue for what we have and a chance to express ourselves under Legion leadership."

Legionnaire Edward Neary of New York referred again to the shooting down of children in his city, and he charged the crime against prohibition.

Until this stage of the argument, no voice was raised against the resolution, but now Douglas Hudson of dry Kansas was recognized and hesitantly and diffidently he approached the rostrum.

"I assure you that I have no desire, particularly, to stand before you on this occasion," he said, his manner of delivery showing plainly he realized he was standing in the face of the enemy. "Yet it seemed to me that some voice should be raised here which would, in a way, be an explanation of the votes of those who will vote 'no' on this majority report.

Sees Beer Construction.

"It is inevitable, by reason of the speeches which have been made, that a vote on this convention in favor of this resolution, which is in a manner a fair measure, will be construed as a vote for beer.

"At the very outset this resolution of the majority recites what to me seems a false premise, that the eighteenth amendment has caused these lamentable conditions which all of us do know prevail. I suggest that it is not the eighteenth amendment; it is the widespread violation of the eighteenth amendment which has brought into our land this condition which does closely approximate anarchy in many places.

"And so, upon this occasion, because it does seem to me that a vote for this referendum is a thing in which I would under no conditions be happy to concur, because 'vox populi, vox Deit,' because of misconstruction which will inevitably follow, because it will seem to many that we have substituted, as the symbol of the American Legion, a keg of beer, therefore the Kansas delegates will vote 'no.'"

Delegate Phil Solon from California said he was out of patience with the argument that money could be made by the government with the return of beer.

"I say that in California we feel that we do not care if, through prohibition, the national government makes money or loses money," Solon declared. "We say that if it undermines democracy we are against it, whether there is money or loss in it."

Then Jack Wicker, Virginia, took the floor and besought the favor of the clamoring wets before he undertook to make his opposing speech. He it was who told of the gladiators in Rome, given high privilege from the emperor before they entered the arena to die, and said it was as one such he dared to arise. The Legionnaires laughed with him and let him go on.

"The evils or virtues of prohibition are not in issue here today," he declared. "As I see it, the American Legion should take no position whatever in a matter which does not concern the Legion. It matters not whether prohibition is a good thing or a rotten thing.

"This is a political, controversial issue. My own Virginia delegation is divided on it—that's how controversial it is.

"Gentlemen, I believe it takes more courage for us to say we will not depart from things for which our great Legion is dedicated than to express ourselves on this question. All our strength should be for disabled veterans, for the widows and orphans of our dead, and for issues of patriotism and national defense."

"We have other business to consider," he said. "Our minds are made up. I move the previous question."

The motion prevailed, and National Adjutant James Barton began to call the roll of the states.

Demonstration Staged.

After a few minutes the result of the balloting was announced, and another great demonstration was staged.

The American Legion had joined the American Bar association, the American Medical association, and countless other great public organizations in the denunciation of prohibition.

Then the convention took up the bonus question. Speeches were made by supporters of both sides. Those insisting that the bonus should be paid now contended that if the veterans of the wars were given the funds more money would come into circulation, and this would restore prosperity.

The opponents of the bonus stressed the financial condition of the government and urged it as a patriotic service that the Legionnaires should not seek to further bonus payment at this time.

The debate was marked with some enthusiasm on both sides of the argument, but in no sense equal to the demonstrations provoked by the prohibition discussion.

Finally a vote was taken and the bonus went down in defeat.

He was born on Jan. 27, 1896, at Warsaw, N. C., which has been his home ever since. He was educated at the University of North Carolina and at Harvard law school, and is now a practicing lawyer.

Commander Stevens entered the world war service while a student at the university, attending the first officers' training camp at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. He was commissioned a second lieutenant of infantry and assigned to the 316th machine gun battalion, later transferred to the 315th machine gun battalion, 81st division. He served in France about twelve months.

Vice Commanders Chosen.

Five vice commanders, elected without opposition, are Richard Paul of Massachusetts, Col. Plummer of Wisconsin, Morris P. Cooper of Los Angeles, Roy Cook of New Mexico, and Frank Brooks of Washington, D. C.

Father H. A. Darsche of Bradley, Ill., winner of the Distinguished Service Cross for his heroism while serving as a chaplain in France, was elected national chaplain. He was sponsored by C. Wayland Brooks, assistant state's attorney in Chicago, and placed in nomination in a stirring speech by Mr. Brooks.

How Legion Voted

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—The vote of the delegates of the American Legion on the prohibition and bonus issues threshed out before the convention today is given below.

On prohibition the vote was for and against a resolution condemning the 18th amendment and calling upon congress to request the several states to call referendums upon the repeal or modification of the prohibition laws.

On the other issue the vote was for and against the immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus in cash.

'Drunks Are Running Legion,' Says Dr. Wilson, of the Drys

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Dr. Clarence True Wilson, Methodist dry leader, attacked the action of the American Legion in voting for a prohibition referendum in a statement tonight asserting that at the Detroit convention "numbers of staggering drunks disgraced the uniform and yelled for beer."

The statement of the general secretary of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church, who was in St. Joseph for a church conference, follows:

"The Legion has again taken the wet side. I am not surprised. If you have seen the outfit that gathered in Detroit as I did, you would be surprised that 394 men could be found who would stand up for the constitution and decency and sobriety.

Says Unworthy Dominate.

"When these men were being trained for overseas it was as sober soldiers in dry cantonments. America tried to make total abstainers of every one. They went across to France the cleanest army that ever assembled on any field. A million maintained their American ideals even in French cities.

"But some dropped down to another level. This is the crowd that seeks to dominate the Legion and our civilization. The wet propaganda for which the Legion has been used has so alienated thousands that they no longer attend the conventions.

New Commander Answers.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Henry L. Stevens Jr. of Warsaw, N. C., new national commander of the American Legion, tonight answered Dr. Clarence True Wilson's comment on the Legion's action in calling for a national referendum on prohibition.

"I certainly do not take the view that the Legion has taken the wet side," Stevens said. "The Legion did not take the wet side by calling for a referendum, but simply called for full expression of the opinion of the citizenry of the country.

Still Support Constitution.

"A million of us have stood up for the constitution and still do stand for it."

Col. Frederick M. Alger of Detroit, chairman of the Legion Convention corporation, replied to Dr. Wilson as follows:

"Tell the gentleman that had he been here in Detroit he would have seen 92,000 men, entirely sober, march down the street.

Dry Leader's Comment.

Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 24.—(AP)—The Rev. Arthur J. Barton, chairman of the executive committee of the Anti-Saloon league, in a statement here tonight said the American Legion, by calling for a referendum on the prohibition law, had made itself "ridiculous in the eyes of sober and sober-minded Americans."

CERMAK COMMENDS LEGION'S STAND FOR A DRY REFERENDUM

In commenting on the approval by the American Legion of a resolution demanding a nation-wide referendum on the repeal or modification of the prohibition law, Mayor Cermak stated last night that government control of legalized beer would do much to restore the country's economic balance.

"The vote of the American Legion," said the mayor, "is typical and conclusive of the universal sentiment of the people of the United States today. A majority vote by a body of men who were leaders in the war and who represent civic leadership and responsibility in peace is equally significant of public thought and expression at this time.

"Aside from any other consideration, a return to a system of legalized beer under government control would do much to restore our economic balance, put millions of men to work, aid the farmer in disposing of his products, and generally bring back an era of prosperity and contentment.

"From the moral angle it would do much to restore respect for law and order by eliminating the crime and graft of prohibition, and be a step toward real temperance."

ANOTHER AID OF HOOVER SEEKING FACTS ON BEER

Hyde Investigates How It Would Aid Farmer.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—The fight for the return of legalized beer was given new impetus today by the disclosure that Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde is conducting an independent investigation to determine how a revitalized brewing industry would aid the farmer.

SECRETARY HYDE. [Bachrach.]

In announcing that he was investigating the economic side of the beer question as it would affect the agricultural section of the nation, Secretary Hyde was careful to point out that he was acting on his own initiative and not at the request of President Hoover. He stated that he was acting solely for the purpose of ascertaining to what extent the beer industry would develop new markets for the farmer and relieve the unemployment situation among the agricultural classes.

Senate Inquiry from Hoover Aid.

The Hyde inquiry, coming so swiftly on the heels of the disclosure last week that Walter Newton, another secretary of President Hoover's official family, had called upon the census bureau for information regarding the number of men who would find employment if beer was legalized, served to kindle new hope in the camp of those who are conducting a nationwide campaign for modification of the Volstead act.

So far, however, that Secretary Hyde is an avowed "out and out dry," who always has fought legalized beer, combined with the fact that his cabinet member asserted he was acting independently of the White House, somewhat dampened wet hopes that President Hoover was seriously considering inaugurating a move to have beer legalized as a means of relieving the depression.

In many quarters the view was held that Secretary Hyde was simply starting his fireless against the rapid spread of the beer movement which today has the support of the American Legion, at least to the extent of urging the repeal or modification of the present prohibition laws be put up as a direct referendum of the voters.

Legion Action Is Hailed.

Although President Hoover maintained silence on the Legion referendum vote, capital wets hailed the action of the veterans with jubilation, stating it opened the way for modification of the dry law within the not distant future. While few predictions as to the coming session of congress, many wet leaders asserted that the Legion's espousal of the anti-prohibition cause had hastened the day when the dry laws would be repealed.

That the Legion has encouraged efforts to translate the present anti-prohibition movement into legislative action was seen in an announcement by Senator R. J. Bulkley [Dem., O.], a possible presidential nominee, that he contemplated asking the Democratic national convention of next year to adopt a plank pledging party members of the senate and house to vote to submit the question of the repeal of the 18th amendment to state constitutional conventions.

Revenue Aspects Studied.

It is known that some treasury officials have looked into the revenue aspects privately for their own information. No facts have been given out to the public, however, regarding these inquiries.

The nation-wide publication of assertions by wet organizations to the effect that the legalization of beer would give employment to 1,000,000 men in short order, would increase revenues by 800 millions or more annually, and aid in solving an acute agricultural relief situation is believed to have aroused the dry members of the President's official family to the point where they are determined to investigate to see if the statements are true.

From all reports Secretary Hyde is one of a minority in the President's cabinet who favors a continuation of prohibition in its present form. Within recent days reports that a majority of Mr. Hoover's cabinet favored a return of beer have been allowed to go unchallenged.

"I am making an inquiry into the economic effect of beer on the farmer largely because of the numerous inquiries along this line which have come to my office in recent months," Secretary Hyde said today. "I should have had this study made months ago, as this department ought to be able to give the farmers the facts. I want to find out how many men would be given work if beer was legalized. I also want to determine the extent of the market for grain which would be opened up by a return of beer."

"Are you a dry or a wet?" a reporter asked.

"I am one of the driest of the dry drys," the cabinet member replied with a smile.

W. C. T. U. Is Urged to Pray for Legion; Ask More Hoovers

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

The Woman's Christian Temperance union sounded its battle cry of the days of Frances Willard again yesterday as its state and county officers charged members to "take the aggressive once more and at no time be on the defensive" in the prohibition fight.

MRS. PATTERSON.

A hundred of the 3,000 members in Cook county unions, attending their 13th annual convention in the Garrick building, 64 West Randolph street, were also told that "this coming year we will be tested as never before and it will be the godly men and women who will have to see America through."

Urges Prayers for Legion.

An echo of the action by the national convention of the American Legion in calling for the resubmission of the eighteenth amendment by congress to the states for a popular referendum, was heard at the W. C. T. U. meeting.

"We should be thinking about our boys meeting there in Detroit," Mrs. Fred A. Patterson, state vice president of the W. C. T. U., said. "We must be thinking of our Legionnaires. We should be praying for them so that God, who works mysterious wonders, may hear."

Mrs. Patterson blamed the churches for the "attitude that is menacing the prohibition law."

"Need to Awaken Ministers."

"If the Volstead act is weakened it is not the fault of the W. C. T. U. or the Anti-Saloon league. The fault may be laid at the doors of the churches. We need to awaken the ministers. You women should go back and tell your Ladies' Aids, the Parent-Teacher associations, your Missionary societies what the prohibition question is about."

Mrs. R. H. Brucer, president of the Cook county unions, warned that "Satan has again cropped out and is being backed by the brewers and distillers in the agencies that are battling prohibition."

"Need New Crop of Hoovers."

Mrs. E. W. Blackwell, general secretary of the Loyal Temperance Legion, a children's branch of the W. C. T. U., told of the importance of the work among children.

"We are the seed sowers," Mrs. Blackwell said. "We want a new crop of Coolidges, and Hoovers, and, and . . ."

"Emmersons," supplied a member of the audience. This was followed by a ripple of laughter.

WOMAN NAMES THREE IN $100,000 VAULT ROBBERY

Pictures of three men with police records were identified at the detective bureau yesterday by a woman witness who said she saw them leaving the Wicker Park Safe Deposit and Vault company, 1564 Milwaukee avenue, last Sunday. On that day the vaults were looted, burglars taking an estimated $100,000 in cash, jewelry, and negotiable securities from 122 safety boxes.

Those named are James Millner, 9316 Escanaba avenue; Joseph Lococo, 2542 Lowe avenue, and Samuel Iovins, 1057 Taylor street. Lococo is at liberty on bonds, awaiting trial on a robbery charge, and Iovins is also under bonds on a counterfeiting charge.

Mrs. Mary Schultz, 1214 Girard street, was the woman who saw the men leave the building.

JAMES APPEARS BAFFLED BY THE WIFE PROBLEM

Three days in the love life of James Clement Vickers would furnish material for a whole novel.

On Tuesday Mr. Vickers, a resident of Aurora, was arrested on a charge of bigamy. His second wife, Mrs. Bessie May Wiskur Vickers, who was a divorcee when she married him, had him taken into the police court at Aurora. She had learned, she said, that he was married to Mrs. Elma Hughes Vickers, also of Aurora, three years ago and had never got a divorce.

The first wife was appealed to. She did not particularly want Mr. Vickers any longer, she said, but was on good terms with him. So she got a hurry-up divorce between sunrise and sunset on Wednesday. Then Mr. Vickers and Mrs. Bessie May Wiskur Vickers were married, with Mrs. Elma Hughes Vickers acting as matron of honor.

But Mr. Vickers apparently was puzzled about who his wife was. He was arrested a few hours after the marriage. He was with the matron of honor and his wife was nowhere to be found. Yesterday Mr. Vickers and the former Mrs. Vickers, nee Hughes, were fined $10 each for disorderly conduct. They paid and went away and the current Mrs. Vickers did not even appear.

BANDITS INVADE OFFICE; CART OUT $50,000 IN FURS

Four bandits invaded the wholesale fur house of David Kaplan & Co., 113 West Austin avenue, yesterday afternoon, and after threatening the owner and three employes, fled with raw and dressed furs valued at $50,000. The skins were carried out to a large red truck parked in the alley in the rear of the building, where a fifth man waited.

Miss Minnie Asher, 3958 West 19th street, a stenographer, was in the front office when two men asked to see Kaplan. They pushed her aside and confronted the proprietor with revolvers.

"We want the furs," the leader said. "Do as you're told and you won't be hurt."

Kaplan, his brother, Samuel; the latter's son, Joseph, and Miss Asher were forced to the rear of the office and made to lie on the floor. The other bandits were admitted through the rear door and the carrying away of the skins started. Before they left the men locked the four in a small closet. A short time later Joseph Kaplan kicked out the wall board and called the police.

FIND ILLINOIS JUSTICE BOUND WITH RED TAPE

Campaign Begun Against Legalistic Hairsplitting.

Examples of the extremes to which the courts of Illinois have been driven in their efforts to interpret the complicated laws of this state were revealed yesterday as the Cook county judicial advisory commission planned a campaign before the proposed special session of the legislature against legalistic hairsplitting.

One of the chief aims of the commission is to simplify indictments. An instance of what sometimes happens to justice because of legal technicalities was shown in a case taken from decisions of the Illinois Supreme court, Vol. 256. This decision and others cited were handed down many years before the time of the present Supreme court, but they still stand.

The Case of Rosalia.

The case in question was that of 11 year old Rosalia B——. She was dragged into a basement apartment and mistreated by Horace L. Smith, 40 years old. He was arrested, tried before a jury, found guilty of a crime against a child and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. The Supreme court reversed this sentence, not because of any doubt concerning Smith's guilt, but because the child's first name had been set forth as "Rosetta" instead of "Rosalia" in the indictment.

"The Christian name of the victim of the crime was alleged to be Rosetta. The proof was that her name was Rosalia. The variance is fatal. It is suggested that the question of variance was not raised at the trial, but this is immaterial. The indictment showed a crime against a certain person, but the proof failed to show it and did show a crime, if any, against another person. The difference in the sound of the two names, even when they are carelessly spoken, is pronounced and they are clearly distinct names."

The late Justice Orrin N. Carter dissented from the opinion of his colleagues. He said:

"I do not concur in the foregoing opinion. The alleged variance was not raised in the trial court. The name of the complaining witness given in the indictment was Rosetta May. She testified it was Rosalia May. She identified Smith as the person who had enticed her to his room. He himself admitted that she had been in his room as she claimed, but denied her story as to what was said and done there."

After further discussion of the case, Justice Carter concluded with a statement which members of the judicial commission assert is the end towards which they are aiming:

Cites Canadian Practice.

This case and others were revealed by Attorney Nicholas A. Socrates, authority on court procedure, in a survey of legal decisions. Red tape has forced the courts into many unusual decisions, he declared.

In Canada, Mr. Socrates said, an indictment for murder states that John Jones killed Jack Brown on a certain date and at a certain place. In sharp contrast is the form of indictment which is insisted upon in Illinois and which the judicial commission hopes to abolish.

The Illinois indictment contains the constant repetition of such phrases as "unlawfully, feloniously and with malice aforethought," "then and there and aforesaid," and runs on for some hundreds of words.

The omission of any phrase, it was pointed out, is ground for a reversal of any sentence that may be imposed. Sharp lawyers thrive on picking errors in such lengthy indictments and the failure to cross a "t" may result in a reversal.

A Legal Form Illustrated.

Some of the legal forms in Illinois afford amusement to the lay mind, Mr. Socrates said. If some one makes a noise in your house and you put him out and he then sues you for damages, this is the prescribed form for defending yourself:

"And the plaintiff, as to the said plea of the defendant by him above pleaded, says that he, the plaintiff, by reason of anything in that plea alleged, ought not to be barred from having his aforesaid action because he says that at the same time when he was lawfully possessed of a certain dwelling house with the appurtenances thereof, situate and being in the county of Cook and state of Illinois, and being so possessed thereof, the said defendant just before the time when in the said declaration mentioned was wrongfully and unjustly in said dwelling house making a great noise and disturbance therein——" and so on for 350 more words.

Attorney Socrates cited as a classic example the conspiracy indictment against Charles C. Healey when he was chief of police of Chicago. The indictment took 59 pages to charge Healey and others with conspiracy to permit gambling houses to operate openly. The defendants were acquitted.

Currency Description Required.

In Illinois an indictment for larceny of money now contains a complete description of all the coins, treasury notes, bank notes, and other currency issued by the United States. This was required because of a Supreme court decision many years ago in which one Moses Jacoby had his pocket picked of $130.

"How much money did you have?" Jacoby was asked at the trial. He answered, "$130." "In what denomination was the money?" he was asked. "Two fifties and three tens," Jacoby replied.

The Supreme court reversed the pickpocket's sentence because, it said, "There was not a particle of evidence that the money was either treasury notes, national bank bills, greenbacks, or gold and silver coin."

Other cases were cited by Attorney Socrates. One Gust Anderson, convicted of assault and battery against Jonas Olson, was released because Olson, during the trial, had been referred to only as "Mr. Olson" by the witnesses. Similarly the high court has given reversals in cases where it ruled that "David" and "Davids" are not the same name, and "Meyer" and "Meyers" are not the same. It has also ruled that a charge against "Harry" Smith is not legal if it is shown that his real name is "Henry" Smith.

NEAR DEATH

JACK PICKFORD.

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Jack Pickford, film star and brother of Mary Pickford, was reported near death at his home here tonight. He is being treated by Dr. Karl Lewis, with three nurses in constant attendance.

Mr. Pickford suffered a relapse last week after a lingering illness and tonight is reported in a semi-conscious condition with congestion of the lungs. His relapse followed an airplane trip to a friend's funeral in San Diego. The only visitor allowed at the actor's sick bed is his sister Mary.

Ex-Follies Girl Reports Loss of $25,000 in Gems

Mrs. Isabel Dreyfus, 201 East Delaware place, reported to the police yesterday that she had lost jewelry valued at $25,000 in the loop. She said that she had come to Chicago from Hollywood on Wednesday and had gone to a hairdresser's in a cab. It was her belief that she had left her handbag containing the gems in the cab. Mrs. Dreyfus said that she was formerly a Follies girl under the name of Isabel Randell, and that her husband, Addison Dreyfus, is now in the east.

SCHOOL ENGINEER FREED IN COURT; CROWD IN UPROAR

Charged with mistreating several boys, Horace C. Griffin, 66 year old engineer of the La Grange High school, was dismissed yesterday by Magistrate Thomas Alway of Congress Park.

About 200 men and women attending the hearing, most of them parents of school children, were angered by the decision, and Assistant State's Attorney Edward Markham accused Magistrate Alway of having been "fixed." Four policemen of the La Grange force kept the crowd from attacking the magistrate and Griffin.

Andrew R. Sykora, 207 South Edgewood avenue, La Grange, father of one of the boys who testified against the engineer, caused the latter's arrest on new charges and Mr. Markham announced he would bring the matter before the grand jury at once.

During the hearing seven boys from 10 to 14 years old testified to being mistreated by Griffin. They asserted he had threatened to kill them if they told any one about their experiences with him. Griffin denied the charges, and Robert C. Fletcher, president of the La Grange school board, appeared as a character witness for him. The case was taken before Magistrate Alway on a change of venue from La Grange.

BRITAIN VISIONS "GOOD TIMES" AS STOCKS ADVANCE

Prices Show Nation Far from "Down and Out."

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The stock exchange boom continued in London today with government stocks as well as a host of industries all showing substantial advances. Trading was also on a bigger scale than in a long time, and stock brokers now are definitely predicting a return of prosperity.

There were several instances showing that England is not down and out yet. It was forced to suspend the gold standard. A 100 per cent dividend for the year was declared by the Austin Motor company, and Thomas J. Lipton, Ltd., which passed dividends for several years, has declared one of 15 per cent. At the same time, pressure for a protective tariff immediately either with or without a general election is rapidly increasing.

Rise and Cry for Tariff.

The Association of British Chambers of Commerce, meeting at Lincoln, today passed a resolution in favor of a protective tariff. The Conservatives, too, are renewing their clamor and are demanding that the government favor an immediate election. The strongest argument is that whatever else can be done by going off the gold standard has been done already, so that the country can stand a few weeks of disturbance if in return it gets the assurance of a stable government pledged to economy for five years.

If the present government took its courage in hand and passed a tariff bill it would be faced with the necessity of an election in two years, which the opposition Labor party might win as a result of the discontent with the austerities which many politicians believe would grow within the next year or two.

Glances Into Dark Side.

While domestic firms are showing considerable profits, the darker side of British business was portrayed today at the annual meeting of the White Star line, presided over by Walter Runciman instead of Lord Kylsant, its former chairman, who is now awaiting trial on a charge of issuing a false prospectus, and has resigned. Runciman said the line could not continue without drastic economies and mentioned that 350 persons will be discharged to effect a saving of $670,000 annually. He held out hope for an improvement, however, in an expected growth of export trade and his report was adopted and its directors reelected.

Hope that the treasury might abandon its plan to collect two-thirds of this year's income tax instead of one-half on Jan. 1 was dashed today by a treasury statement that such a concession is impossible. It was stated, however, that income tax collectors have been ordered to give some consideration to hard cases. This means probably that people who haven't the money on Jan. 1 to pay their taxes may get a little longer time or perhaps will be allowed to pay by installments, which has always been the case in the past.

Move to Reinstate Silver.

As result of the financial muddle in which Great Britain finds herself is a revival of the movement to reinstate silver as lawful money. The movement is being led by Sir Hugo Cunliffe-Owen, chairman of the Anglo-American Tobacco company, who said today that most of the world's trading woes are due to the falling price of silver, due largely to the action of the Indian government in going on a gold standard a few years ago.

Three-fifths of the world's population, Sir Hugo said, knows no money but silver. In good times China, India, and the near east save silver in the shape of ornaments for women, and the metal is hoarded. When times are bad they sell and realize a profit. With the fall in the silver price the purchasing power of these countries is halved. In over 400 years of production, silver has been to gold in the ratio of 15 to 1, and the last 10 years 12 to 1, but the price relation is 1 to 30.

Urges Silver Parley.

The Indian government, as a result of going off the gold standard, holds 400,000,000 ounces of silver, and the annual production is 200,000,000 ounces. Sixty-seven and one-half per cent of the world's silver is produced by four American companies. Sir Hugo advocates a silver conference and an increase of purchasing power for China and the other silver countries.

One result of the silver slump has been that China and India have been forced to manufacture for themselves cotton, tobacco, and other goods they would prefer to import if the value of the only money they know would permit.

According to reports from Dundee, Scotland, thirteen persons were injured in a riot there tonight when police clashed with a group of unemployed at a demonstration.

Trade on Dollar Basis.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Sept. 24.—Baltic timber and flax, among other things, which for more than a century have been quoted in the pound sterling, are now quoted in American dollars, and commercial transactions in northeastern Europe, previously based upon the pound sterling, are now on a dollar basis, according to a survey of the stock exchanges.

The council of the Estonian State bank has discussed the advisability of converting the pound sterling, now behind Estonian currency, into dollars, but decided to postpone further action until the present exchange rates are stabilized.

Use Dollar in Hamburg.

HAMBURG, Germany, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Hamburg sugar and cocoa exchanges today adopted dollars or marks as the basis for future business and Hamburg wharfage charges are payable henceforth on a dollar basis.

Protect Indian Currency.

SIMLA, India, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Drastic measures to protect Indian currency were announced today in an ordinance regulating sales of gold or sterling. The ordinance stipulates such sales may be carried out only by the Imperial bank at its head offices in Calcutta and Bombay. Sales to banks may be made only to branches of specified banks in the same two cities. Gold or sterling may be sold only for trade requirements, for financing contracts completed before last Monday and for reasonable personal and domestic purposes. Gold or sterling under £25,000 [$125,000] may be sold to any branch.

Troops Restore Order in Iowa Cattle Test War

[Acme Photo.]

Brig. Gen. Park A. Findley reading proclamation of Gov. Dan Turner calling upon farmers to obey the law from the steps of the courthouse in Tipton, Cedar county. Pettions now are being signed by the farmers at Mount Pleasant, Ia., threatening nonpaym ent of taxes if an imprisoned objector is not released.

FARMERS, AWED BY TROOPS, BOW TO CATTLE TESTS

"Revolt" Leader Seized by Soldiers.

BULLETIN.

Mount Pleasant, Ia., Sept. 25 (Friday).—(AP)—Two petitions presented at a massmeeting of 700 Henry county residents last night still were being signed early today by sympathizers of J. W. Lenker, imprisoned leader of Cedar county objectors to the state compulsory bovine tuberculosis test law. The petitions threatened nonpayment of the remainder of this year's and 1932 taxes if Gov. Dan Turner does not accede at once to their request that Lenker be released from the Anamosa reformatory and soldiers removed from Cedar county.

Tipton, Ia., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Iowa National Guardsmen today won their first offensive against farmers who for six months have resisted the state bovine tuberculin test law.

Moving at dawn upon fronts in the southeastern sectors of Cedar county, troopers posted machine guns at strategic crossroads, marked off a "restricted area" of six square miles embracing the farms of seven leaders in the anti-test insurrection, and clamped down a tight censorship which baffled reporters until it suddenly was lifted at noon.

After a preliminary skirmish at the farm of J. W. Lenker, which failed to test the strength of the four battalions sent there because Lenker's cattle were not on the farm, the guardsmen were deployed on other farms, where testing went forward with dispatch.

Ringleader Is Seized.

This move, however, came only after Lenker was escorted back to Tipton under military guard and placed in the guardhouse. While no information was given out here as to the cause of the ringleader's arrest, it was learned from Adjt. Gen. W. H. Bailey in Des Moines that charges against Lenker included removing quarantined cattle illegally and contempt of court.

Lenker later was taken to Anamosa reformatory. Lenker's cattle were found later on the Harry Duffy farm and were tested.

The adjutant general said he expected the arrest of a "few more" farmers on similar charges. Lenker is among the 44 opposition leaders against whom there is an injunction restraining them from interfering with the test. He once said he would allow the testing "only over his dead body."

Farmers Submissive.

All elements of a first class war, except a combative enemy, were present today.

The war correspondents, as newspaper men here call themselves, had, for a time at least, poor communication facilities and deeply rutted roads with which to contend.

Troops had a businesslike air, contrasting with their carefree spirit when they arrived on Gov. Turner's mobilization order Monday. There were even barbed wire entanglements placed in the blockaded area.

The farmers, who have waged sporadic warfare against the state law in various ways, including open defiance of peace officers, today were submissive as six veterinarians, all protected by the armed troops, carried on the tests among six quarantined herds. Between 125 and 150 head were subjected to the test.

LADY ASTOR VISITS BRITISH FLEET; FINDS IT "SOUND AS EVER"

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Lady Astor, who has just returned from her constituency at Plymouth, where she talked with many officers and men of the Atlantic fleet, today said the British navy is as sound as ever despite the recent flare-up at Invergordon.

"For the first time in my life," she stated, "I saw the Atlantic fleet given a silent reception at Plymouth. No part of England could feel the defection on the part of the fleet more than the west country. But our gloom soon turned to hope when we got in touch with the men on the lower deck. I spent three days going among them and never once came across a sailor who realized the consequences of his action.

"They heard the naval pay was to be cut, they looked into cuts and these seemed unfair to them. They thought the way in which it was being done was unjust in certain cases and it was their sense of fair play which led to their regrettable attitude.

"I asked man after man if there had been any organization. They said no, that there was none. A kind of passive resistance swept, like a wave of gas, over them all. There was no insubordination."

"PEEPING TOM" SHOOTS 2 AND WOUNDS SELF

An alleged "Peeping Tom" of Lake county last night shot two pursuers as he fled from the scene of his spying in Gurnee, a village five miles west of Waukegan, and as he was about to be trapped in his own dooryard turned his shotgun on himself and inflicted a dangerous wound just above the heart.

The alleged peeper, Rudolph Krueger, 38 years old, who lives on Telegraph road, three miles west of Waukegan; L. A. Duncan, a special deputy sheriff, of Gurnee, and Albert Pokett, also of Gurnee, are in the St. Therese hospital at Waukegan.

Gurnee has been bothered by peepers for several months. Last night Mrs. Sam Olson saw a man spying through a window of the home of Oscar Melberg. She called to Pokett, a neighbor, and he set out after the peeper. He was joined by Duncan and a score or more other villagers. The man fled with his pursuers close at his heels. Suddenly he turned and fired his shotgun at the crowd, wounding Duncan in one of his legs and stomach and Pokett in a leg.

As the crowd continued after the fleeing man some one in Gurnee telephoned to Sheriff Lester Tiffany at Waukegan. The distance from Gurnee to Krueger's home is little more than a mile. As the crowd closed on Krueger Sheriff Tiffany arrived in his automobile. The fleeing man was at his own front door when he shot himself.

Krueger, a shipping clerk for a North Chicago furniture company, is married, but his wife has been in northern Wisconsin for several weeks on a vacation.

The inventory reveals that of a total of $2,380,480 owed to eleven of the banks by John Bain, his sons and corporations they control only $20,000 has been collected to date.

IRWIN T. GILRUTH.

The report lists the assets of the Bain banks at a book value of $18,249,048, against which there are deposit liabilites of $12,889,114. Cash on hand is listed at $567,215, from which $278,929 in bills payable must be deducted before a dividend to depositors may be considered.

Bains' Borrowings Shown.

Bain and his sons, John H. Bain and Robert A. Bain, and their corporations, John Bain, Inc., the John Bain Real Estate Improvement company, and the Lews company, borrowed heavily from the banks, the inventory shows. Some of the withdrawals were made the day before the banks closed last June 9 and many in the last few months of the banks' existence. The majority of the notes were unsecured and virtually all were demand notes, according to the inventory. Small amounts were borrowed by Leslie L. Bain, son of Robert Bain.

John Bain	$ 650,344.37
John Bain, Inc.	993,574.50
John Bain Real Estate Improvement company	47,000.00

John H. Bain	43,015.67
Robert A. Bain	24,992.26

PARROT SPEAKS UP IN COURT; DECIDES OWNERSHIP BATTLE

Monroe, Mich., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—The legal battle over the ownership of a 25 year old parrot was ended here today when the parrot appeared in court and decided the issue itself.

Vincent Swideraki, who runs a grocery store, lost the parrot six years ago. The bird was then at least 19 years old and had been in the family most of that time. One day last month Leo Swideraki, Vincent's son, happened to see a familiar bird in the home of Mrs. Mary Chermouck, a neighbor. The Swiderskis got a writ of replevin, took the parrot and kept it. The hearing on the writ was held today in the court of Judge John Faucher.

Mrs. Chermouck insisted the parrot had been given to her by her daughter in Detroit and the case was at a deadlock until some one thought of bringing the bird into court. It spoke up readily.

After it had called some of the Swiderskis by name the case was still in doubt, but when it flew onto Vincent's shoulder and playfully took crumbs out of his mouth the court gave the Swiderskis the parrot.

Mrs. Chermouck still has the cage.

GUNMAN GIVEN 30 DELAYS IN ROBBERY CASE

rested. They confessed and named their accomplices.

Prendergast and Cortner were indicted on Aug. 10 and were in court last Tuesday before Judge Stanton. Another indictment charged them with robbing Dr. Julian H. Lewis, 5200 South Wabash avenue, of an automobile, a check book and $1 in cash.

According to the crime commission's records, Attorney George Crane, representing Prendergast, informed the court that his client was ready to plead guilty to grand larceny. Assistant State's Attorney Murphy told the court he had agreed, provided that Prendergast, Cortner and Ernest Lieb, who was indicted with Prendergast, for the theft of an auto belonging to Harold Rickenbaugh, 3608 Union avenue, last May, all pleaded guilty.

Then Attorney Crane said Prendergast would want a stay of mittimus of thirty days if he pleaded guilty and Murphy refused, the crime commission stated. It was then decided to continue the three cases until today.

BLAMES LAXITY OF OFFICIALS IN BANK FAILURES

Col. A. V. Smith Asserts Laws Provide Cure.

Lax administration of banks by the state auditor and failure of law enforcing officials to enforce banking laws were blamed for bank failures by State's Attorney A. V. Smith of Lake county, Col. Smith, who directed the grand jury investigation of the Waukegan State bank which resulted in the indictment of State Auditor Oscar Nelson and three bank officers, spoke at a massmeeting of depositors of the closed Sheridan Trust and Savings bank in the Broadway armory last night.

"Present laws provide a curb for reckless bankers," Col. Smith said. "Those who receive deposits after the bank is closed, return false statements, convert money to their own use and loan themselves money without action of directors can be punished. If law enforcers are prompt in meting punishment the banks in general will be stabilized and depositors will lose but little by ending the careers of such bankers. The conviction of such moves by bank officials is due to the failure of the auditor to administer his duties properly."

Northwestern Bank Permit.

The auditor issued a permit for the reorganization of the Northwestern Trust and Savings bank to Thomaz F. Deuther and associates. The new bank is to be known as the Smulski Trust and Savings bank after the late John F. Smulski, banker.

The reorganization plan calls for the sale of $600,000 in new stock. All depositors with $75 or less are to be paid in full. Other will be asked to take 50 per cent of their deposit in stock and have the balance credited. The closed bank had $10,000,000 on deposit from 40,000 depositors.

Five former officials of the First Trust and Savings bank of Hammond were named in thirteen affidavits charging embezzlement and overdrawing personal accounts, filed at Crown Point by Prosecutor Robert G. Estill of Lake county, Ind. They are Peter Meyn, president; Walter Meyn, vice president; W. Norman Bridge, treasurer; Clifford A. Etling, auditor, and Adam Dorsch, assistant cashier. All five were indicted on charges of fraud last summer.

J. P. FREES RIVAL COPS APPOINTED IN VILLAGE ROW

The members of the police force of Brookfield appointed by J. F. Mansfield, the president of that village, and who acted as rivals of the regular village department, were freed yesterday when they were arraigned before Police Magistrate John J. Dreher on charges of disorderly conduct. They are free to patrol the streets of the village but they still have no station.

Mansfield on Sept. 13 appointed Nicholas Ferdinand as chief of police to succeed the veteran chief, E. J. O'Connor, and also named four new policemen. However, because of opposition from a faction of the village board led by Trustee John T. O'Brien, Mansfield was unable to have his new force installed. O'Brien obtained warrants for the arrest of Ferdinand and his men and Mansfield retaliated by having O'Connor and his men arrested.

2 BURN TO DEATH, ONE DROWNED AS CAR HITS BRIDGE

La Salle, Ill., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Two youths and a girl were killed early today when their automobile struck a culvert on state road 162 near Cherry, nine miles northwest of here.

The dead are Leo Mullen, 21, who lives on a farm near Lamoille; Miss Ethel Feldges, 16, of Green Oak, and her brother, Howard, 13.

The car, driven by Mullen, rolled down a fifteen foot embankment into two feet of water after striking the culvert. The gasoline tank exploded and Mullen and the girl were found burned to death inside the automobile, clasped in each others' arms.

Howard Feldges was thrown through the top of the car, stunned, and drowned in the shallow water. Mullen and the girl had an engagement last night, and were accompanied by her brother. They were returning to the Feldges' home at the time of the accident.

WOMAN KILLED, SEVEN HURT AS 2 AUTOS COLLIDE

Mrs. Sally Nellett, 25 years old, 15230 Center street, Harvey, was fatally injured and seven other persons including three small children, were hurt yesterday when two automobiles collided and one of them overturned at 164th and Wood streets near Harvey. Mrs. Nellett was driving one of the autos and Wilbert Meinheit of Flossmoor, the other.

Edward Lusthoff, 4 years old, 7418 Madison street, Forest Park, was killed when he ran into the street near his home and was struck by the automobile of M. L. Stockman, 1014 South Clarence street, Oak Park.

These deaths with four others brought the auto toll for Cook county since Jan. 1, to 895. The victims:

Benjamin Glick, 43 years old, 1243 North Claremont avenue. Killed when struck while crossing Halsted street at 34th street. The driver was Alfred Keller, 7147 South Peoria street.

Miss Johanna Carroll, 40 years old, 655 Barry avenue, a nurse employed by the city health department. Killed when struck by an automobile at Roosevelt road and Halsted street. The driver was Emil Greulich, 9055 Normal avenue.

Frank Paris, 7 years old, colored, 5351 Federal street. Died in the Provident hospital from injuries suffered earlier in the day when he was struck by an automobile in front of his home. The driver was Robert Hayney, 622 South Menard avenue.

$1,620,510 SEWER CONTRACT IS LET BY CANAL BOARD

A contract for the construction of about two miles of sewer in the Canalport district was let by the sanitary district board yesterday to the W. J. Newman company. The bid was $1,620,510.

To avoid the charge of making employés work without pay, according to President Thomas J. Bowler, the trustees rescinded their previous action and ordered the two week cut charged to vacations.

FREE 14 LOCKED IN VAULT AFTER A POLICY RAID

The "Black Hole of Calcutta" was no blacker than the vault, just 7 feet by 7 feet, at 1846 Selden street, which last night yielded 14 scared Negroes after policemen had battered it open with sledge hammers and crowbars.

Sergt. John Wall and a squad from the Marquette police station went to the Selden street address to investigate the report of a policy game in operation there. They found the place, a long storeroom, locked. They forced the lock and entered to find the place deserted. In the center of the room was a vault locked by a combination, which they were unable to open. As they were about to leave James Washington, 26 years old, 13 West 39th street, entered. He was seized and taken back to the station. In his cell he showed signs of extreme nervousness.

Finally he appealed to Sergt. Wall to rush back to the Selden street address and liberate twelve men and two women who were locked in the vault with all of the policy game paraphernalia. The police rushed back and battered open the safe and liberated the prisoners.

Washington admitted he was the operator of the game and was booked as such. He said the man who got the money got away.

PLANES TO CARRY TIRED SWALLOWS SOUTH OVER ALPS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Sept. 24.—For the first time in history thousands of swallows migrating from England and other northern countries to the warmer climate of Africa are being transported en route to their destination by airplane.

The cold weather began in Austria so early that the swallows have become exhausted and are unable to fly across the Alps. Meanwhile shops, garages, factories, and even homes are sheltering the birds as they cheep weakly for food.

The Austrian Society for the Protection of Animals has come to their rescue. The first consignment of 700 swallows will be sent in wooden cages to Venice by plane, and then set free. This airplane service will continue as long as the society's funds last. Farmers have been asked by radio to collect the birds and bring them in.

GAS TAX FUND PROMISED AS AID ON I. C. PROJECT

State May Help Depress South Shore Tracks.

The use of gas tax money to pay a portion of the cost of depressing the Illinois Central tracks in 71st street and Exchange avenue was virtually assured yesterday to residents of the South Shore district who have fought for a separation of grades in those streets for years.

The assurance was given by H. H. Cleaveland, state director of public works, in a letter to State Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg. In the communication Mr. Cleaveland stated that he believes that state route 42 can be adjusted to include 71st street and Exchange avenue, which would give a legal basis for the use of gas tax money for the project.

Calls Project Important.

Mr. Cleaveland further stated that after scanning a report made by state engineers and noting the record of accidents at the grade crossings he is convinced of the importance of the project. He announced that he will proceed with the details of the proposed project whenever officials of the Illinois Central make arrangements for financing the railroad's share of the cost.

"This is the first real evidence that gas tax money will be available to depress the tracks," said Representative Schnackenberg, who sponsored legislation in Springfield which is applicable to this project. "I will notify officials of the Illinois Central immediately of the contents of Mr. Cleaveland's letter."

Movement Started Year Ago.

The movement to obtain a portion of the gas tax fund for the track depression project was started last year by Ald. William A. Rowan [10th] and Mr. Schnackenberg after residents using the I. C. suburban service protested against a proposed raise in fares to cover the cost of the improvement and lawyers had declared a special assessment against property owners illegal.

The cost of the project has been estimated at $3,985,549, but with construction costs falling Mr. Schnackenberg said he believes that the actual cost would fall short of the estimate. Of this cost the Illinois Central would pay a little more than one-half, leaving approximately $4,000,000 to be paid out of the gas tax fund.

ASKS DIVORCE

MRS. HAROLD DIXON WAKEM
[Koehne Photo.]

Mrs. Gladys Schick Wakem, young society matron, yesterday filed a bill for divorce in the Superior court charging her husband, Harold Dixon Wakem, with cruelty. Mrs. Wakem is the daughter of William F. Schick, president of the Schick-Johnson company, cabinet manufacturers.

In the bill drawn by Attorney Benjamin Feldman, Mrs. Wakem charges that her husband struck her on several occasions. They were married, she asserts, on April 21, 1928, and separated on March 17 after her husband struck her on the face with his fist. From their apartment at 617 Sheridan road, Evanston, Mrs. Schick returned to her father's home at 1507 Touhy avenue, where she is now living. Her son, Dixon, 2 years old, is with her.

PASTOR CLEARED OF ACCUSATIONS BROUGHT BY GIRL

Mystery Letter Adds to Unpleasantness.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Dr. William A. Shelton, pastor of the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Episcopal church, South, of Washington, was tonight acquitted of charges of misconduct brought against him by his former secretary, Miss Carrie Williams. The ecclesiastical board appointed to hear the case brought in a verdict of not guilty a few moments after the last witness had been heard.

DR. SHELTON.

Following the trial board's announcement of its verdict, counsel for Dr. Shelton issued the following statement:

"The unanimous verdict of not guilty just announced by the trial committee of 14 clergymen and a presiding chairman is the surest and strongest rebuke that can be given to the defamers of Dr. Shelton.

Refers to "Apology."

"It should be borne in mind," the statement continued, "that the trial committee had before it the alleged confession and apology which, at the height of the trial, was circulated anonymously and furnished to all Washington newspapers in a vicious but vain effort to prejudice the case against Dr. Shelton. It is needless to say that the defendant and his counsel are most gratified at the outcome."

Circulating of the alleged "apology" referred to in the Shelton statement caused a sensation at the trial this afternoon.

Letter Before Church Court.

That the alleged apology had been presented as evidence by the prosecution became known this afternoon when Andrew A. Wilson, Anti-Saloon league official and counsel for Miss Williams, admitted that he had submitted a photostatic copy of it to the trial board. Reports issuing from the trial chamber, however, indicated that the anonymous circulation of the letter had swung sympathy to Dr. Shelton.

Dr. Shelton has long been prominent in the affairs of the Methodist Episcopal church, South. He was a member of the ecclesiastical court which acquitted Bishop James Cannon Jr. at Dallas two years ago. He came to Washington from Atlanta, Ga., last year.

WISCONSIN GIRL KIDNAP VICTIM IS FOUND HERE

A 13 year old Green Bay, Wis., girl, the alleged victim of kidnapers was found in Chicago yesterday. Police here earlier in the day were asked to look for Isabelle Pettit, and were given the name and address of the sister of the girl's stepfather, Mrs. Darlene Spade, 2237 West Adams street.

As the policeman waited near the address a car drove up and the girl stepped out. At the wheel of the car was Edward Brown, a Negro, of 4455 South Park way. Brown sped away in the car as Policeman James O'Malley of the detective bureau fired four shots at him. The Negro and Mrs. Spade are being sought.

The Pettit girl, who, according to the Green Bay police, was spirited away by Mrs. Spade, said she had been kidnaped to prevent her from testifying against her stepfather, Zandie Pettit. She refused to tell the nature of the case.

ALD. ANDERSON ENTERS RACE FOR CONGRESS SEAT

Ald. Louis B. Anderson [3d] made formal announcement yesterday of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for congress from the First district. It was regarded as the signal for the opening of a fight to unseat Congressman Oscar De Priest.

"Passing over details," read a part of Ald. Anderson's announcement, "I pledge my constituents to act upon these fundamental principles; to avoid ballyhoo and bluster; to strive for racial good will; to improve unfair conditions in the southland by education and tact instead of aggravating them by inflammatory utterance and bombast.

"I shall be firm without being insulting, frank without being vulgar, courteous and diplomatic without being obsequious and sycophantic, industrious without being obtrusive and offensive."

ILLINOIS BRANCH GIVEN LINCOLN HIGHWAY ASS'N

Organized by Thirteen Cities on U. S. 30.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

De Kalb, Ill., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—The Illinois branch of the Lincoln Highway association was organized here tonight at a meeting of representatives of thirteen cties on U. S. 30, extending from Chicago Heights, near the Indiana line, to Fulton, on the Mississippi river.

J. A. Herring, field secretary from the national headquarters in Cedar Rapids, explained that the purpose was to organize the communities along the route to promote profitable tourist trade on the highway and physical improvements for the road.

"In Illinois," he said, "you will have an organization influencing enough votes to make its voice heard in Springfield. I have talked to civic leaders along the Lincoln highway in this state and know that your demands are for a forty foot pavement from Dyer, Ind., to Clinton, Ia., and for an elevated highway entrance into Chicago.

Brings Iowa Closer.

"I might add, as an Iowan, that Iowa also wants these improvements that will bring the state closer to Chicago. With the present two lane concrete pavement most of the distance, the unpleasant and dangerous part of the drive from Chicago's loop to the Mississippi bridge is through Chicago's west side and through the city's western suburbs. These few miles of congested streets discourage Chicagoans from visiting Iowa and discourage Iowans from visiting Chicago. These inadequate streets are a barrier as effective as mountains.

"You will get this elevated highway and you will get this forty-five cross-state pavement when you make your influence felt at the ballot box.

"The association will also benefit communities along the route by attracting tourists through advertising the Lincoln highway."

Cities Represented.

The cities represented at the meeting were Fulton, Morrison, Dixon, Ashton, Rochelle, Creston, Malta, De Kalb, Geneva, Batavia, Aurora, Joliet, and Chicago Heights. Chicago is not on the Lincoln highway, which skirts the city on Illinois 22. Nor is the optional route through Chicago marked for the guidance of Lincoln highway traffic. The lack of a blazed trail keeps many cross-country drivers following the red, white, and blue road markers from visiting Chicago.

GIRL BECOMES PILOT; DEVOTES LIFE TO FLYING

Miss Ardette Cadwallader, 21 years old, 6230 Dorchester avenue, went up in a plane for her first flight two months ago. She announced that she could learn how to fly and that there was a place for women in aviation as well as for men. Yesterday she became a full fledged pilot.

A letter of authority from the department of commerce was presented to the girl flyer at the J. & L. Flying service hangar, 6107 South Cicero avenue, where Miss Cadwallader has been learning to fly during the last two months. The letter announced that the girl had passed her tests and that she will soon receive her private pilot's license from Washington.

FLIES 204 MILES AN HOUR

UNITED AIR LINES SETS SEA TO SEA SERVICE RECORD

The best performance record in the history of passenger and air mail flying between New York and the Pacific coast was established by United Air Lines last month. Of 612,171 miles scheduled, 99.5 per cent were completed by the system's Boeing and National Air Transport subsidiaries.

On the 2,030 mile Chicago-San Francisco division only nine of 186 flights were more than two hours late. Revenue passengers carried by the United Air Lines system, including the transcontinental aid feeder lines, during August increased to 6,264, as compared with 6,209 carried in July.

Richard W. Robbins of Pittsburgh yesterday was elected president of Transcontinental and Western Air Express, air mail and passenger system operating between New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, and San Francisco.

Forty-five naval reservists who have been taking air training at the Great Lakes training station will complete their two weeks course on Sunday. Tomorrow the students and their instructors will take several planes in a cross country flight to Indianapolis, where they will participate in the dedication of a new airport.

AKRON MAKES NIGHT TRIP; 60 MI. SPEED; 109 ABOARD

Akron, O., Sept. 24.—(AP)—The navy dirigible Akron completed its second trial flight at 10:46 p. m. eastern standard time tonight, hooking up to her portable mooring mast after cruising in wide circles over the vicinity of Akron for 3 hours and 51 minutes. The takeoff, flight, and landing were apparently without untoward incident.

The ground crew took hold of the 785 foot ship, largest lighter than air craft in the world, and had her back in her huge dock about an hour after she tied up.

The Akron's lights were never lost sight of from the airport as 109 naval officials, officers, and crew and Goodyear-Zeppelin corporation officials made the first night journey aboard her. While it was estimated her initial flight speed never exceeded 50 miles an hour, she made an estimated 60 tonight.

The Austin police were searching yesterday for two well dressed men who robbed the F. J. Holdsworth Coal company, 4849 Iowa street, after threatening Norman Holdsworth, son of the head of the concern, and two women employés. The robbers escaped with $350 and a diamond ring valued at $150. Miss Martha Reed, 5512 Adams street, a bookkeeper, lost the ring, but nothing was taken from Miss Marie Tookey, 5336 Crystal street, a stenographer.

TRIO HELD IN DROWNING.

Carbondale, Ill., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Two Negroes are held here for questioning in connection with the drowning of Harvey Burke, 41, who fell or was pushed from a boat into the Mississippi river last night.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Secretary Adams today was treated to some real speed by David S. Ingalls, assistant secretary of the navy for aeronautics. Ingalls piloted the secretary to the Ohio city yesterday for the trial flight of the Akron.

CRUSADERS PLAN MIDWEST RALLY TO DEMAND BEER

Big Massmeeting Would Be Held in Chicago.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Demands for immediate action to legalize beer and wine may be voiced at a huge mass-meeting to be held in Chicago when congress convenes next December.

COL. REEVES.

This plan was disclosed yesterday during a state conference of legislative leaders of the Crusaders, an organization dedicated to the elimination of prohibition. Forty two score heads of units, chiefly in northern Illinois cities, attended a luncheon at the Hotel Sherman and indorsed the project of a gigantic protest representing the demands of ten central western states.

Tentatively, it was agreed that if the meeting is held it will be in the Chicago Stadium or the Coliseum some time in November. In addition to having a leading Republican and a prominent Democrat address the gathering, it was proposed that other matters of national note not identified with politics be included in the program.

Blames Party "Moratorium."

The chief purpose of the conference was to discuss the "moratorium" on campaign contributions to any party or to any candidate until a definitely set stand has been taken.

Col. Jos. L. Reeves reported that contributors to and collectors for the Democratic and Republican national campaign funds in this territory, who recently have gathered in as much as $50,000 for the two parties, will refuse to turn up a penny until the old bootlegger of their efforts take a stand against prohibition.

It was explained that the Crusaders are emphatic in their demands for early declarations because they have information that the program of the antidrink league is to persuade both parties to remain silent on this issue.

A Cure for Prohibition.

Col. Reeves presented to his associates what he called the "cure for prohibition," reading as follows:

"1. Take a moratorium from your political affiliations and from today vote and work only for candidates for office from constable to President who stand for the repeal of the prohibition laws and who will pledge themselves to work and vote for such repeal in their official capacity.

"2. Vote that, from today on, you will not contribute one cent for campaign purposes or for other purposes to any political party that does not openly and plainly state in its platform that it stands for the repeal of the laws and that its candidates running on such platforms will work and vote for repeal.

"3. Beware of wet-drinking, dry-voting candidates.

A proposed platform for the state organization of the Crusaders was placed in a committee. In a general way the platform is an approval of the Anderson plan for liquor control minus the Wickersham commission.

Dubs "the Great Engineer."

Around the luncheon table were scattered mimeographed copies of a "revised psalm," reading in part as follows:

"Hoover is my shepherd; I am in want. He maketh me to lie down in park benches. He leadeth me beside still factories."

In the same page was a bit of "question" and "answer" dialogue dubbing "the great engineer" as one who "damned, drained, and ditched the United States in two years."

Ship Rotarian Will Be Sunk in Lake on Monday

For the first time in almost a year the ship Rotarian yesterday floated without support in the river, its hull watertight. John Murphy, salvaging contractor, announced that on Monday afternoon a city tug, convoyed by two motor cruisers carrying city officials, will tow the hull of the Rotarian nine miles out into the lake where it will be sunk.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE PUBLIC AND CORPORATE POLICY.

The decision of the United States Steel corporation to cut its wage scale is universally recognized as one of the most important events since the present depression began. Its effects will reach far beyond those immediately affected, the employes of the corporation, the consumers of the company's products, the stockholders of the corporation. They will reach the policy of other employers and therefore of other employes, other consumers and other investors. They will influence the psychology and morale of the general financial and business public. They will pass beyond the economic sphere and enter in various ways, good and bad, the political, perhaps eventually even the social, sphere.

What all these consequences will be no wise man will be tempted to prophesy. There will be anxiety and discouragement among wage earners, which may in time be offset by economic results in business stimulation and reemployment. There will be encouragement for the many who have held that business recovery has been retarded by the failure of costs to adjust themselves to the fall in the price level. There will be occasion, which will not be missed, to exploit the action for political and other profit.

For these reasons the decision transcends in importance the decisions of the ordinary corporation and in its wide reaching and complex implications resembles a decision of government. We suppose this was realized by the directors, and it is fair to say that their decision was not hasty, even though some plausible argument may be made that it was premature. It has been preceded by conditions generally known in the financial and business world and registered strikingly in the fall of the corporation's shares in the stock market, the drastic reduction in business and therefore in earnings, indeed to the vanishing point; the appearance of foreign steel in the home market, the drastic cut in dividends and of salaries. These no doubt are assumed by the directors to have advertised to the public the conditions which brought about the decision to reduce wages after two years of rapidly decreasing earnings.

But without judging the decision which it was the responsibility of the directors to make with regard to the stability of the investment intrusted to their care, and with regard to the equities involved in the relations of the corporation to its employes and its customers, it may be suggested that a candid and comprehensive statement of the grounds for the decision would have been welcome and highly desirable for all concerned—and all concerned means pretty much every one in the country. If such a statement could not be expected to reconcile all employes to the reduction of their income, it would at least have done much to clarify public opinion and have avoided or mitigated, if satisfactory to the general intelligence, some of the unfortunate effects which will result from exaggeration and misunderstanding.

Managers of great enterprises, we believe, must understand the quasi-public aspect of their policies and must get rid of the disposition, to which business heads living in New York are prone, to overlook the limitations which modern society imposes upon them. American industrial leadership, as Dr. Frank of Wisconsin has pointed out, is beginning encouragingly to recognize the social or public responsibilities of its power, and this is a tendency which cannot proceed too rapidly or arrive too soon. Such a decision as that of the Steel corporation is an event of national consequence and the considerations and conditions which induced it should be made public by those whose responsibility it was to make it.

FOOTBALL SIMPLIFIED.

We see that Mr. Smith of our sporting department has embarked upon a series of articles explaining the game of football. We shall read the stories as they appear and give the diagrams the careful study they deserve. We always have done so when presented with similar opportunities in the hope that we were not going to be beguiled again into watching the man with the ball, thereby depriving ourselves of the exquisite pleasure of seeing what the left guard does when the play swings around the right end.

We are hopeful, but not too hopeful. The explanations of football have a good deal in common with the explanations of Mr. Einstein's theory. They start simply with such matters as the choice of goals, the dimensions of the field, who stands where at the kickoff, and the fact that the landscape appears to be moving backward when, in fact, the train is moving forward. Obviously, every motion is relative to something else and the offense may not use its hands while the defense may. We understand blocking, the speed of light, the fact that Mr. Einstein is indebted to previous investigators, and the penalties for forward passes that are incomplete.

Beyond that the groping begins. When the game is growing dull we frequently seek to add interest to it by watching the line play, giving as little attention as possible to the back field. It is good discipline but otherwise profitless. There is next to nothing to see. Order becomes disorder when the ball is snapped. That is all there is to it for the inexpert eye and the only expert eyes are to be found in the heads of men who have played big time football for at least two years. We know, of course, that Jones is a great center defensive player because he is always messing up the plays of the other side before they get started; but what he does to break through we do not know.

If Mr. Smith succeeds in making it all clear we shall be grateful. Meanwhile, we find some solace in the thought that the gentlemen who know most about the game frequently get the least enjoyment from it. They find a game between poor but evenly matched teams a dull or even a trying experience. The rest of us, though aware of a certain incompetence on the field, are not bored. If the game is close, if it is tolerably spectacular, if—and this is most important—if our interest is strongly on one side, the spectacle is satisfying.

Football presents a curious set of paradoxes. It is played in the colleges which are dedicated to the growth of the understanding and its devotees are, for the most part, the products of the colleges. Nevertheless, though it is a game which is less understood, we venture to say, than any other game played in this country, it attracts millions of spectators every year. Football to some few spectators is intelligible; to a good many others it is pageantry and to the rest it is an emotional debauch without a headache. As such, we are inclined to think, it has its legitimate place in American life and particularly in academic life.

THE GOOD OLD PEACE PACT.

Moscow's official newspaper attacks the league of nations and the American state department for failing to protect China from Japanese aggression. The league made a formal note of the new war and went to lunch. It is a veteran in futility and experience has made it almost proof against embarrassment. Mr. Stimson is given responsibility because his predecessor, Mr. Kellogg, had his name attached to a peace pact of miraculous prospect. The renunciation of war as a policy is now supposed to charge the United States with particular responsibilities. Apparently it is forgotten that Briand of France actually led Mr. Kellogg into this bog of illusion, and wasn't it Dr. Shotwell of Columbia who put Briand up to it?

Briand is not held responsible, nor is France, but each outbreak of violence finds the United States a moral derelict. It is the world's preeminent soft boiled egg. And Russia is the world's blithering idiot. Two years ago it was attacking China and making Mr. Kellogg's pact look like a fraudulent stock certificate. The pretentious altruism of that solemn league and covenant signed by nations which will get what they want when they can by any means required is rated a moral lien on American action, as could easily be forecast in the beginning. The folly of making contracts for future delivery of unknown articles in unknowable conditions apparently loses none of its charm in the United States.

THE NOBLE EXPERIMENT IN CALIFORNIA.

Many visitors in California are at first startled and then delighted by the Pickwickian aspect of Volstead in those parts. California apparently has joined Florida in secession from that noble statute, but, like Florida, gives it moral support and votes. The public use of intoxicating beverages indicates that the Californians regard themselves as under some patronage higher than the constitution and the statutes enacted thereunder. Florida goes on the principle of giving the boys in the back room whatever they want if they have the price, but when winter ceases to be something that can be rung up on the cash register Florida returns to an appearance of rigor, picking up minor derelicts for work on the roads. Thus Volstead works two ways for the higher good.

California is in even better case. Nothing has been heard of any government subsidy for rum runners bringing in the desired cargoes from the Bahamas to Florida ports, but California has touched Uncle Sam for some twenty millions for its wine industry and is wine bricking the country to the glory of the eighteenth amendment. This cannot be all Hiram Johnson, good as he is. (Boulder dam proves how good.) President Hoover is a Californian and something may have been made of that fact out on the coast, but has not his native state heard the news that the President is dry? Dry enough to influence the Wickersham commission to sing, "Yes, we have no bananas," a legal arrangement of the old song by Mr. Wickersham himself.

Mr. Hoover seems to be singularly unfortunate in making either his native state or the city of his official residence understand his feeling that the Volstead act is a part of the law of the land. Did not Washington recently report that a speakeasy within a block or so of the White House was raided? There should be a law prohibiting the operation of a speakeasy within five hundred yards of the White House. It is also the home of the mayor of the city. The old regulations used to keep saloons away from schools and churches. It is not pleasing to find Volstead less considerate.

The nullification of the eighteenth amendment may not yet have made anything like the headway of nullification of the fourteenth and fifteenth, but when obscurantist politics has walked, Phariseelike, long enough on the moral side of the street, it will.

The American sense of the ridiculous is overrated. If the citizens of the United States could see a joke the way they think they see one California alone would make them laugh themselves sick.

CHICAGO HAS ITS IMITATORS.

[Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution.]

The school situation in Atlanta has reached the point of crisis and demands an immediate solution that will continue the system in operation and perform for the people the indispensable obligations of their civic government.

The board of education, by its confessed excesses in management, foraying outside of the law and its known resources, has reached a stalemate within itself and threatens to close down the schools for want of money to continue them. That menace astounds and angers the people who know that they have given to the board the system and its full support under charter terms.

It is difficult to figure out why the board of education should wish to hold on in the face of the so general public distrust and disgust.

If it cannot do the job assigned it, it should step down and out and leave the undertaking to others.

INSULATED HOUSES.

We are about to have vacuum bottle houses, according to some magazines and newspapers. These houses are to be built of metal, fabricated in two layers, with an air space between. The metal walls are to be so constructed that no air can ooze through the joints where the layers of metal are joined, and the metal itself is to be airproof, of course. There are to be no cracks. The construction is to be leakproof, and this includes slow leaks. The next step in construction will be to attach an air pump and exhaust the last remnant of air gases from the wall space, and when that is done the resemblance to a vacuum bottle will be complete.

The objective of all this is to so completely insulate the interior of the house as to almost do away with the need for cooling in summer and for heating in winter. Certainly the winter coal bills would be more than halved. When we have come to refrigeration in summer, the proposed building plan will cut the cooling costs likewise more than half. Incidentally, there should be more than a doubling of comfort for the occupants during the summer as well as winter.

We know the efficiency of the vacuum bottle. It will keep hot milk above the pasteurizing temperature, without additional heating, for more than twelve hours; and it will keep cold milk at a low temperature without icing for several days.

There is nothing new in the basic principle of this method of house building. It is merely that the manufacturers now claim to have perfected the mechanics to the point where they can apply perfect insulation to houses.

Aerologist for July carries a story of a house built along old lines, in which the air in hot weather is kept several degrees below that of outside air in the shade; and in winter its temperature is evenly 68, and its humidity evenly 55. Human comfort is at a maximum. The walls do not soil, the furniture does not come apart, and the windows and walls do not sweat. Winter coal bills are low. All of this is accomplished by providing exceptionally good wall and window insulation. The air is cleaned and humidified by sprinklers. The best wall insulation possible under the old methods is very poor and crude as compared with that brought about by vacuum.

This house, excellent as it may be, would be far more comfortable if there was vacuum between the walls. The summer temperature could be kept five degrees lower. And the bills for refrigeration in summer and for heating in winter would be much smaller than they now are.

QUIT WORRYING.

Mrs. A. C. writes: Last January my doctor found my blood pressure to be 188. My heart was normal. I was perfectly well, and slept fine. Since then I have been scared to death. I cannot sleep without taking a sleeping powder. I have no appetite and I have lost 18 pounds. My pressure is now 149. My age, 59. We had expected to spend a happy old age, but now I am so scared I can't be happy. What can I do?

REPLY.

Your blood pressure amounts to nothing and if you will let it alone it will let you alone. Through fear, worry, and anxiety you are keeping it up. Quit hoisting it.

A high blood pressure that fluctuates forty points, and that does not complicate heart or kidney disease, is not serious.

Taking sleeping powders is a more serious problem than the other. The proper treatment of your social disorders is training in emotional control. And that is all you need.

ACIDOSIS.

I. R. B. writes:

1. What is acidosis?
2. Does it make the patient feel queer for a few days before being taken down with it?

REPLY.

1. A condition of intoxication caused either by too much of certain fatty acids, or by a disturbance away from the alkali side of the normal acid-alkali balance.
2. It is likely to do so.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

THE FAMILY PURSE.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—If a man is working and gives all of his salary—$100 a month—to his wife and she retains all, is the man entitled to any part of the wife's money by law? M. G. C.

No, in the sense that there is no legal principle to prevent a man from making a valid gift to his wife. Yes, in the sense that if the question were raised in divorce proceedings the court would take such gifts in account in arriving at a property settlement. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

BARKING DISTURBS THEM.

Chicago, Sept. 15. — [Friend of the People.]—We wish to make a complaint against the owner of a police dog next door to us. The barking of this dog goes on continuously at night and is so loud that it makes sleep impossible. The dog is kept on the porch and our bedroom windows face all this noise. Anything that can be done to compel the owner to keep the dog quiet will be appreciated. S. B. Z.

Officers assigned to investigate report that the owner of the dog in question has not procured a license and they served him with a summons for violation of Section 1048 C. C. They also informed him that complaint had been made concerning a nuisance created by his dog and instructed him to abate the nuisance at once and that if any further annoyance was caused court action would be taken against him. He promised that his dog would be kept in such a manner in the future as not to create any disturbance to his neighbors.

JOHN H. ALCOCK.
Acting Commissioner of Police.

UNDIVIDED INTERESTS.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—At the death of my father a few years ago my two brothers and myself became the owners of a few hundred acres of unimproved land in the west. One brother has failed to pay his share of taxes, making it necessary for me to pay it. Can I get a tax title to his third of the property? T. A. M.

No. Where the owners of undivided interests in real estate cannot agree, any one of them is entitled to force a public sale by partition proceedings. The cost of such proceedings, including the complainant's solicitor's fees, are chargeable against the proceeds of sale.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

WELL, THOSE BOYS that did our fighting for us over in France had to pipe down on the bonus this year, but right away they turned around and said, oh very well, then let's have beer. Beer, of course, isn't as good as a bonus, but it's pretty good at that, and if they couldn't get one it'd be nice to have the other. Those boys meeting in Detroit know their B's. They had plenty of Ballyhoo before they went, and over in France they had Bullets, Bullybeef, and lots of them got Bumped Off. Over here they've had to fight hard for the Bonus and usually the politicians handed them the Bushwah. They've kept silent on the beer thing ever since they came home; but when the Bonus was held back from them this year they had to have something with B in it, anyhow. Not that they're the only ones in this land of the free who want beer. But the boys are fighting the battle for the rest of us as they did in France. They've gone over the top and led the way into the fight. But remember this: if you don't like beer nobody wants to hold your nose and put it down your neck. The big idea is that those who like beer can drink it and those who like buttermilk can drink buttermilk. The big idea is that you should be able to do as you like about it. Which isn't such a bad idea at that.

SONNET XXXV.

What could I ask for, what could I be granted,
More than this kindness life has done to me?
Gone are the days of weeping for the slanted,
Grey rain, the days of singing ecstasy
Wherewith my body was swept like a great harp's clamor
Beating up to the stars of a riven sky,
Breathless and broken with each new day's glamour,
Pulsing with spring and hearing the wild geese cry
Now that is over, all that terrible knowing,
All that quick prescience of the changing earth,
Gone with the agonies of young love's going,
Gone with the tears that emptied me of mirth.

Now are my days from joy and grief set free
With the wild geese gone southward, leaving me.

NANCY SHORES BURCHAM.

EVERYBODY has his own opinion about the effect of the ten per cent wage cut, but it looks as though there would be more Wishing You a Merry Christmas cards this year than there will be neckties, wrist watches, pickle dishes, and parlor lamps.

DOC NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER says dictatorships produce leaders like Mussolini while democracies put midgets in the seats of the mighty. You've got the cart in front of the hoss, Doc; leaders like Mussolini produce dictatorships. Or which came first, the hen or the egg?

But we will have to admit that Doc Butler is right when he points to the list of Presidents of our great and glorious commonwealth and says that most of them were nine spots and duds. The trouble with our system is that the strong man arouses the jealousy and the hatred of the mob. To defeat the strong man they gladly turn to a candidate that looks like something that the cat brought in. In a democracy, Doc, the old inferior complex gets its chance.

High Pressure Salesmanship and Missus Cazooki.

. . . oh, yes, Missus Cazooki, I remember you very well: you've been here many times for hats. Won't you sit down, please . . . now, then, Missus Cazooki, tell me: what's on your mind? . . . oh, yes, of course—a hat—you want to buy a hat . . . yes, I understand, Missus Cazooki: you wish to buy a hat that will harmonize with your face and accentuate your spiritual side, also; something to identify you as Missus Cazooki, as it were. Well, Missus Cazooki, after selling hats to ladies for twenty-five years we have discovered that impossible; and for the simple reason that most ladies wish us to fit not only the head but the mind, also, we have inaugurated what we call the psychic sales system. May I ask how old you are, Missus Cazooki? . . . twenty-eight, ah, yes; and one year from now you will be thirty-nine. Now, then, what is your attitude toward life: are you misunderstood and unhappy? Are you on an orange juice diet? Do you bear up bravely and come home from downtown all worn out? . . . oh, you poor dear, I should have known; but, you see, your hat gave you such an air of happiness—you know that hat you have on doesn't become you, at all. Now, let me show you one: here is a Princess Eugenia . . . oh, but, my dear, you don't understand; when you do not feel well all you have to do is simply wet the feather . . . see, like this . . . why, my dear, you look too misunderstood for words! ORACLE.

THE WEDGE.

With clamor and swing they leave the snow.
Away from the frost swept, useless nest,
On to the sunshine . . . to warmth, to rest.
Cleaving with rhythmical beat the sky,
Upward and onward the wild geese fly.

With steady, unswerving faith they go.
And we who hear in the graying dawn,
The honking lines of the wedge move on,
Know God has chartered for us a way,
Upward and onward . . . to peace, to day.

ROBERTA ROBERTSON.

"NO, NO, NO!" frantically wires J. Arthur Whitworth, "stop that, stop it at once! Not a buckeye in the hip pocket for a cure of rheumatism but a horse chestnut in either front pants pocket. A horse chestnut, I tell you. It will cure you of rheumatism. Get your horse chestnut today and never let me catch you without one again!" Neigh, neigh, J. Arthur, a horse chestnut cures the heaves or the string-halt, but not rheumatism. And who ever said a buckeye was good for rheumatism or anything else except a crack on the head? Not us—no, sir. A raw potato is our remedy, and we stick to it.

ONCE MORE the Philippines are asking for independence. Which at least will make a lot of Americans ask, "What are a Phillipine?" R. H. L.

A PECULIAR BREED

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPT. 25, 1915.

BERLIN.—Admiral von Holtzendorff, former commander of the German high seas fleet, now is head of the naval general staff, succeeding Vice Admiral Bachmann. Rear Admiral Behncke, vice chief of the naval general staff, also is out and it is understood his successor will be Admiral von Kuch, inspector of marine instruction at the naval academy, although this appointment is unconfirmed. The changes took place in connection with the modification of the submarine policy signalized by Ambassador von Bernstorff's declarations at Washington. The displaced admirals, it is understood, were opposed to the modification.

LONDON.—The Balkan states made rapid strides toward war. Greece answered the Bulgarian call to arms by summoning its army to the colors. Rumania, which has been preparing its army for some time, is expected to follow Greece.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex.—The attack by several hundred Mexicans on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande today to cover the retreat of 70 to 80 raiders who looted and set fire to a store at Progreso, Tex., 35 miles west of here, was described in an official report by Maj. Edward Anderson of the 12th cavalry and is regarded here as the gravest turn in the international situation since the beginning of the present border troubles. Private Henry W. Stubblefield of Virginia was killed.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 25, 1901.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—"Guilty of murder in the first degree" was the verdict returned by the jury in the case of Leon F. Czolgosz, the assassin of President McKinley. Unmoved by the words that mean his doom and the calmest person in the courtroom, the murderer sat in his chair as the foreman announced the decision. Sentence will be pronounced day after tomorrow, Justice White giving the prisoner the two days allowed by law before setting the day of execution. At the end of that time he will sentence the slayer to the electric chair. The trial altogether occupied only eight hours and twenty-six minutes. The jury was out nearly half an hour, but that length of time was not necessary to decide the assassin's guilt. Judge Lewis, chief counsel for the prisoner, in his plea to the jury, recounted incidents that tended to prove Czolgosz of unsound mind, but not an iota of testimony along this line was produced. In fact, the defense called no witness and left the case where prosecution ended it.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 25, 1881.

CLEVELAND, O.—All that is earthly of James A. Garfield was borne through the streets of Cleveland today and deposited in the pavilion and on the catafalque which mark the center of the public square, there to remain until Monday [Sept. 26], when his noble clay will be interred at Lake View cemetery. The streets were thronged from early morning with crowds made up not only of the native population, but visitors from nearly every city, village, and hamlet of Ohio, with a generous sprinkling from other states. The body was met at the train by a civil and military escort and taken to the hearse, which was drawn by four coal black horses. Mrs. Garfield and her family did not enter the procession which then formed, but were driven directly to the residence of the Hon. James Mason.

NEW YORK.—The entire village of Peekskill tried to pack itself into the First Methodist Episcopal church to participate in memorial services to President Garfield, at which the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher delivered a eulogy on the assassinated statesman.

THE CASE FOR LOWER WAGES.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Few seem to realize that the present depression is no less than an unprecedented "era of prosperity" for a very large part, possibly more than one-half, of the population of this country.

The United States department of labor has given out information to the effect that retail commodity prices have now fallen to practically the levels of 1915 and that a dollar of 1926 value has now a purchasing power of about $1.43.

The president of one of our great railroad systems has stated in a letter to stockholders recently that wages on their road have been raised 125 per cent since 1915, and now, largely as a result of these wage increases, he with other rail executives feels compelled to ask for permission to raise all freight rates 15 per cent.

All of our railroad managements are now seeking higher rates which at best will be of doubtful benefit to their companies and perhaps only serve to help their competitors in the transportation field and to raise production and marketing costs of all commodities at a time when we are already finding it most difficult to compete in world markets; and all in lieu of reductions in wages and salaries of railroad employes and executives now being maintained at a dollar level 125 per cent above 1915 scales and a buying power level 43 per cent above 1926 values.

There are millions of federal, state, county and municipal employes in this country whose salaries and wages have not been cut at all during this depression. Practically all have been increased, some many times, since 1915. All have been raised since 1926 and particularly during the past two years of depression in buying power, which is what counts.

Are not President Hoover and all of his subordinates in all departments of the federal government [including the postoffice and other departments now showing enormous deficits] and all members of congress, also enjoying increases in money salaries over those of 1915, and increases in buying power salaries over those of 1926—42 per cent more, according to the department of labor? Has not most of this raise in buying power come to them during this depression? Is not President Hoover the outstanding exponent in this country of money wage maintenance?

Postal rates are now being increased to foreign countries and still more drastic increases [letter postage to be lifted from 2 cents to 3 cents for instance] have been proposed by our postoffice department and members of congress. I have been told there are about a million and a half employes in our postal service whose money salaries have not been cut and whose buying power salaries have been greatly increased during this depression.

How many corporation executives and employes have taken cuts in money salaries and wages during the past two years that will compare with the increase in buying power pay they have enjoyed during this depression?

Is not this depression being needlessly prolonged by the ignorance, selfishness and moral cowardice of our political, industrial and labor union executives, and other would-be leaders and economists?

Was not President Hoover elected largely because of his reputation for being an experienced and efficient executive and an expert economist? Did he not promise "farm relief" and repeatedly state that he could "see no reason why prosperity should not be made permanent"? Has he not contributed more harm to the country than any other man in his efforts to set aside economic laws by holding up money wages while commodities are falling and at the expense of farmers who are getting nothing for their labor and losing their farms, small merchants and manufacturers facing bankruptcy, taxridden property owners and those without jobs or any other means of livelihood? WHERE WAS ROOSEVELT?

Chicago, Sept. 13.—In your articles "From THE TRIBUNE 30 Years Ago Today" of Sept. 6 you say President McKinley was shot and that Vice President Roosevelt, who was in Vermont, was notified. On Sept. 7, in the same column, you say the Vice President arrived from Vermont. As a matter of fact, the Vice President was not in Vermont at that time but at Blue Mountain lake, in the state of New York. My wife was at that place, being the housekeeper of the hotel where the Roosevelt family were guests, and Frank Quinn was the proprietor. This resort is in the northern part of the state, northeast of Albany. W. R. MOTT.

CHARGE MURDER AND 'RACKET' IN TAMMANY CLUBS

Startling Police Stories Told Investigators.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 24.—[Special.]—A tale of murder, gambling and racketeering behind the green shutters and "ice box" doors of Tammany Democratic clubs was told in a matter-of-fact manner by two police officers today before the legislative investigating committee.

CAPT. LOUIS J. VALENTINE.

There was a double murder in the Harry C. Perry Democratic club on the night of Jan. 24, 1926. The victims, two professional gamblers, were dumped on the sidewalk of the Bowery. The case was recorded as a street shooting, the suspected murderer's name was known but there were no indictments. The club was Mr. Perry's and Mr. Perry was chief clerk of the city court.

Two hired working holdup men who had just "knocked off" a $14,000 pay roll back in January, 1927, dropped in on Sheriff Thomas A. Farley's political club the same night, got in with bad company, and dropped their earnings in a dice frolic.

Wide Field Is Covered.

Over in the Greenpoint Democratic club, where Alf. Peter J. McGuinness held sway, there was a crap game and pool room where bets were taken on the parlay. Then there was the Wigwam Democratic club over in Brooklyn of which James A. McQuade, then register of Kings county was the moving spirit.

Then were others and linked with the names of the politicians were such notable characters as "Nigger Rue," "Dolly Hvolick," "Monkey Raich," and various gentlemen who had taken their time correspondence courses at the bar. The two police witnesses mentioned these clubs well. They had raided them all, but they never got anywhere with their raids.

Counsel Samuel Seabury, before whom the policemen were testifying in an open session of the legislative inquiry, called hastily for Albert B. Unger, chief assistant district attorney, while Detective John O'Neill drew from his pocket a picture of the man suspected of murdering the two gamblers in the Perry club.

The district attorney's office had the man's name and a statement concerning the double killing which never had been made public, the detective said.

Urged Telephones.

Mr. Unger telephoned to Mr. Seabury to "withhold the statement in the public interest," and hurried over. Unger told the investigators the district attorney's office inquiry into the Perry club shooting never turned up anything worth submitting to a grand jury and that nothing had been done about the case since 1926 in the prosecutor's office.

Over the objection of Mr. Unger the legislative committee made public the name of the suspected murderer—a name which has been in the district attorney's possession for more than five years. His name was given as Lorenzo Fuzzio, alias Larry Young Gilmer.

The implication was that pressure had been brought to prevent prosecution.

The disclosure that the murder of Rocco Cuoco and Vincent Montaldo and the wounding of Lawrence Lodato actually took place in the Democratic club instead of in the street came first from Capt. L. J. Valentine, who declared the clubs were frequented by holdup men and murderers, as well as professional gamblers, during the period when he was head of the confidential police squad under Commissioners George B. McLaughlin and Joseph A. Warren.

Republican Clubs Also Named.

Capt. Valentine said gambling had been found in the Lincoln Republican club, presided over by Jacob Rosenzweig, and the Sixth Assembly Republican club, directed by John R. Crems. The clubs, both in Brooklyn, were raided, the captain related.

The police officer explained that gamblers captured in raids on political clubs usually were turned loose in night court.

ROBBED OF GEMS

MRS. SYLVIA ETTELSON.

B. J. ETTELSON HOME ROBBED OF $8,000 GEMS

An armed robber entered the apartment of Bernard J. Ettelson on the ninth floor of the Shoreland hotel at 5454 South Shore drive yesterday afternoon, terrorized Mrs. Ettelson and a woman friend, and escaped with jewelry valued at more than $8,000 after locking them in a clothes closet.

Mrs. Ettelson, whose husband is a brother of former Corporation Counsel Samuel Ettelson, and her guest, Mrs. Charles Levy, also a resident of the hotel, were chatting when there was a call on the house telephone.

"This is George Weinstein," said the caller, "and I've got a package for Barney."

He was told to take it to the apartment. As soon as he entered he drew a pistol and pointed it at the women, whom he ordered first into a bathroom. Mrs. Ettelson, in nervous haste, knocked over a bottle and broke it. The bandit cursed and then ordered the victoms into the closet.

Next the robber went to a dresser and took four rings set with diamonds. Included were Mrs. Ettelson's wedding and engagement rings. From another room he took two watches, a set of diamond cuff links and other jewelry.

With a warning to Mrs. Ettelson and Mrs. Levy that they would be killed if they left the closet, the man departed. About fifteen minutes later he called the hotel switchboard and informed the operator that there had been a robbery in the Ettelson apartment. Employés of the hotel released the women.

Nothing was taken from Mrs. Levy, it was said.

BYNG TO RETIRE AS THE HEAD OF LONDON POLICE

LONDON, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Viscount Byng of Vimy, commissioner of the metropolitan police, announced today he is retiring from his post at the end of the month. The famous wartime general and former governor-general of Canada became London's police chief in 1928 when he answered what the home secretary described as "a stern call to duty."

This call was to clean up London's police. There was much popular agitation at the time because of the discovery that several constables had been receiving bribes from night club hostesses and other violators of the liquor restrictions laws, and some others were suspected of turning blind eyes to illegal street betting.

Gen. Byng's activities as police chief have been considerably hampered by his health. In 1929 he suffered a severe illness and went to South Africa to recuperate. Recently he was forced to spend some time in the south of France. Despite ill health, the general is credited with having done a good job in setting the morale of London's famed bobbies even higher than it was before he took up his post as head of 20,000 men policing 700 square miles.

TWO FINED ON BRIBE CHARGE.

Edward Payne, 34 years old, 1339 Washington street, and Louis Adams, 51 years old, 1257 Madison street, were fined $5 each yesterday by Police Magistrate Porter in Evanston for trying to bribe Richard Lindsay, an Evanston health officer. Lindsay arrested them on Sept. 18 while they were dumping a load of refuse on a vacant lot.

JAPAN INVITES CHINA WAR LORD TO PEACE PARLEY

Urges Marshal Chang to Speed to Mukden.

perturbation and anxiety, thus created, a detachment of Chinese troops destroyed tracks of the South Manchurian railway and attacked railway guards. A clash of Japanese and Chinese troops then took place.

"The situation became critical as the number of Japanese guards stationed along the entire railway did not exceed 10,400, while there were in juxtaposition some 220,000 Chinese soldiers. Moreover, hundreds of thousands of Japanese residents were placed in jeopardy. In order to forestall an imminent disaster the Japanese army had to act swiftly. Chinese soldiers garrisoned in neighboring localities were disarmed, and the duty of maintaining peace and order was left in the hands of local Chinese organizations under the supervision of Japanese troops.

"These measures having been taken, our soldiers were mostly withdrawn to within the railway zone. It may be superfluous to state that the Japanese government harbors no territorial ambitions in Manchuria. The Japanese government, true to its established policy, is prepared to cooperate with the Chinese government in order to prevent the incident from developing into a disastrous situation."

Japan to Stand Pat.

This statement evidently means that Japan will give up none of her existing rights, but seeks nothing more than the observance of rights and interests which have been legally established in Manchuria.

It is considered significant that the government says nothing about the date of evacuation since the Japanese claim that their military occupation was a temporary affair which, they say, has already been abandoned except at three points. In Mukden, they state only a small force is stationed, taking no part in the administration of the city. The two other points are in the Japanese owned South Manchurian railway zone.

According to observers, the Japanese are anxious that China negotiate directly with them, contending that since they live together in Manchuria they should settle their own differences. The Japanese are opposed to China's effort to draw the league of nations and the United States into the negotiations.

U. S. NOTES URGE PEACE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—In identical notes sent to China and Japan today through the American diplomatic missions in those countries Secretary Stimson appealed for peace in Manchuria. He referred to treaties which provide for amicable adjustment of disputes and expressed the hope that the military forces would refrain from further hostilities, be disposed so as to satisfy the requirements of international engagements, and avoid prejudicing an amicable adjustment of the differences.

In dispatching the notes the secretary of state carried out the promise he made in a communication to the league of nations yesterday that he would make representations to China and Japan along lines previously made by the league. Previously he had expressed similar sentiments orally to the Washington diplomatic representatives of China and Japan, on which these diplomats had based communications along the same line to their governments.

Text of Notes.

Today's notes are the first formal communications sent to Japan and China by Mr. Stimson. The Stimson communication, sent immediately after it had been approved by President Hoover during a White House conference, is as follows:

"The government and people of the United States have observed with regret and with great concern events of the last few days in Manchuria. In view of the sincere desire of the people of this country that principles and methods of peace shall prevail in international relations, and of the existence of treaties, to several of which the United States is a party, the provisions of which are intended to regulate the adjustment of controversies between nations without resort to use of force, the American government feels warranted in expressing to the Chinese and the Japanese governments its hope that they will cause their military forces to refrain from any further hostilities, will so dispose respectively of their armed forces as to satisfy the requirements of international law and international agreements, and will refrain from activities which may prejudice the attainment of amicable methods of an adjustment of their differences."

Refer to Kellogg Pact.

The treaties referred to are understood to be the Kellogg anti-war pact and the nine power treaty of the Washington conference which supports the open door and the territorial and administrative integrity of China.

League of Nation's Rules Ignored by Japan in China

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—The latest dispatches from the zone of hostilities in Manchuria disclosed tonight that Japan ignored two major articles of the league of nations covenant when her troops invaded China late last week and seized fifteen towns along the Japanese controlled South Manchurian railway.

By her invasion of Chinese territory, together with the subsequent clashes between Japanese and Chinese troops which have prompted peace efforts by the league and the United States, the Japanese government is held to have violated articles 10 and 12 of the covenant, which was written by the league to give expression to its announced purpose of promoting "international cooperation" and achieving international peace and security through the acceptance of obligations by its signatories "not to resort to war."

May Be Treaty Violation.

There was strong evidence tonight that the United States, as well as other signatories of the Kellogg anti-war pact, considered that Japan also has violated her obligations under that treaty, which provides that its signatories "agree that the settlement or solution of all disputes or conflicts, of whatever nature or of whatever origin they may be, which may arise between them shall never be sought except by pacific means."

In many quarters it is believed that the action of Japan in ignoring the league covenant and the Kellogg pact pledge not to engage in hostilities until a pacific solution has been sought, cannot but fail to injure the prestige of both the league and the treaty as agencies for the prevention of hostilities between signatory nations.

In Conflict with Article 10

Although Japanese spokesmen have reiterated that they respected Chinese territorial integrity, this has not prevented Japanese troops from invading Manchurian territory belonging to China and engaging in hostilities with local defenders. Such action was in direct conflict with article 10 of the league covenant, which states that:

"The members of the league undertake to respect and preserve as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league. In any such aggression or in case of any threat or danger of such aggression, the council shall advise upon the means by which this obligation shall be fulfilled."

Arbitration Provided.

Article 12 binds Japan and other signatory powers to submit disputes to arbitration or to inquiry by the league council. Through resort to gun power rather than peaceful methods over the Manchurian railroad the Japanese are considered to have violated this article. It reads as follows:

"The members of the league agree that if there shall arise between them any dispute likely to lead to a rupture they will submit the matter either to arbitration or to inquiry by the council, and they agree in no case to resort to war until three months after the award of the arbitrators or the report of the council."

POLICE PROBING NEW MYSTERY GANG SHOOTING

The police are investigating a mysterious gang shooting, the second this week, which took place early yesterday in the 1800 block on South Wabash avenue. Two men left the building at 1834 South Wabash avenue, leading a third man to an automobile which waited at the curb. On the sidewalk he twisted away from them and fled. They drew revolvers and opened fire on him, and he returned their fire.

Policeman Otto Schuler, who was guarding the Wabash motion picture theater at 1838 South Wabash avenue, ran to the sidewalk. The two gunmen got into the automobile and drove away while he emptied his revolver at them. The third man disappeared on foot.

Capt. John Prendergast, commanding the Second district, said that the neighborhood was known to be the rendezvous of a group of narcotic peddlers, and that the shooting might have resulted from some friction among them.

The other gang shooting took place Monday afternoon on the Monroe street viaduct east of Michigan boulevard. Sam Hunt and James Fawcett, alias "Red" Forsythe, Capone gunmen, were arrested near the spot. As a result of the discovery Tuesday night of the automobile on which they are believed to have fired, with several bullet holes in it and its seat stained with blood, a search was carried on yesterday for a man believed to have been wounded in the fray.

FRANCE REJECTS YEAR'S HOLIDAY IN ARMS RACE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Sept. 24.—France today bitterly attacked Italy's proposal for an immediate armaments truce pending the international conferences in February, 1932. The proposal that the powers refrain from increasing their present armed strength for one year under a "gentleman's agreement" was approved yesterday by Hugh R. Wilson, representing the United States.

Rene Massigli, French naval expert, categorically repulsed the proposal of Foreign Minister Dino Grandi of Rome, tearing it to shreds and stating that it was impossible of application. He cited reservations by the United States on the construction of destroyers as merely a forerunner of important conditions which many other powers would attach.

The Frenchman also stated that sudden abandonment of armaments will not help economic conditions, stating that America had mentioned that it would be impossible to cancel work on the building of destroyers because it helped to ameliorate unemployment.

JAPAN DEMANDS GUARANTEES IN ROW WITH CHINA

Tells League It Will Then Withdraw Troops.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Sept. 24.—American representations in the Manchurian situation, and Washington's adhesion to the league of nations' efforts to prevent Japan's alleged seizure of additional Chinese territory from developing into a state of war, elicited a reply from Tokio tonight which the league council examined in secret session.

The Japanese government offered to withdraw its troops from certain advanced points, which they now occupy, if the Chinese offered acceptable guarantees that Japanese residents in these areas are not molested and their property is respected. Tokio also promised to answer at once the league's proposal to send a neutral investigating committee, including American delegates, to investigate the situation.

All in Different Rooms.

The council's subcommittee, composed of Lord Cecil of Great Britain, Rene Massigli of France, Count von Bernstorff of Germany, and Dino Grandi of Italy, tonight convoked a meeting, occupying one room in the secretariat. Hugh R. Wilson, American minister to Switzerland, sat in one anteroom, while M. K. Yoshisawa of Japan and Dr. Alfred Sze of China were both placed in different rooms, as if they were at swords' points.

Sir Eric Drummond, secretary of the league, paced back and forth among the five different rooms acquainting the various officials of the progress of the discussions. Thus Mr. Wilson maintained the American position, being of the league, but not in it.

The Japanese delegate insisted that lack of instructions prevented him from accepting any proposals, but agreed to dispatch another message to Tokio calling for an urgent reply which would indicate what kind of a compromise he could accept.

Suggest 7 Man Committee.

The "big four" of Britain, France, Germany and Italy finally suggested an investigating committee composed of two non-Chinese members to be selected by the Nanking government, and two non-Japanese members to be picked by the Tokio government and three neutral members to be designated by the council.

The "big four" also hinted their willingness to grant Japan considerable more territory in order to give ample protection for Japanese residing there.

BORAH ATTACKS JAPAN FOR USING ARMY IN CHINA

Moscow, Idaho, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Senator William E. Borah of Idaho attacked Japan today for putting troops in Manchuria, saying the Japanese government "violated every international law."

Inaugurating the William E. Borah foundation for outlawry of war at the University of Idaho, the chairman of the senate foreign relations committee said the Japanese action violated "the Kellogg and Briand pacts, the league of nations covenant and the Versailles treaty."

"Even though Japan's reasons were ten times as truthful as it can be assumed they are, there is no justification for force in Manchuria," he said. "If the four or five leading nations were as much concerned about abiding by international law and treaties as they are in forcing smaller nations and subjugated nations to abide by them, we would be a fairly peaceful world."

PHILIPPINES ASK FOR LIBERTY IN PETITION TO U. S.

Legislature Delivers It to Secretary Hurley.

MANILA, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The insular legislature today unanimously adopted a resolution memorializing congress for immediate independence for the Philippines.

The memorial was passed at a joint session of the two houses and was delivered to Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, now officially visiting the Philippines, for delivery to congress and President Hoover.

Expressing the belief that separation was the only solution of the Philippine problem, the memorial said that the "independence of America from the Philippines would seem to be as imperative as the independence of the Philippines from America."

Voices Autonomy Demand.

Prior to the adoption of the resolution, Acting Senate President Sergio Osmena addressed the session in a speech which many interpreted as a direct refusal of Filipino leaders to accept the statement of Secretary Hurley that he was trying to work out arrangements whereby the two peoples could live happily together.

"We are not seeking reforms or changes in our government," Osmena said. "We are not interested in new government formulas. Autonomy is what our people want. The desire now is for independence; to be allowed to live a life of their own choosing and directing their own destiny, and to establish here a government loved and supported by its nationals under the shadow of its own flag."

The memorial cited alleged moves to exclude Filipino immigrants and Philippine products from the United States.

Angry Over Filipino Exclusion.

"The present movement to exclude Filipinos from the United States," the resolution said, "is giving rise to friction and misunderstanding. The manner in which the campaign is being conducted cannot but arouse among the Filipino people the feeling that it is impelled by other than purely economic motives.

"Even at the present time it is not safe for Filipinos to engage in lawful occupations in some parts of the United States. Our present trade relations with the United States are uncertain and unstable. Regulated exclusively by the American congress, America's interests, rather than our own, are the dominant consideration.

"Therefore, with all due respect, with a deep feeling of gratitude toward America, with full consciousness of the burdens and responsibilities of independent life, we hereby submit that the time has come for a redemption of America's solemn promise to declare and recognize the complete independence of the Philippines."

DAN SERRITELLA GETS A SECOND VENUE CHANGE

State Senator Dan Serritella, Capone lieutenant who is "under indictment for conspiracy for his handling of the office of city sealer under the former city administration, was granted a second change of venue yesterday when his case came before Judge John Prystalski in the criminal court. Judge Prystalski sent the case back to Chief Justice Harry M. Fisher for reassignment and the chief justice assigned it to Judge Philip L. Sullivan.

Serritella and his former chief deputy in the sealer's office, Harry Hochstein, were indicted after an investigation by the state's attorney's office into charges that merchants had been permitted to make short weight sales.

There is, too, an added something about it that brings enthusiastic comments from every one who has ever driven a Ford . . . the joy it puts in motoring.

"I have been a car owner continuously for nearly 20 years," writes a motorist connected with a leading university. "During this period I have bought eleven new automobiles. Eight of the eleven were in the middle-price field, one cost three thousand dollars, and the last is a Ford coupe that I purchased thirteen months ago.

"In the light of this experience I can say in all sincerity that I have derived more genuine satisfaction from the Ford than any car I ever owned. In saying this, I am thinking in terms of comfort, safety, driving pleasure, ease of control and economy. My next car will also be a Ford because it will give me what I want at a price I can afford to pay."

When you get behind the wheel of the Ford and drive it yourself you will know it is a truly remarkable car at a low price. You will like it when you first buy it. You will become more and more enthusiastic the longer you drive it.

The Ford is made to stand up. Time reveals what you cannot see at a glance . . . the sincere quality built into every part. After thousands of miles of driving you will still say "it's a great car." You will be able to look back and figure that you have saved a great many dollars in operation cost, repairs and depreciation by buying a Ford.

ORDERS RETURN OF EQUIPMENT TO GAMING DEN

'North Side' Frankie Pope Freed in Raid.

The Aquarium Social club, gambling resort run by "North Side" Frankie Pope at 514 Diversey parkway under the protection of an injunction issued by Circuit Judge Joseph Burke, was the cause of action in three quarters yesterday.

JUDGE GREEN.

Municipal Judge Thomas A. Green dismissed Pope and seventy-one of his patrons, arrested in a raid on the club on Sept. 9 by state's attorney's detectives, because the raiders had no search warrant. He ordered the return of roulette wheels, other gambling paraphernalia and cash seized in the place. Sergt. Michael Ahearn turned over $58, but held the gambling apparatus.

Raiders Will Meet Judge.

Assistant State's Attorneys Charles J. Mueller and Charles E. Lounsbury, who ordered the raid, and Sergt. Ahern and the detectives who made it were asked to appear for a conference this morning with Judge Burke. Prosecutor Mueller was informed by Assistant Coroporation Counsel Otto F. Weiner, assigned to oppose the issuance of writs protecting gambling houses and other illegal resorts, that Judge Burke probably will order the return of the gambling equipment seized in Pope's place.

"We won't return the stuff," Mr. Mueller declared. "You can't use a roulette wheel for any purpose except gambling, and to return it to the owners would be to acknowledge to the public that the place is to start running as a gambling joint again."

Cermak Seeks Action.

Mayor Cermak also took cognizance of the injunction protecting Pope's place when he asked Corporation Counsel Sexton for an opinion as to whether it is possible to hold gambling house owners for perjury if they make false statements in obtaining injunctions. In the report on the Aquarium club injunction proceedings the mayor said he found that Joseph Sanders, "president of the organzatiop," testified that its sole income was derived from dues of $5 a month paid by members, and that no gambling was carried on in the place.

Judge Green also dismissed the cases of seventeen prisoners taken in a raid by Mayor Cermak's gambling squad, under Capt. Martin E. Mullen, on the Vanity Fair Night club at Broadway and Grace street Sunday night. Judge Green held that the search warrant was defective, in that it did not name the proprietor of the place, nor give a description of the "John Doe" named as the keeper. He refused to order the return of the equipment seized in that raid.

Stage More Raids.

The gambling squad raided nine alleged handbooks in the Chicago avenue police district yesterday, and police from Town Hall station made one raid. In the Wabash avenue district, Capt. John Stege arrested twelve men and seized policy wheels and other gambling apparatus at three locations.

Judge Robert E. Gentzel issued a temporary injunction yesterday in the Superior court restraining police from again visiting the premises at 4839 Vincennes avenue without a search warrant. Capt. Stege raided an alleged policy game there several days ago. Judge Gentzel ordered the return of a radio and $500 which the police seized after opening a safe in the place.

The gambling detail is operating without a leader, it was learned yesterday. Capt. Mullen has been in the Alexian Brothers' hospital for the last week, suffering from rheumatism. He expects to return to duty in a few days, he said.

After Big Game, Says Mayor.

Mayor Cermak's anti-gambling campaign is directed against the leaders, he said yesterday. He denied that small fry had been the principal objectives so far.

"On the contrary," he said, "we are giving the little fellows a break. Where we find that some fellow has a legitimate cigar store and that a precinct political leader has told him everything is fixed, and starts booking, or installs a slot machine, we aren't going to close up the legitimate business. The owner is warned to clear the gambling out. If he does so, no action is taken against him."

FOUND

JOHN R. EVANS.

John R. Evans, 21 years old, a cartoonist on the Peoria [Ill.] Star, who has been missing since Aug. 11, is living in Chelan, Wash. This was revealed yesterday in a note sent to the newspaper where he had been employed. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph P. Evans, 3760 Ward street, Chicago, left for Chelan to see him.

Evans left Peoria without telling any of his friends or relatives of his intention. Since his departure his mother and father, fearing he might have been harmed, have searched the middle west for him.

Evans' note was sent to Eleanor Herrmann, who had worked with him in the art department of the Peoria newspaper. The youth asked for a scrapbook which contained his drawings. Miss Herrmann was instructed to destroy the letter and tell no one of his whereabouts. Because of the anxiety felt for the cartoonist's fate the girl disclosed the letter to her employer and his parents were informed. The note gave no motive for Evans' disappearance.

RANDOLPH TELLS SECRET SIX FIGHT AGAINST CAPONE

Speaks to N. U. Faculty and Students.

COL. ROBERT I. RANDOLPH. [Coquette Photo.]

The "Secret Six," he said, traced $350,000 in canceled checks representing gambling profits to the manager of a gambling syndicate. That man was followed to St. Louis, where he had gone with a woman on a weekend trip, arrested and placed in jail at Danville, Ill., where he agreed to testify against his former bosses to save himself from prosecution, Col. Randolph said.

"On South American Cruise."

"The same man," he continued, "is now taking a South American cruise for his health. He will be brought back and kept 'on ice' in a safe place until he can testify against Al Capone in the latter's income tax trial."

At the federal building prosecutors who obtained the convictions against Ralph Capone and Gusik said that they did not recall the details mentioned by Col. Randolph.

The only man, it was said, who possibly might fit the description was Fred Ries, former cashier in a number of Cicero gambling houses. Ries was a government witness against Jack Gusik, but not against Ralph Capone, and the prosecutors said that they did not believe he had any information that could be used against Al Capone.

"Gangland's Price on Life."

"Life is cheap in Chicago gangland," Col. Randolph said. "I could have any man I designated killed for two or three hundred dollars. I could have President Scott [pointing to President Walter Dill Scott of the university] put on the spot, but it would probably cost a few hundred dollars extra because of his prominence."

The "Secret Six" is not a fiction, Col. Randolph said, but a "convenient reality which will continue to exist as long as the Chicago police are not able to control and suppress crime." Bainbridge Colby, former secretary of state, who is now a New York attorney, recently asked information on the operation of the "Secret Six," indicating that such a system might be organized in New York, he said.

NAUTILUS IS FIT ONLY TO BE SUNK, WILKINS AID SAYS

OSLO, Norway, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Prof. Harold U. Sverdrup, a member of the Wilkins expedition into arctic waters, said today it would be impossible for the submarine Nautilus to return to America under her own power.

Commenting on orders from Washington that Sir Hubert should deliver the submarine to an Atlantic seaboard port, he said he considered she was fit only to be sunk. It might be possible to tow her across, in his opinion, but not before next summer.

Pilots who brought the submarine into Bergen confirmed his statements and said she virtually was a wreck. Asked about the recent cruise under polar ice, Prof. Sverdrup said: "Though I am bound to silence, I may safely say the trip was awful."

Close Merchants Savings and Trust Co., Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Heavy withdrawals, reducing the funds of the Merchants Savings and Trust company, below legal reserve, forced the closing of the institution today. The bank had resources of $1,200,000 and deposits of $900,000.

SEIZE HIJACKER WITH VICTIMS; HUNT THREE AIDS

With one man in custody and forest preserve police yesterday were searching for three other members of a hijacking gang who early in the day kidnaped two truck drivers and escaped with their loads of cigars and cigarets. The drivers, gagged and bound in the rear seat of the hijackers' automobile, were rescued.

The man held is Morris Weiner, 33 years old, 1159 North Crawford avenue, a former convict. The two drivers are Fred H. Willms, 35 years old, of West Allis, Wis., and Floyd Hetrick, 25 years old, of Milwaukee.

Willms told police that he and Hetrick were driving their trucks north in Waukegan road, four miles north of Niles, when an automobile containing the four men forced them to stop. Two of the hijackers drove away in the trucks and the other two bound the two drivers and were preparing to drive away with them when the parked automobile without lights attracted the attention of a forest preserve police squad under Sergt. John Swinkowski. Weiner was captured and his companion escaped.

Most persons are greatly surprised when they first learn the range of Cadillac V-12 prices. Due to Cadillac's broadened manufacturing program, this magnificent multi-cylinder car costs no more to own than a number of conventional automobiles. For instance, the price of this luxurious V-12 Town Sedan, less the extra equipment, is only $3945 f. o. b. Detroit

The Car of the Year in its Own Fine Field is the CADILLAC V-12

To own and drive a Cadillac has long been a definite badge of distinction in every civilized country on earth. But never has Cadillac ownership meant so much as it does today.

Consider, for instance, the magnificent Cadillac V-12—and all that its ownership has come to imply.

Introduced to the public in October, 1930, this distinguished car is now but a year old; yet it has definitely become, in this short period of time, the outstanding car in its own fine field.

To own a Cadillac V-12, in any community in America, is to have your car acknowledged on every hand as one of the undeniably fine possessions a man can acquire.

The V-12 was destined, of course, from its very inception, to set an entirely new standard of general excellence—for back of it was Cadillac's long experience in the fine-car field, and a 30-year-old tradition of surpassing craftsmanship.

If you are not already familiar with the capabilities of this distinguished car, you are cordially invited to come in and drive it. Except the V-16 alone, no other car in the world can offer such completely captivating performance. In fact, we are certain you will always remember your first ride in a Cadillac V-12 as a most unusual experience.

Come in any time that suits your convenience. Or, if you prefer, telephone—and a V-12 will be sent to your door.

No Official Statements Given Out.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—(AP)—The studied silence in official Washington on wage cuts fails to cloak the disagreement as to the wisdom or propriety of the move initiated by some corporations.

Whatever the view held, however, there is a uniform watch on in both official and private organization ranks for new developments on the shifting industrial scene. The latest news of importance goes immediately to the executives directly interested.

Senate Having a hearing today in-

The Pittsburgh Coal company, among the largest bituminous producers of that district, cut salaries 10 per cent. Nothing said of wages.

Prospect of trouble apparent in Milwaukee, where members of a hosiery workers union threatened a walkout unless proposed wage reductions of between 30 and 45 per cent by the Phoenix and Holeproof companies are rescinded.

In New York the Anaconda Copper company revealed salaries had been cut up to 15 per cent as of July 1 and "wage adjustments" also have been made.

Labor's Statement Unanswered.

It is a quiet watch here, practically nothing having been said since the attack on the large steel corporations last night by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

That statement, in which the labor leader arraigned the wage cutters as short sighted and unethical, received a thorough study in all quarters concerned. There was no rejoinder to it, however, nor was it amplified.

The only word coming from the White House was that nothing would be said there. In his office President Hoover kept in close touch with what went on.

Takes Optimistic View.

Senator Bulkley, an Ohio Democrat, commented he regretted seeing wages cut "but there is the possibility that it may be a step toward ending the depression."

"It may be a step we have to go through economically," was another way he put it. He emphasized he was not advocating the lowering of a worker's pay, but pointed out in the past similar moves had been followed by a return of prosperity.

One thing sure is that much will be heard in congress on the whole matter. As to that, Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, said today he doubted the seriousness of William Green's suggestion to reduce tariff protection on items important to some coming steel concerns.

"While many of the rates on products of the steel companies are inexcessively high," Walsh said, "the duty to industry in general of putting them all on the free list would be to reduce that I cannot think such a radical change could be proposed by legislation."

Scores "Reckless" Wage Cuts.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Secretary of Labor William N. Doak tonight characterized recent wage cuts by large steel companies and other concerns as "deplorable."

Refusing to say whether he believes a general wage reduction is likely, Mr. Doak said he agreed with President Hoover's attitude that the present standard of wages ought to be maintained.

"It is deplorable," he said, referring to the recent wage cuts, "but apparently it could not be avoided."

He struck an optimistic note in discussing unemployment. On the basis of surveys his department is making in key industries throughout the country, he declared, there has been a slight gain in employment.

"There has been little change during the last three months," he added, "but whatever change we have noted indicates improvement."

GYPSUM COMPANY CUTS.

The United States Gypsum company will reduce salaries of its employes 10 per cent, effective Oct. 1. The reduction applies to approximately 600 employes in the Chicago headquarters of the company, and to 300 others in various branch offices, Sewell L. Avery, president of the company, said. It does not apply to wages at the company's plants, which have been adjusted previously according to conditions in the localities where they are situated, he said.

WOMAN DIES IN RIVER.

The body of Miss Maude L. Brown, 54 years old, 3059 North Rector avenue, was found yesterday in the north branch of the Chicago river. According to her brother, Russell Brown, she had been despondent.

DEPRESSION PERIOD CALLED PASSING OF "STUFFED SHIRT" ERA

Asheville, N. C., Sept. 24.—(AP)—The present business period was hailed by a government official tonight as the "era of the passing of the stuffed shirt."

Frederick M. Feiker, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, addressing the annual meeting of the American Trade association executives, said the next two years would give the country a "new crop of business leaders, tried in the fire of the realities," with many of the present top place men and concerns relegated to the background by more capable competitors.

Feiker contended the principal need of business is not relaxation of anti-trust laws, government control or similar panacess but a reduction of waste in production and selling.

JOBLESS TOTAL GROWS LARGER, LABOR REPORTS

Green Discouraged by Winter Outlook.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—A continuing increase in the number of unemployed workers was reported today by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. He stated that the federation estimates that nearly 5,600,000 persons in the United States are now without work. The usual seasonal advances in employment have not yet arrived, Mr. Green added.

President Green listed Chicago as one of the eight cities in which unemployment conditions were reported as "especially bad." The other municipalities were Jersey City, Cleveland, Baltimore, Boston, Philadelphia, Detroit, and Birmingham. Conditions were described as unusually bad in the building field, notwithstanding the administration's efforts to stimulate public construction.

Fall Gain Not Arrived.

"The usual fall gain in employment has not yet occurred this year," Mr. Green said. "In normal years, according to our figures, unemployment has usually reached its lowest point by August or September. But the number out of work this fall, according to trade union records, is still well above spring level.

"'Our final figures for August show more out of work than in July, although preliminary reports had suggested a possible improvement. And the preliminary figures for the first half of September show another slight increase in unemployment. Industrial unemployment has increased steadily since May.

Finds Prospects Serious.

"Our weighted figures since the spring low point, are as follows: May, 17.1 per cent unemployed; June, 18.2; July, 18.8; August [final], 19.3; September [preliminary], 19.5.

"Without the usual fall gain in employment, prospects for the winter are even more serious. There is little hope for further improvement this year."

PICK CHAIRMEN TO AID BENEFITS IN RELIEF DRIVE

Plan Sports Events to Swell Fund.

Subcommittees to handle various events for the benefit of the joint emergency relief fund—which will try to raise $3,500,000 for the poor this winter—were appointed yesterday by J. Russell Forgan, chairman of the benefits division.

J. RUSSELL FORGAN.

The chairmen named are: Boxing and wrestling, John V. Clinnin; charity ball, Howard Gillette; football, Horatio Hackett; polo, Herbert Lorber; court games, W. B. McIlvaine Jr.; golf, Leslie S. Gordon and George Blossom Jr.; hockey, Frederic McLaughlin; theatrical, Ernest Byfield and Frank Bering; motion pictures, Barney Balaban, and tennis, Charles Garland.

Ask Golf Clubs to Aid.

Several benefit events in each sport are being tentatively considered, but have not progressed to the announcement stage as yet. Samuel Insull Jr., chairman of the campaign, yesterday sent letters to the presidents of all golf clubs in Cook county asking them to a meeting in the Union League club at 2 p. m. today for the purpose of enlisting their support.

A new benefit plan was announced yesterday with the statement from Manager William Dewey of the Edgewater Beach hotel that all admissions and cover charges collected tomorrow night, when Paul Whiteman and his band open a new engagement at the hotel, will be given to the fund.

As the relief drive officials continue preparations to open their campaign next month, they are already maintaining two free soup kitchens—one on the south side and the other on the near north—to feed the jobless. At 3140 Indiana avenue, opened recently, about 800 meals are being fed daily.

Serve Two Meals Daily.

This kitchen is quartered in the Unity Club building and is being supervised by the Chicago Urban league, a Negro improvement association. Tables and benches accommodating 250 men at a sitting have been set up in the basement and two meals are served daily.

Breakfast is obtainable from 6:30 to 8 a. m. and consists of oatmeal and milk, bread, coffee, and pie. Dinner is served from 5 to 6:30 p. m. and is generally stew or pork and beans, coffee, bread and pie. The pastry is being furnished free to the commission by the Joe Pie company, 327 West Chicago avenue, according to officials in charge of the kitchen.

The other free eating place is at 162 North Union avenue and has been operating since July 1.

BILL WILL ASK DISSOLUTION OF $6,000,000 HOTEL

Circuit Judge Joseph Burke today will be asked to dissolve the Shoreland Hotel company, 5454 South Shore drive, a $6,000,000 hotel property which went into receivership in January, 1930. The bill for the dissolution was filed yesterday by Attorney J. R. Cohler, who represents the Arangee company, 310 North Racine avenue.

According to the bill the company was given a judgment for $100,000 for back bills against the hotel on June 25. The money was never paid, the bill recites. The bill also lists two mortgages totaling $5,500,000 against the hotel along with $1,000,000 worth of capital stock which was issued.

WOMEN ASSIST BANDITS IN TWO SO. SIDE HOLDUPS

Charles Wichart, 3724 Washtenaw avenue, was on his job at the filling station at 3801 South Western avenue last night when three men and a girl drove up in a car. They ordered gasoline and as Wichart started to fill their tank two of the men jumped out and held him up. They took $129 from the cash drawer of the oil station and fled.

A short time before the Wichart holdup two men accompanied by a woman robbed the Walter Barnes drug store at 7900 Ingleside avenue of $9.26. Max Kees, the clerk, of 6219 University avenue, was alone in the store when the robbers entered. After they had left he rushed out and fired four shots at their departing car.

Bomb Damages Front of South Side Drink Parlor

A bomb was exploded early this morning at the front door of a soft drink parlor operated by John Weiciesh, 1516 West 47th street. The blast tore out the door and shattered windows in the two story frame building and in other structures nearby. Weiciesh was asleep in a rear room when the explosion occurred, but was uninjured.

A small bomb, the fuse of which had not been lighted, was found in the hallway of a flat building at 4935 North Talman avenue. It was picked up by Mrs. Charles Rennert, a resident of the building. Police were of the belief the bomb was meant for a warning, but were unable to learn for whom the warning was intended.

Will coal or cold reach your home first

"THE purple martins have deserted Jackson Park," reads a recent newsstory. That means that somewhere just North of Chicago cold days are waiting the first favorable wind. Are you prepared for them? A glance at your coal bin will reassure you or remind you.

If you aren't, call any member of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association today. A member of this Association because you will have a guaranty of honest weight and honest grading. Today, because even though your coal merchant is equipped to give you service at all times, the first cold snap will deluge him with rush orders. And you—if you put yours off till then—will have to pay for procrastination with all the sacrifices in convenience that are inseparable from eleventh hour rushes.

It isn't necessary to lay in your whole winter's supply right now. It isn't necessary to get more than just enough to see you through the first cold snap.

Furthermore, by ordering your coal or coke now you can profit from the added advantage of having time to discuss your fuel needs with your coal merchant. As a member of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association, pledged to help you realize every cent's saving in house heating, he will gladly advise you on the type and size of coal or coke which your heating plant will burn with the greatest economy and the least tending.

COATS Are Different

• The new coat mode is almost as exciting as the new dresses, and some people think even more interesting. The silhouette is decidedly new—longer and slimmer, and the variety of collar and cuff treatment is simply bewildering. Fur is used lavishly, and sometimes forms most of the coat as in this striking Callot model. But rich fabrics are of great importance, too, and all seem concerned with comfort and warmth. Our new models, with many copies of Imports, are now ready.

SEEK TEST CASE ON CONFLICT IN TAX FORFEITURES

Find Two Rates Are Specified by Law.

County Clerk Sweitzer is seeking a taxpayer who will take a test case into the county courts on the act of the state legislature, passed July 7, which lowers the forfeiture penalty from 25 per cent to 10 per cent of the annual tax bill on property which has been forfeited to the state for unpaid taxes.

This was learned yesterday when attaches of the office pointed out that in amending one section of the revenue law the legislature apparently overlooked another statute which also governs the payment of the forfeiture penalty.

Conflict in Tax Laws.

The new law, it was explained, applies only to taxes from 1928 onward. It provides that the county clerk, in preparing the tax bill for the year following the forfeiture of any property, shall add to the current tax bill the statutory costs, printer's fees, interest and the unpaid taxes, plus a penalty of 10 per cent of the unpaid bill.

Another section of the revenue act, however, provides that any taxpayer who wishes to redeem his forfeited property shall pay a penalty of 25 per cent of his bill in addition to the delinquent taxes, interest and printer's fees.

The redemption shall be made at the office of the county clerk and the taxpayer shall pay an additional fee, ranging from $5 upward and depending on the number of parcels redeemed, for the privelege, the section provides.

Explain How Law Operates.

"At the present time," he said, "any taxpayer whose property was forfeited in 1929, must pay a penalty of 25 per cent of this bill if he comes into this office to redeem it at the present time. However, if he waits until his tax bill for 1930 has been sent to him he will find that the 1929 taxes have been extended with the penalty of only 10 per cent of the bill. In other words, he will save the 15 per cent difference if he waits until getting his 1930 bill and then pays both years' taxes to the county treasurer."

Under these conditions thousands of taxpayers who otherwise would immediately redeem their property are withholding payment of their taxes until receiving their 1930 tax bills. Many of those who seek to redeem their property have refused to do so after they have learned of the situation, it was said.

Called an Oversight.

Efforts have been made to have large property owners, such as the Chicago Title and Trust company, refuse to pay the added penalty while redeeming real estate parcels, and to take the matter before a court for adjudication.

Although it is apparent that the omission of the second amendment is an oversight, the higher penalty for the redemption will be collected by the county clerk until court sanction for the acceptance of the smaller penalty has been gained.

Reports on the sale of properties delinquent in 1929 taxes disclosed yesterday that less than 2 per cent of the real estate offered is being bought. Ninety-two volumes have been placed on the auction block. From 39,875 items only 657 amounting to $76,922 in taxes have been bought. The remainder, on which $1,150,826 is owed the county, has gone into forfeiture. All the property sold thus far is from country towns.

MOTHER OF 2 HANGS HERSELF.

Mrs. Emma Muslick, 33 years old, mother of three children, hanged herself yesterday in the basement of her home at 1216 South Harvey avenue, Berwyn. Neighbors said she had been ill.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Business Before Pleasure

MEETS GRIEF ADDING COUNTERFEITING TO HIS TWO OTHER JOBS

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Not content with two vocations, George S. Rainey, 27, Lafayette attorney and telegraph operator, tried a third and came to grief today when U. S. secret service agents arrested him for counterfeiting. The police say he confessed. They received from his home copper plates, a printing press, and inks and acids for the manufacture of spurious money.

Rainey conceived the idea of splitting five dollar bills apart and making two such bills out of one by pasting on a bogus reverse side. He had electrotypes from which to print the bogus half bills. He showed the police how easy it was to soak a bank note in water and then split it with a needle. He said he has passed 21 of the bills, always being careful to present them with the genuine side up.

Rainey worked for the Big Four railroad at the Altamont terminal eight hours each night and had been practicing law by day. He is a member of the Tippecanoe county bar and has a wife and son, the latter in high school. Today he gave $3,000 bond and will be tried in the federal court. He said he was only experimenting with money making and did not intend to commit a crime.

Rev. D. W. Montgomery, 67, Dead in California

Fresno, Cal., Sept. 24.—(AP)—The Rev. David Wallace Montgomery, 67, widely known pastor and Presbyterian church executive, died here yesterday. His career included pastorates in Virginia, Iowa, Washington, D. C., and California. He was the first county Y. M. C. A. secretary ever appointed in the United States and as such was stationed at Beatrice, Neb.

RENTAL AGENTS FORM SPECIAL EVICTION POLICE

Mayor Told Plan Is Not Legal.

H. A. Ratner, a real estate agent with offices at 708 East 45d street, sent a letter to Mayor Cermak yesterday stating that he and other renting agents in the south side colored district have recruited a force of twenty men, who he said would be armed and sworn in as special policemen, to prevent communist agitators from leading crowds to replace furniture in dwellings from which tenants have been evicted.

Mayor Cermak turned the letter over to Corporation Counsel Sexton. Mr. Sexton, in an opinion, said that Acting Police Commissioner Alcock is the only person who can appoint special police. Mr. Sexton added that special police can operate only as directed by the commissioner, who has power to prescribe what weapons shall be carried.

Hits Attitude of Judges.

Ratner asserted that the police and the state's attorney's office have not cooperated with real estate agents in eviction cases.

"After we take out warrants for trespassing, disorderly conduct, etc., we are handicaped by a maze of red tape and by judges who have no interest in the matter outside of seeing that they keep their political fences in good shape," Ratner wrote.

The judges, the agent charged, apply technicalities in favor of defendants in such cases. He demanded that the mayor urge the judges to apply severe penalties "to discourage radicals."

Sexton Opposes Move.

In his opinion Mr. Sexton said: "We cannot sanction the violent measures proposed. Such measures, instead of helping the situation, would in our opinion react against the parties employing them, would ten to encourage lawlessness and would in the end be disastrous to those they are designed to aid."

The opinion recommended that the police "proceed in the regular and customary manner to enforce the law."

Ratner complained that police assigned to an eviction case wait only until the bailiffs serving the eviction writ have departed and then leave, "permitting the radical element to break down doors and replace chattels in the flat."

THREE TRY TO ROB CHIEF OF POLICE; THEY REGRET IT

Three robbers who are just medium size made a mistake Wednesday night when they attempted to hold up a tall, robust man in front of a filling station in Bensenville, in Du Page county. The big man seized two of the robbers and knocked their heads together and then slapped down the third.

After the trio, William Cunningham and Harold Knox of Chicago and Arnold Krumweide of Villa Park, had been taken to jail they asked who the stranger with the quick fists was.

"O, that fellow," said the keeper of the Bensenville lockup, "is Jack Frost. He's chief of police in this town."

Yesterday the three young men were held to the Du Page county grand jury on a charge of robbery. It was placed against them by other victims. Chief Frost said he hadn't lost anything and didn't want to place a charge.

Oak Park Theater Gives Up Sunday Show Plans

Attempts to operate the Lamar theater in Oak Park in defiance of the village ordinance prohibiting Sunday movies will be abandoned for a few weeks, Thomas Hungerford, manager of the theater, said yesterday. The theater will not attempt to obtain a temporary injunction restraining police interference, he said. Last Sunday the theater advertised that it would open, but police prevented patrons from entering.

STRUCK BY LOCOMOTIVE.

Oscar Benson, 35 years old, of Connott, O., lost his leg yesterday when he climbed onto the elevated right of way of the North Western railroad at Ogden avenue and Kinzie street and was struck by a locomotive.

ROOMING HOUSE MANAGER HELD ON GIRL'S CHARGE

Philip Ricker, 39 years old, manager of an apartment rooming house at 1048 Lawrence avenue, was in a cell at the Summerdale police station last night, accused of rape. The complainant is Miss Isabelle Johns, 24 years old, of Milwaukee, who registered at the house on Wednesday.

Miss Johns and her friend, Miss Margie Wenzel, 24 years old, told the police that Ricker appeared at their room Wednesday night and suggested a gin party. He persuaded them to go to his room, they said. After a few drinks, Miss Johns asserted, Ricker shoved Miss Wenzel from the room, locked the door, and attacked her. Miss Wenzel tried to get back in to aid her friend. Roomers said that they heard her screaming and kicking on the door.

Ricker denied the charges. He insisted that the story of the two girls was an attempt to blackmail him. Police held him at the station without booking him.

Sophie Tucker Arrives to Attend Funeral of Friend

Sophie Tucker, actress, arrived in Chicago yesterday to attend the funeral today of her friend and protégée, Mrs. Eva Mandel Wolf. The actress had learned of Mrs. Wolf's illness, and hoping to reach the bedside in time, canceled many engagements in the east. Mrs. Wolf, known as Eva Mandel on the stage, died at Michael Reese hospital on Wednesday after a long illness. She was 36 years old, and lived in the Pershing hotel. Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. in the chapel at 3125 Roosevelt road. Burial will be in Waldheim cemetery.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food don't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

FORMER WIFE OF RICH BROKER WEDS LAWYER

Mrs. Mary Scott Wilder of Lake Forest, former wife of Paul Wilder, wealthy broker, yesterday became the bride of Tracy W. Buckingham, a Chicago attorney residing in Lake Forest. The wedding took place at the First Presbyterian church in Evanston at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, the Rev. Lurence W. Johnson officiating. The couple will reside at 721 Hill road, Winnetka.

The former Mrs. Wilder obtained a divorce last June, a year after she had filed a divorce suit in Reno, Nev. After filing the suit in Nevada she withdrew it and returned to her husband in an attempt at reconciliation. Later the new suit was instituted and a decree obtained. The Wilders were married in Memphis in December, 1917. There is one child, Paul Wilder Junior.

Mr. Buckingham was divorced by Mrs. Camilla A. Buckingham in February of this year. She obtained her decree at Waukegan on the grounds of cruelty. The Buckinghams were married at Danville, Ill., in 1920. There are two children, George, 9 years old, and Josephine, 6.

REVENUE GROUP CONSIDERS FORM OF INCOME TAX

Although it met in secret session last night, the governor's revenue commission was understood to be discussing the nature of a proposed income and luxury tax which it may recommend as one of the answers to the current financial shortage in the taxing bodies. The executive committee of the commission met, as usual, at the Union League club, under the chairmanship of Joseph K. Brittain.

Rumors current before the meeting were that the business of the night would be an examination of the income tax plan favored by the Illinois Agricultural association, which failed of passage in the Illinois house of representatives last spring, after going through the senate.

If such a tax is decided upon, it is believed it would be devoted almost entirely to the common school fund and that the school tax would be omitted from the general property tax bills. By doing this, and also offsetting the general property tax from the income tax, it is believed that about $90,000,000 would be made available, which is approximately the amount of the present common school fund. It would also provide relief for the real estate taxpayers.

At a meeting of the directors of the Crime Commission of Chicago yesterday an affidavit made by Theodore Miller, formerly an assistant state's attorney, was referred to a special committee for investigation. Miller's affidavit concerned a raid on the Rex hotel more than eight months ago and its principal subject matter was about an alleged mysterious disappearance of $25,000 from a safe in the hotel and about Miller's subsequent dismissal from the prosecutor's staff.

MORE COURSES IN CHINESE DINNER THAN A COLLEGE

Duck Eggs Are Delicious —Also Old.

BY EVERETT SWINGLE.

Being chop suey or chow mein is no way to obtain an education in Chinese foods. Proof of this was furnished this week when 100 Chinese and a few invited Americans attended a typical Chinese banquet in a newly opened restaurant in the near south side district.

Imagine the surprise, for instance, of the first principal course which was called shark's fins soup. The Chinese at the banquet appreciated it greatly, not merely because they knew that shark's fins cost $7.50 a pound and can only four bowls of soup can be prepared from a pound of the delicacy.

What, No Appetizer.

One of the chief appetizers had to be omitted by the host, Henry Jenkin. It might not be polite to point it a banquet, but he could hardly relish that the egg and ginger appetizer had not been sampled. He urged the Chinaman guests to try small portions and laughed when they exclaimed at the pepperiness of ginger and the evident "age" of the egg. It was the usual custom is to take host's eggs which have been dried in dry and stored for many moons and possibly several dynasties, and cook them by applying hot salt.

Other appetizers consisted of Chinese almonds, watermelon seeds. For drink there was a seemingly inexhaustible supply of tea and for bread as many bowls of steaming white rice as the diner could consume.

All Boneless Hen.

Then came some of the main courses of the dinner, which was prepared by the man in whose honor the banquet was held. He is Lee Han Lun, chef who began his training in China at the age of 13 and who has had more than 40 years of experience. He has been in America only a few weeks.

A boneless chicken plump with dressing was dished up with a spoon called first. Then came a duck cooked with ginger. Sturgeon and pork followed those two meat courses. The chop sticks were endeavoring to maintain a stride equal to the efforts of the quick thought and welfare who take in at a glance to and for service.

Chicken leaf with liver had somewhat the appearance of some of the familiar messages, but it had a flavor which indicated long tested science and careful preparation. Then, a dark-meated fish, was served alongside some of the previous courses to help make the table groan. Although this is a Chinese favorite, the Americans found this had somewhat the texture of a tough gizzard.

Then the Firecrackers.

Stewed mushrooms heaped high on a hot dish seemed like old friends after some of the previous courses. But the mushrooms were far from being American, as they were large and dark, served whole. The host explained they are imported and are served in a dried state.

Mr. Jenkin had a more difficult time explaining the next courses. Several of them were apparent in the cube like those. At first he thought possibly it would be what we call a torpedo sub, but a girl who formerly taught in a southside school figured he must either a jellyfish or an eel.

A few thousand firecrackers startled the diners, but the Chinese knew immediately it was but a part of the banquet program and a usual custom when celebrating no matter what time of the year. It gave the waiters time to bring on two more large dishes of food.

One of these was more chicken, cooked with tender green peas and with the thin pods in which they grew. The other was a whole fish, tail drooped gracefully over one end of the platter and its head resting on the rim at the other end. This, Mr. Jenkin said, was "country style." Its flavor was strong, but wholesome and the meat was tender indeed.

Then came dessert, consisting of colorful gelatinlike slabs of a quivering substance that had a flavor unlike anything American. With this also were preserved fruits and then it was time for the toothpicks, several of which were placed at each plate before the banquet began.

L. P. Jin, Chinese consul in Chicago, complimented the proprietor for his business enterprise. His speech was mainly in Chinese which complicated literal translation, but he did find opportunity to present in English such maxims as "Forward, go forward, do your best," and "Tomorrow you will see the sun shine again."

Chinese Chef Knows 1,000 Recipes

Here is Lee Han Lun who served as chef for more than 40 years in China and now has come to Chicago's Chinatown with his head crammed with more than 1,000 recipes of typical Chinese dishes. At the right is Henry Jenkin, 24 year old proprietor of Pagoda Inn, telling Lun to put plenty of shrimps with the peppers.

MILK PRODUCTS ARE USED MORE FREELY IN 1930 THAN IN 1929

Increased per capita consumption of butter, cheese, condensed and evaporated milk, and a slight decrease in consumption of ice cream, are reported for the year 1930 as compared with 1929 by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Per capita consumption of butter is estimated at 17.75 pounds in 1930 against 17.61 pounds in 1929; cheese 4.71 pounds against 4.62 pounds; condensed and evaporated milk 16.61 pounds against 16.58 pounds; and ice cream 2.82 gallons against 3 gallons in 1929.

Production of manufactured dairy products was maintained, says the bureau, despite reduced consumer buying power, but the products moved into consumption at lower prices than in 1929. Most of the reduction in ice cream consumption occurred in cities and states affected by industrial conditions.

Per capita consumption of butter has been increasing steadily in the United States, since the year 1914, when the bureau estimates consumption per person at 17 pounds. Increases have occurred in consumption of cheese, condensed and evaporated milk, and ice cream. Whereas each person consumed 3.04 pounds of cheese in the year 1916, consumption in 1930 was 4.71 pounds; consumption of condensed and evaporated milk increased from 10.49 pounds per person in 1917 to 16.61 pounds in 1930, and ice cream consumption increased from 1.04 gallons in 1910 to 2.82 gallons in 1930.

CANNERS MAKE PLANS FOR 10,000 AT CONVENTION

Plans for the National Canners' convention here Jan. 25 to 29, which will be attended by more than 10,000 members of the canning and allied industries, were made yesterday at a committee meeting at the Stevens hotel.

Although failure of the pea and other vegetable crops because of the extreme heat has affected some canners, it has in general been a banner year, according to S. G. Gorsline, secretary. The fruit crop has been large.

Organizations participating in the convention will be the National Canners' association, National Food Brokers, Canning Machinery and Supply association, National Wholesale Grocers' association, National Pickle Packers' association, and National Preservers' association.

IT'S TIME TO PUT UP GRAPE JUICE AND OTHER THINGS

Try Making Marmalade, Jelly from Concords.

September and October are the months to lay the foundations for dozens of winter desserts by putting up grape juice. Concord grapes are cheap and plentiful, and their juice may provide jelly and ice cream, sauces, and puddings throughout the winter season, according to the New York state college of home economics.

The ordinary way of crushing and stewing grapes does not give a wholly satisfactory juice. A better method, suggests the college, is to crush the grapes, add a quart of water to sixteen quarts of grapes, and place the kettle containing them over another kettle containing boiling water. In this way the grapes are steamed instead of stewed until they are tender. The juice is extracted in the usual way, by pouring the cooked fruit into a jelly bag and allowing it to drip over night. During the night the juice settles and the clear top can easily be poured off from the sediment.

Bring to Boiling Point.

The following day the juice is strained into bottles or glass jars, the rubbers and covers adjusted, and the bottles or jars are set on a rack in a covered boiler or kettle or on the shelf of a steam cooker. If a boiler or kettle is used, warm water is added until it comes up about one inch over the top of the containers. The water is then brought slowly to the boiling point, and should boil from twenty to sixty minutes, according to the size of the jars. The tops of the bottles are then sealed by dipping in paraffin, and the jars are sealed, and the juice is ready for storing.

No sugar is needed in making grape juice. If a sweetened product is desired add to each quart of juice from one-eighth to one-fourth cup of sugar before pouring it into the container.

A second grade juice may be made by returning the pulp left after the juice has been extracted to the preserving kettle, covering it with water, heating gradually, and allowing it to cook for twenty to thirty minutes. It is then treated in the same way as the first extraction. Second grade juice is strong enough after a little concentration to make excellent jelly.

How to Prepare Grapes.

Grape butter is even simpler to prepare, and adds a pleasant flavor to any meal. Wash and stem four pounds of grapes, cut in small pieces one pound of tart apples, and cook in a small amount of water until the fruit is soft. Press the pulp through a sieve to remove seeds and skins, add a pound and a half of sugar, and cook until the mixture is thick and clear. Pour into hot, clean jars and seal.

A delicious conserve is made with grapes and English walnuts. Wash and remove from the stems three pounds of seeded grapes. Press the pulp from the skins, and put the pulp through a sieve. Cook the pulp and skins together for ten minutes, then add three pounds of sugar, and cook the mixture until clear. Remove from the fire and add two-thirds of a cup of walnuts. Seal in clean, hot jars.

THREE MEALS A DAY

From the Tribune Cook Book

Food Talk.

BY MARY MEADE.

"I have a sack of green coffee sent me from East Africa. How am I to brown it? Will you please give some idea about the temperature and the length of time?" writes Mrs. G. B. R.

What a temptation the above question is for a reminiscence about the time when every household roasted its own coffee, and a heavenly aroma pervaded the kitchen during the roasting! To go back even further—and think of the days coffee was placed in a corn popper, and sociably jiggled over hot coals—that would be an interesting experiment to try today.

But to return to Mrs. G. B. R.'s question, coffee is most conveniently roasted in an oven. A very hot oven, with a temperature of about 450 degrees Fahrenheit. Shake and stir it frequently to prevent scorching—unless you are French. Then you will like your coffee quite black; in fact, to use, their roasted coffee berries would be "burned." You will require about an hour for the roasting.

Two old tests for recognizing the proper stage of doneness of the coffee berry are simple. The first test depends on the sensitivity of your nose, for the smell of the berries will induce a "sharp, cutting, aromatic" sensation in your nostrils. The second test is that the coffee berry is roasted to a turn when it breaks; and is crisp and uniform in color, both inside and out. There is no general rule for roasting, as the different coffees vary, and some people prefer theirs a light tan; others prefer a brown, and dark dark brown color.

PINEAPPLE CUSTARD PUDDING.

Yolks of 3 eggs.
1 cup of sugar.
1 tablespoon of gelatin.
¼ cup of water.
1 small can of drained, grated pineapple.
1 cup of cream.
18 ladyfingers.

Heat the milk in a double boiler. Beat the egg yolks with the sugar, and pour the hot milk over the mixture. Return to the double boiler and cook like a custard.

Dissolve the gelatin in the cold water. Add to the custard. Remove from the stove. When cool but not stiff, add the cream which has been whipped stiff.

Line a dish with the ladyfingers; pour over them some of the custard; add another layer of the ladyfingers, and then the rest of the custard. Serve plain or with whipped cream. Make sereval hours before serving—or the day before you wish to serve it. Yield: Twelve generous servings.

USE YOUR SOUR MILK TO MAKE COTTAGE CHEESE

Here Are a Few Tips on How It's Done.

One of the best ways to use milk that often sours in summer weather is to make it into cottage cheese. Never discard sour milk, for cottage cheese is a valuable meat substitute, and besides it saves the milk.

Cottage cheese contains most of the protein of whole milk, part of the minerals, and part of the growth promoting substances. If it is carefully made it is usually liked. For a high quality of cheese the milk should sour quickly. Good texture in the cheese depends on avoiding overheating, which makes the curd hard.

When milk is thoroughly soured, pour it into a pan and heat it gently either over hot water in an oven or on top of a stove with a low fire until the curd begins to separate from the whey. Then pour the milk into a cheesecloth bag over a bowl and drain it until it reaches the dryness preferred. Add salt.

The whey should not be discarded as it is rich in vitamins, lime, phosphorus, and milk sugar. A delicious drink may be made with the whey. For whey punch, boil together for five minutes one cup of whey and a cup and a quarter of sugar. Cool and add four more cups of whey, the juice of two lemons, and one cup of shredded pineapple. Any fruit juice may replace the pineapple. Serve with cracked ice.

HOT SUMMER DAYS PROVED A BOON TO THE LETTUCE MARKET

Lettuce sold at high prices for a few weeks this summer, in contrast to a highly unsatisfactory market season for the spring crop according to the market summary issued by the bureau of agricultural economics, U. S. department of agriculture. Hot weather stimulated the demand for salad foods. Also a special reason for the sustained price upturn was the unusually light midsummer supply of lettuce of the "iceberg" type.

Production of lettuce has increased rapidly in recent years until shipments now total more than 50,000 carloads in a season. Times of heavy supply and extremely low prices are not unusual. Occasionally there occurs a period of light supply and of good demand like that in August when the shippers of California sold lettuce at from $3 to $4 a crate, almost double the prices of a year ago. In this period also, the producers in western New York were able to sell part of their crop in the city markets at about $2 per eastern crate, compared with $1 or less in August, 1930.

Poultry Institute Surveys Market Conditions.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Based on current market conditions, 35 cents is all any Chicago or suburban housewife should have to pay for fresh eggs in dozen lots, according to a statement issued yesterday by the American Institute of Poultry Industries.

DR. E. V. McCOLLUM.

"And in stores where little or no credit or service costs apply, such as the cash and carry stores, the prices housewives pay for fresh eggs should be nearer 30 than 35 cents," adds Paul Mandeville, secretary of this Institute. His statements to guide the thousands of buyers in this area are based upon local market surveys not only of prices charged but of reserve stocks and probably production of eggs in coming months.

"The quantity of eggs in storage, including frozen eggs, is about even with the five year average," he states. "There are fewer eggs than last year on hand but a much heavier supply of animal food in direct competition with eggs. The price of heavy meats is off materially.

Wholesale Price Lower.

"Eggs appear to be in line with these if kept moving, if retail prices are not advanced out of reason and if consumers are not fed the sort of misinformation which is often current in the fall. Eggs are selling 4 to 4½ cents under last year's wholesale prices. But notwithstanding the fact that both eggs and poultry are lower in price, farmers are evidently making more money on their flocks than on most anything else they are producing today."

The fact that eggs have been at times in recent years high in price has given consumers and retailers alike the impression that they are high in comparison to other foods, Mandeville declares. At present prices for eggs, fodo value considered, the product of henneries and farm flocks is just as low as any other food.

"There are hundreds of unusual recipes which combine some inexpensive food like rice or hominy or cheese with eggs and make the most delectable dishes," Mandeville says, "and there are wonderful salads in which eggs are an inexpensive yet valuable part."

Hear from Dr. McCollum.

The poultry institute has just received a communication from Dr. E. V. McCollum of Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore, Md., who spoke on dietary changes and his research on vitamins in Chicago last week.

"At present prices eggs are an economical source of those nutrients essential for making good the deficiencies of the bread, meat, sugar, and potato type of diet," Dr. McCollum's research has shown, he says.

"We do not do our unemployed justice by giving them a diet which is deficient in any way for the promotion of health. We should utilize as far as physiological considerations permit our grain supplies. But cereals, meats, potatoes, and sugar will not promote health. We must provide the protective foods in adequate amounts. These are milk, eggs, and leafy vegetables and some raw or commercially canned fruits or vegetables.

High Quality in Diet.

"There are no foods superior to milk and eggs for the purpose of insuring high quality in the diet. I am emphasizing the necessity of including both of these in the diet of every one, and particularly of providing them in relief rations as liberally as economic conditions in any locality permit.

"Our nation is able to provide good nutrition to its unemployed and food of excellent quality is as important as adequate clothing and shelter although the effects of an inadequate diet are not so quickly apparent. No one should in the present crisis economize on the protective foods."

THOSE HURRY UP DINNERS CAN BE APPETIZING, TOO

Secret of Success Is in the Planning.

The desire to prepare and serve well cooked foods is worthy of consideration and the wise homemaker, no matter how busy she may be, gives due thought to the meals she serves to her family and guests.

The secret of the success of these hurry up dinners is in planning foods that take but little time to prepare and only a short time to cook. Broiled, grilled, or top stove cooked meats are usually the most practical. This does not necessarily mean that one must concentrate on chops and steaks, for there is any number of other attractive meals such as pork tenderloin, broiled hamburg, fried or diced liver in brown gravy, and pork sausage. Casserole combinations of chopped or diced browned meat with vegetables, a broiled, planked ham steak, take but a short time to prepare, are within reach of the average purse and are a truly delightful change.

Ham Steak Dinner.

1 slice ham, ¾ inch thick.
1 cup fruit juice.
4 small cored red apples, baked.
4 parboiled green peppers.
2 cups mashed potatoes.
¼ cup milk.
2 tablespoons butter.
2 eggs.

Score fat around ham. Broil for ten minutes without turning, basting several times with fruit juice. Then remove to heated plank or oven-glass baking platter broiled side down. Add milk, butter and eggs to mashed potatoes. Beat thoroughly. Season to taste and with pastry bag or spoon fill peppers. Arrange around ham with apples. Return to oven to heat through and brown ham and potatoes. Garnish with water cress or parsley. Serves four.

Mixed Grill en Brochette.

4 to 8 mushroom caps.
4 to 6 slices bacon.
1 to 2 parboiled potatoes.
2 to 4 small white onions.

Buy meat cut ¼ inch thick and cut into 2 inch squares [lamb, or veal steaks have the least waste for this type of dish]. Peel mushroom caps and onions. Slice potatoes in ½ inch slices, roll up each slice of bacon. Arrange meat and vegetables on skewers in broiler and broil or bake 10 to 20 minutes, basting with fat or melted butter once or twice. Serve on skewers. Serves four.

Meat and Vegetable Chowder.

1 onion, chopped.
1 carrot diced.
½ cup string beans, sliced.
2 mushrooms, sliced.
1 small bay leaf.
½ cup strained tomatoes.
2 tablespoons cooked rice or macaroni.
Salt and pepper.

Brown meat slightly in a hot kettle, add four cups boiling water, vegetables and seasonings, ¾ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper, more later if desired. Boil 15 minutes, stirring often to develop full flavor. Serve in large bowls with crackers and head lettuce salad. Serves four generous portions.

Household Hints

AUNTIE MAKES A WASH DAY BIG EVENT FOR BOYS

Bakes Delicious Southern Biscuits.

BY ROE FOWLER.

Wash day means to the married man a day of scanty, hastily thrown together meals. To Farrel and me it always meant a treat. It was on wash day that aunty was given control of the kitchen at Farrel's house—the big Hamilton place with its gleaming white pillars — and with aunty at the stove we were sure to get some real old fashioned southern biscuits.

There were lots of other southern things that aunty used to prepare, but it was her biscuits that made us look forward to wash day. These biscuits were flat and almost as broad as a pancake, but so sweet and rich that you always had to have another, and another, until you were filled up before you knew it.

Never Lasted Long.

Her biscuits would keep, too. Several days after they were baked they were even better than when newly taken from the oven. They were full of shortening that kept them creamy with grease until they were all gone. How long they would have kept is a problem that will never be solved—for they never lasted long.

It was fun to hang around the wash house, and sniff the mixture of odors from the kitchen and from the little house where Farrel's mother supervised the laundering. She rarely touched the clothes herself, but told Aunty Gene, the Negress, what to do. Aunty Gene, by the way, must not be confused with aunty, who did the cooking. It seems that anybody in Farrel's house who was not otherwise designated became aunty. Thus there was aunty [his real aunt], Aunty who was no real relation, but just Gene and Aunty Barr, a little old lady around the house.

Served as "War" Rations.

Getting back to aunty's biscuits, I remember we used to keep them in place of the conventional hardtack as our rations in the "war" which we waged continually against the kids farther up the street. A tribute to aunty's cookery may be found in the fact that never in our direst extremity did we use any of her biscuits as ammunition. Aunty used to help us plan our war, and sometimes she would parch us some corn to keep in our ration sacks, so that we could make more realistic our parts as "johnny rebs." To her, we brought back memories of the real Confederate army.

She had been on the route of Sherman's march to the sea, and remembered having parched corn for the gray clad defenders, their uniforms shot and worn to rags. Sometimes, I think, she actually imagined our little war as a repetition of that big one. Anyhow, we were thankful for the biscuits and the parched corn. Yes, and wash day!

CANTALOUPE IS NEARING END OF ITS BRIEF SEASON

The true western cantaloupe is nearing the end of its season and within two weeks will be a scarcity on the Chicago market. Trucks are bringing in hundreds of loads of homegrown melons, however, and this supply is expected to last until frosts. Other melons such as casabas and honeydews will continue to arrive from western states for several weeks. Persian melons, which are similar to cantaloupes except that they have been developed to a size of 11 and 12 inches in diameter, also will be plentiful all fall.

Celery Is at Its Best and Reasonable in Price

Celery is approaching the heaviest marketing season of the year. Both boats and trucks are now bringing over the crisp bunches from Michigan. Buyers consider the crop cheap. Flat crates which hold two dozen bunches are selling wholesale for 50 and 75 cents each. Marketing will continue heavy until long after heavy freezes.

Diet of Cotton Is Saving Girl Who Swallowed Nail

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 24.—(AP)—A diet of raw cotton, disguised in spinach, the X-ray at the General hospital informed physicians today, is saving the life of 5 year old Marvella Donovan, who swallowed a nail last Saturday. She finished her fourth day of cotton diet and the last pictures, attendants at the hospital said, show the cotton has encased the nail.

Hen Cackles Hour After She Lays 4 Yolked Egg

Covina, Cal., Sept. 24.—A Rhode Island red hen, owned by W. P. Harris of Covina, laid an egg that weighed fifteen ounces and measured eight by seven inches in circumference. It had four yolks. Harris said the hen cackled an hour and a half in celebration of her feat.

ANNING SEASON OR TOMATOES IS AT ITS HEIGHT

Home Grown Fruit Is Plentiful.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Mark your calendar right now for home canning party the coming week. This is the height of the 1931 canning season, the crop is plentiful, and of the lowest in years, and the quality excellent. Then, too, canning is cheaper now. Nor does your canning have to be confined to the ordinary, every day recipe for you may put up your year's supply with jars of pickles, tomato preserves, tomato juice, or ketchup.

The tomato crop fooled the truck farmers this year, for early indications were that it would be decidedly off, at least in part, by the blossom drop. The plants weathered the storm, however, and September's warm days have helped to produce a bumper crop.

Large Part Home Grown.

More than 35 per cent of the tomatoes on the market now are home grown or trucked into the city from nearby gardening areas, according to W. E. Hall, federal fruit and vegetable statistician in Chicago. These tomatoes are selling for 90 cents a bushel wholesale in the city and any housewife sufficiently interested can save this price by at least 15 cents if she desires to some of the many available markets in the country. This fruit is of superior quality.

Until the early part of the 19th century the tomato was little cultivated in England or America, and then only for the sake of its brilliant color or as food for pigs. It made its first appearance in the southern states probably a little before it was introduced in the north.

An Early Day Record.

In the Southern Agriculturist of March, 1831, the editor, John D. Legare, began an article on the cultivation of tomatoes by saying, "The fruit of this vegetable is justly in high estimation among us." It was taken to New Jersey by Peter Bogart of Salem, about 1830, and from his garden was carried to other portions of the state.

In the report of the Massachusetts state board of agriculture for 1871, the section on vegetables, signed by James E. Gregory, chairman, opens in these words: "Over thirty years ago I sold the first tomatoes ever brought into the market of my native town."

PICCALILLI.

12 large onions.
2 red peppers.
2 tablespoons cinnamon.
1 head cabbage.
4 green peppers.
1 tablespoon cloves.
1 tablespoon nutmeg.
1 tablespoon allspice.

Chop all vegetables very fine and sprinkle with 1½ cups salt. Let it stand over night and in the morning drain and cover with vinegar. Boil 10 minutes and drain again. Cover with vinegar, add the spices and also 2 lbs. brown sugar. Let it come to a boil and then pack hot in sterile jars.

CHILI SAUCE.

6 large or 8 green peppers.
6 tablespoons sugar.
2 cups vinegar.
2 onions.
2 tablespoons salt.
1 tablespoon cinnamon.

Peel tomatoes and onions. Chop all fine and boil 1½ hours. Bottle while hot and seal airtight.

HARVARD CHUTNEY.

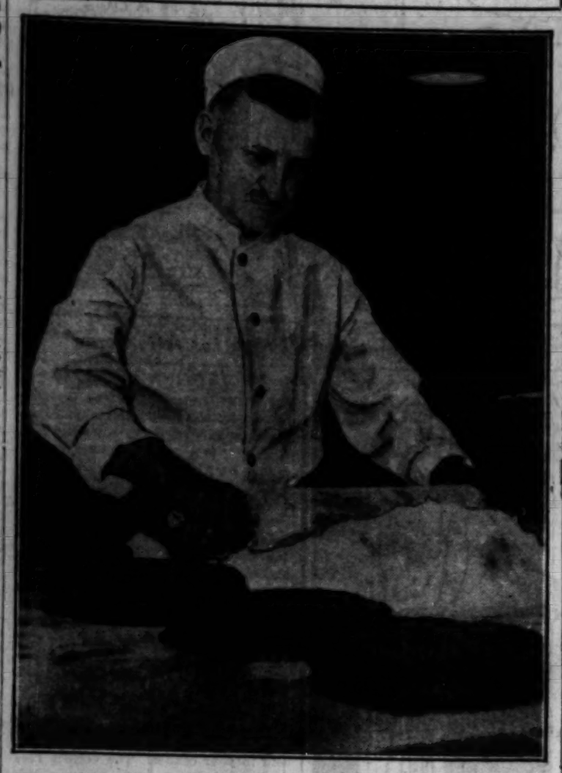
4 small onions.
4 large red peppers.
1 bunch celery.
2 tablespoons salt.
1 tablespoon white mustard seed.
1 teaspoon celery seed.
1 cup vinegar.
1 teaspoon ground mace.
1 teaspoon ground cloves.
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon.

Peel tomatoes and chop fine together with the onions, pepper and celery. Mix all ingredients in a saucepan and cook over a slow fire until thick. Bottle and seal while hot.

Cream Soups Are Tasty and Nourishing for Lunch

Cream soups are suitable for luncheon dishes. One advantage of soup is that it contains the liquid in which the vegetables are cooked, so none of the valuable minerals are lost.

PASTRY EXPERT



JAMES KLINGHOFER.

With a record of having been food purveyor in his lifetime to many thousands of persons, James Klinghofer, former pastry chef of Mrs. Potter Palmer during the time when she was one of Chicago's society leaders, is qualified to tell Chicago housewives how to make peach pie.

The chef now is pastry supervisor of a restaurant chain. His favorite recipe for peach pie follows:

For the preparation of the crust take two cups of flour, one cup of lard, one teaspoonful of granulated sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt and one-half cup of water. Mix the dough and put in ice box for two hours. At the end of that time roll out the dough and slice one and three-fourths pounds of fresh Illinois peaches. Mix one-half pound of sugar and one ounce of creamery butter with the peaches. Cover pie and bake for 55 minutes, with the temperature at 400 degrees the first ten minutes and at 375 degrees the remaining time.

'DEAD' ROOSTER COMES TO LIFE WHEN DRY PICKED

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 24.—Jeremiah, pet rooster belonging to Mrs. J. E. Winkley of Seattle, was hit in the neck by an arrow shot by a youngster. He seemed to be dead, so his owner began to dry pick him. She had removed all his tail feathers when he came back to life with a squawk and staggered into the yard. His neck healed, and Mrs. Winkley felt there was only one thing to do for poor, nude Jeremiah. She made him a pair of pants.

A FRIED APPLE RING TOPPED BY SAUSAGE—AH!

Par Excellence! Try One for Breakfast.

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

"Caro mio ben . . . senza de te . . . ." "My dear one, away from thee my heart languishes!" Our alley is no longer a prosaic, unlovely place. It is the highway of song as warm and golden as the sunlight of September. Mario, swarthy and swaggering, flashing smile, eloquent hands, our troubadour of the apple cart is back again.

Mario's advent is the signal for inspired bursts of enthusiasm in our kitchen which, the family and neighbors are agreed, has some little right to boast of the excellence of its apple dishes. Other fruits have their day there—strawberries, cherries, the melons, and peaches luscious and large, and honey sweet plums—and make their appearance on the dinner table in the pleasing rôles of pie, shortcake, mousse, salad, cocktail, and ice. But it would not be necessary to conduct a popularity contest to determine that the majority vote in our household would go to the candidate of long lineage that once shone in ineffable brilliance among the ancient gods.

Old Fashioned Cellars Gone.

Gone are the days of the old fashioned cellars, the dark, stone walled cellars with their small, high, cobweb draped windows, strongholds of the cider jugs and the apple barrels. And only the fortunate among us are free to wander nowadays through the drifting white fragrance of orchards in blossom, or under the soft green canopy of low bending branches that are laden with a harvest wealth of scarlet and gold.

But after Mario's visit, no less alluring than the fragrance little spring winds waft over the garden wall is the familiar scent that emanates from the fruit bowl, and even the old cellar's offerings were little more enticing to the eye and the appetite than the new dishes on our breakfast, luncheon, and dinner tables.

Of course, every cook has her own good method for making apple pie, cobbler, dumplings, and apfelkuchen. But have you ever served fried apple rings with sausage for breakfast? Try it next Sunday, when the family has time really to savor and appreciate. For apple rings the fruits are peeled, cored, and sliced, and fried until tender in butter and brown sugar. A small fried sausage is placed on each ring.

A Dainty Luncheon Salad.

A dainty salad for luncheon or dinner is the apple cup. For the individual salad, scoop out the center of an apple, cut the extracted portion into balls or cubes, mix with crushed pineapple, nuts, and marshmallows, and insert the mixture into the apple cup with a spoonful of whipped cream for garnishing. Serve on a lettuce leaf.

Baked apples are excellent fare and equally appropriate served at any meal. Here again small, well seasoned sausages as a stuffing may be used to obtain a highly gratifying result. Core the apples and insert sausage stuffing. Sausage apples should be baked slowly. It is best to baste them at intervals while they are in the oven. The regular method of baking in a pan in which a little water has been poured may be followed, but sausage apples are doubly delicious if baked in a syrup made of brown sugar.

The honey or maple syrup apple is one of our favorites. Into the center of a cored apple pour honey or maple syrup, with a small piece of butter. Bake in a moderate oven until tender.

URGE GRAPE GROWERS TO TELL PUBLIC MORE ABOUT THEIR PRODUCT

Grapes must compete with about 70 fruits and vegetables and if the grape growers are to get their share of the business, they must tell consumers when grapes are ready and how to make good use of grapes when they are purchased, says Prof. M. P. Rasmussen of the New York State College of Agriculture. The grape season is usually about half over before the public realizes grapes are on the market, and even then few consumers know much about the use of grapes, he says.

A recent study of 2,400 families in three large cities shows, according to Prof. Rasmussen, that only 33 per cent of the eastern grapes purchased are used for juice purposes, while 34 per cent are used as table grapes, and 28 per cent for jelly. Consumers buy juice or jelly grapes once or twice a season and the usual twelve quart basket serves the need. They buy table grapes more frequently, and, Prof. Rasmussen believes, sales of table grapes have been restricted because only twelve quart containers were available.

In Philadelphia about 90 per cent of the demand for table grapes is for two quart baskets; in Chicago and Cincinnati more than 37 per cent of the demand is for the four quart baskets.

Hot Weather Has Made Lettuce Buying a Problem

Lettuce buying has been a housewife's problem all summer, due to hot weather which ruined much of the home grown crop. New York and Michigan are supplying a large portion of the demand at present. Crates containing 60 heads are selling wholesale for $3 or 5 cents a head.

Potatoes Slide Toward Cent a Pound Mark

Potatoes on the wholesale market continued their gradual slide down the price scale this week. Some of the best northern "spuds" are selling in 100 pound lots for about 1 cent a pound, with somewhat higher prices prevailing for the russets, grown mainly in Idaho.

At 60 pounds to the bushel, this means that housewives, with careful shopping, should be able to buy a peck of potatoes for as little as 20 cents.

BEST LEAVES ARE VALUABLE FOOD.

Beet leaves are more valuable food than beet roots, but care should be taken in selecting only leaves which have no diseased or dead-looking areas.

GRAPE PRICES ARE EXPECTED TO REMAIN LOW

Grapes from west and east are coming into Chicago in increasing quantities at low prices expected to prevail until the last of the juice grapes have been sold this fall. The higher priced table grapes will continue for several months.

Michigan vineyards will be potential suppliers of fruit juice, preserves, and table grapes until the first heavy freeze. The sugar content this year is said to be higher than for many years, enticing heavier buying by housewives.

World's greatest Coffee Producing State passes Law requiring DATED Coffee—

Places time limit on sale of coffee after roasting

A NEWS BULLETIN from São Paulo, Brazil, announces that the State of São Paulo has just passed a law requiring that all roasted coffee be dated.

Thus the largest coffee-producing state in the world confirms the policy started two years ago by Chase & Sanborn!

Here, where Brazil's finest coffee is grown, the government itself has given official recognition to the importance of coffee freshness.

Why? Because these coffee-growing people realize that coffee is a fresh food . . . and must be used while it is freshly roasted in order to enjoy its rich, full flavor and its fine, healthful qualities.

They know that coffee contains a delicate oil, which begins to turn rancid fairly soon after roasting, frequently causing indigestion, headaches, nervousness, sleeplessness . . . that only freshly roasted coffee is free from this danger.

In our own country, Chase & Sanborn's is brought to you with the same precautions to guarantee freshness . . . Rushed straight from roasting ovens to grocers, every can marked with an expiration date. No can allowed to remain on your grocer's shelf after that date.

The date on this coffee assures you of absolute freshness . . . protects you against the dangers of rancid oil in stale coffee.

Buy a can of Chase & Sanborn's . . . Enjoy the marvelous freshness and healthfulness that the people of São Paulo value so highly.

The Marriage Racket

By VINA DELMAR

SYNOPSIS.

Irma Corbin arrives in Thrace for a week's vaudeville engagement, with her dancing partner, Don Philippe de Rodriques, and their pianist, Tom Libby. A convention is being held in the town and the hotels are overflowing. Philippe grabs the first vacancy. Tom and Irma inquire at the town's leading hostelry, where Tom runs into an old friend, Bill Fitzroy. Tom finds a cot and Bill turns over his room to Irma. Bill invites Irma to a dinner party in the hotel, where she meets Wallace Graham. Bill and Wallace shower invitations on the pretty dancer.

INSTALLMENT V.

A DANCE CONTEST.

"Would you like to go back now and have some dinner?" Wallace asked.

"I guess we'd better. It's getting late and Don Philippe has kittens and bear cubs if I'm not in the theater when he gets in."

On the way back Irma asked Wallace about himself. How old was his daughter? What was her name? It never occurred to her that there wasn't a Mrs. Wallace Graham. She had learned to accept the fact that all men over thirty had wives and didn't enjoy speaking of them. One could mention children. Wives were something else again. Married men who strayed from their own firesides did so for two reasons. No. 1, the wife was a hellcat, unfaithful or bad tempered. In this event the husband liked to forget her for a while and did not welcome any reminder. Case No. 2, wife a perfect peach, but interested in clubs, cats, children, fancy work. Anything in the world but hubby's being only human after all. He seeks companions outside and does not relish the topic of Mrs. as conversation, for that would not be loyal or respectful to the woman who bore his children and has never let him hear the end of it.

But Irma knew it was safe to speak of his daughter. Her name was Mildred and she was fifteen.

"She's a good kid," Wallace said. "I couldn't ask for a better. She's in her sophomore year at high school."

"What does she look like? Like you?"

"No. More like Anne did. I lost my wife when Mildred was five and a half. Tough on a little one to lose her mother like that."

"O, terrible. Who took care of her while you were at business?"

"Well, my aunt did. She's old, of course, and not awfully full of the new ideas about children, but she did all right. Mildred is a healthy kid. Then we had a maid who helped some. I guess Mildred lost nothing but her mother's love. Of course that's important, but I mean she wasn't neglected."

"I'll bet she wasn't." Irma's eyes rested wonderingly on the man beside her. Now there was a father for you. Anne Graham had showed some sense in picking a husband.

"I—I told Mildred about you this morning."

"You told her about me!"

"Yes, you see, she asked if I'd be home tonight to dinner and I said no, I wouldn't, that I was taking a pretty lady out."

"O, what did she say?"

"She said she'd never seen a lady yet that I called pretty who really was. So I'm going to send her around to the matinée Saturday to prove that I'm right this time."

Irma was on the point of telling him to send the child backstage. It might be a thrill for her to see the dressing room and the performers in person. But she smothered the impulse. The child was fifteen. That was too dangerous. Philippe might discover that she had the ankles of a great dancer. She felt that she would want to kill him if he so much as looked at Wallace Graham's little motherless girl. She laughed aloud at her sudden flare for melodrama.

"Hey, what the hell's this?" he asked.

"What are you laughing at?"

"O, at me. I think I'm a little crazy."

They dined in the Marble Room.

"I'm going to ask you to have dinner with me tomorrow evening, too. Will you?"

"O, I'd love to. You're so kind."

"I'm so selfish, you mean. Bill Fitzroy means to ask you, I know, but he's free in the mornings to take you to breakfast when I'm tied up at the office."

"What business are you in? Or am I too fresh?"

"No, of course not. I manage the Carmichael and Dreyfus factory except on days when Mr. Carmichael or Mr. Dreyfus come around."

"O, what do they make?"

"Nuisances of themselves." He stopped to smile at his venture into the territory on the lighter side of life which was so unfamiliar to him. "We make men's shirts, underwear, and pajamas. It's a good business they have there."

"O. Do you like the work?" It sounded so beastly that she couldn't refrain from asking.

"Yes, I like it. It's pleasant enough and it's a good living."

"Pleasant?" That was the last thing she would have thought factory work could be.

Bill Fitzroy pulled up a chair and joined them. Irma had not heard nor seen him approach. She jumped slightly when he spoke her name.

They all ate planked steak. Irma was both pleased and disappointed that Wallace didn't seem to mind the sudden triangling of their twosome.

"How did you like the act?" she asked Bill.

"You're O. K., and Tommy's good at the piano. He always was. But that Rodriques guy. He's awful. If I ever saw a guy stuck on himself! Without knowing him right now, I bet a thousand bucks that he's a louse."

"You win," Irma said.

It was a jolly dinner and a good dinner. Bill arranged to take Irma for coffee after the night show and breakfast in the morning to even up for Wallace's having a peaceful dinner alone with her next evening.

"I want to show you the place tonight," he said. "It's nice and I have a good orchestra, too. Maybe you'd dance with me once or twice. I'd like you to show me that second dance you do in the act."

He referred to the waltz that ended in a long and very Latin embrace.

"Now you've scared me. I won't go to your old Palais de Danse."

But she went. It was the usual better class ballroom. Dim lamps, soft carpets, pretty hostesses dancing their stockings full of holes. There was a good orchestra with all the standard equipment such as a derby to mute the cornet, and a drummer who could toss the sticks high in the air and miss them now and then for a laugh. There were shadow waltzes, loving cups lying as yet unpacked, unengraved, and unwon, and a quiet, well behaved crowd. Just the average dance palace described by its owner and patrons as refined.

Bill got an inspiration. "How about a tango contest here Saturday night with you as the judge? Would you do it?"

"Sure."

"All right. I'll advertise in tomorrow's Democrat and Banner. What time were you out of the theater tonight?"

"Better make it eleven."

"O. K. Have you a photograph I can give Bob Hingler to run of you? You'll bestow the trophy on the lucky couple and I'll bestow something on you."

"O, that's not necessary. I'd like to do it."

"No. I wouldn't stand for that. It'll bring me business. The contest with you judging it will draw a big gang. Where does the act go from here?"

"Garchester."

"O, that isn't far. I'll run over and see you."

"You'll see enough of me here."

"Can I depend on that? Say, no kidding, where's that photograph of you?"

"Over at the theater."

"Let's go over and get it. I want to give it to Bob first thing in the morning with the ad."

It was Wednesday before the tango advertisement appeared in the papers.

"Hey, what the hell's this?" he asked.

"Can't you read?"

"Sure I can read. Miss Irma Corbin, now appearing with Don Philippe de Rodriques at the—— Say, I didn't know they could print so small as that guy has the name of the act. Don't you know you've gotta ask me if it's all right before you do things like that?"

"Bunk. I don't have to ask you anything."

"You're getting funny, aren't you, just because a couple of local guys are falling all over the stage door all the time trying to make you."

"Well, you know they can't, Phil. You tried once and couldn't, and if you can't, who could, darling?"

"And listen here, they've got the time down for that contest for eleven o'clock. You can't be there at eleven,"

"Why not?"

"Because we're leaving for Garchester on the eleven three."

"Listen, we have all day Sunday to make that trip in."

"Well, I'm going Saturday night and if you don't go with me you pay your own fare."

"No, indeed. The management of the Crystal Moon Palais de Danse will pay it."

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Mother Needs Help.

"My husband has not worked since January and I am expecting another baby any day. I have one child, a girl, 2 now, and I wonder if a reader would give me a buggy or stroller, some clothing for her and for the child who is coming. I would be so thankful for any help you can give me. MRS. A. B."

The prospect of an addition to the family when the father is not able to take care of it is not a pleasant one. The situation will be much improved, however, if generous readers will come to the rescue with the clothing their babies have outgrown and, perhaps, a buggy.

How's Your Chin Line, This Morning? Let Antoinette Help You

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Fashion has brought in so many features the last few months that we haven't had time to look the chin line over thoroughly, and maybe it's begun to wabble, or droop, or go crêpey.

That's just one line you can't keep your eye off of for long—if you have celebrated more birthdays than are needed for voting day. And those new bonnets, my sisters, sure do show up the chin line, in all its glory, if its glory it has to offer. If not, then you've got to begin operations at once to get in line before the winter hat is bought.

Don't ask what the relation is between chapeau and chin and jawline! Just try the hat on with a mirror in your hand and take a side look. Or, just believe me that the face, chin and throat line are in for a publicity they haven't had for quite a few seasons. It's chic those bonnets call for. And loads of it. And youth, or its second best, made over youth.

Now, don't go on in your nightly ritual of creaming the face and considering the day's work well done with a pause at the chin and jawline. Go over the border with creamed palm or a patter. Go right down to the base of the throat in your nightly operation, just to be sure that the jaw and chin line do not escape attention.

If there's sign of youth fleeing in drooping jawline or under chin thickening put your head through its forward and back on the chest movement and turn it to right and left to make those muscles along the line we speak of pliant and flesh supporting. It's because they've lost their old grip that the jowls begin to appear along the side lines. Put some new pep back into them with these vigorous neck stretching movements.

Massage a good skin food into the parts. But don't think you're through yet. The best neck rejuvenating measure is yet to come in the astringent you pat on along that telling line of chin and jaw. Ice for those who can take it; a good astringent product for those who can't.

J. R.: EXERCISE IS IMPORTANT in stimulating the functions of the various organs of the body, particularly the organs of digestion. For the average person of sedentary occupation one hour a day should be given over to exercise in some form—walking, golfing, swimming, or horseback riding.

Victorian Formula, Tempered, Is Still Good for Romance

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Will a girl have much more fun and many more boy friends if she is hard to get?—TOOTS."

Not too hard to get, "Toots!" I wouldn't take that Victorian formula too literally. Not for current day application. On the other hand, I wouldn't ignore it entirely, either. For in many of the old time proverbs and prejudices you'll find such a kernel of truth as will serve you well where men are concerned.

You always have to remember that men haven't changed much where the one and only girl is concerned. Broad minded they may be in connection with girls collectively. But toward THE individual girl, the one that matters, really quite old fashioned instincts of demand and pursuit survive. Maybe not quite so Victorian in model as formerly—nevertheless, not at all broad minded as the word is construed to apply to girls and new freedom.

Just scratch the surface of one of the sophisticated young men about town, as I did recently, and hear the answer: "Well, yes, there's a certain type of girl you play around with and have a good time with and there's the kind you think about as your wife."

Not fair, as you girls protest! Not chivalric to be party to the new freedom ideas practiced by some of our least wise maids. Nevertheless, that's the way men are, and what can you do about it but decide whether a short life and a giddy one is better than the other.

Being hard to get, in modern parlance, doesn't involve quite the same tactics as great grandmaw practiced. Her idea was to appear to discourage the perfectly desirable suitor just to show how hard she was to get. The modern method is a great improvement. You can give a man a fairly good idea that he's the Grand Sheik for you—but you can't chase him too hard, either.

And you can't keep him from souring if he learns that you've been mauled and pawed by a whole string of predecessors.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

"Dear Miss Blake: The girl I love was invited to my party and she refused to come. Please advise. "JOHNNIE."

That was most unkind of her. You'd better find a more agreeable companion, don't you think?

"Dear Miss Blake: When a young lady and a young man meet several days after being introduced, should the young lady or the young man speak first? J. D."

It is always the young lady's duty to recognize and speak to the young man.

Paquin Designs Satin Frock for Afternoon

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—There is going to be a lot less liberty in compiling an ensemble this winter than we had last. If you have a fur coat and are wondering what kind of dresses to get to wear with it, there are some new rules it would be well to learn. They relate chiefly to color and material.

In color, the dress you wear with fur coat will be fresher and more stylish if it matches or doesn't contrast too wildly. For instance, a beige frock with a brown coat will be chic, whereas a red dress will look a trifle stale. If your coat is black you can choose brighter colors for your dresses, but a black, beige or gray frock would also be smart.

If your coat is one of the shiny furs, then choose your frock in a dull surfaced silk or wool and you will add to your cachet. The velvety furs can be combined with shiny or dull materials, but not with rough surfaced stuffs.

The Paquin frock, shown in our sketch, is an ideal dress, from a style standpoint, to wear with the fur coat for afternoon, and it could be made in either satin or crêpe according to the coat. The model is in satin, in a light sand shade, and its simplicity suits the material admirably, for satin, to be smart, must be simply made.

The blouse of this dress has elbow sleeves, slit near the bottom and trimmed with bias bands of satin. The irregular neckline has a bias, satin band on its straight right side. The skirt is a straight skirt with a panel set in at the right side, the top of this panel being shirred in many lines from waist to hip line and flared below.

Best to Discuss a Problem Before or After Its Advent

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

In an interesting letter from a mother of children in their early teens I found the following: "There is one little trick I have been practicing lately. It is in taking up some problem with either of my children—in taking it up not at the time when that particular thing is going to happen, but at a time when both of us are perfectly relaxed and are on an understandable, comradely basis. It works like a charm then and not like a red flag, as it would the other way."

Don't you like that? And haven't you found it true?

O, of course, once in a while in a small thing you can point up some suggestion by striking when the iron is hot. But on the whole, a thing which needs clear and serious thinking is not best gone into under emotional stress. At those moments feeling obscures reason, or the surface feeling and excitement of the moment obscure the deeper feeling. The line of communication between a parent and child may be temporarily closed. The child is not receptive and often the mother is not calm. And as this writer implies, both are tense.

There are two good times to talk over things before and after. And parents may use either of them, depending upon the circumstances. Before—where a mother forsees a complication, then prevention in a friendly talk or a gradual paving of the way forestalls the undesired thing. After—if swiftly or unexpectedly a crisis arises or a serious troubling kind of action comes about, if possible let it pass at the moment.

But when the heat of battle, as one migh say, has passed, talk it over quietly and understandingly together as two good friends. Especially if these talks are without a third person present, they are most satisfactory.

Our "Sex Education" booklet as it is now arranged covers the whole range of this subject from babyhood to adulthood, with special references for parents' preparation. It will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Two High School Pupils Win Theater Scholarships

From among 103 competing high school boys and girls, Miss Virginia Butler, 5800 Blackstone avenue, and Bernard Block, 414 South Lotus avenue, were selected yesterday for scholarships at the Chicago Art theater, 410 South Michigan avenue. The awards were made following the final tryouts yesterday. Judges were Mme. Maria Astrova Lazareff, director of the school, Miss Berta Ochsner and Miss Elizaveta Santagano. Miss Butler is a student at St. Xavier academy and Block attends Austin High school.

Grandmother finds way to grow old gracefully

"I don't try to keep up the pace of the younger generation," says this 65-year-old woman. "I leave that to my grandchildren.

"But just because I lead a quiet life doesn't mean that I'm not perfectly well. I never felt better. Everything about me is normal and functions as it should. I make sure of that by taking Nujol regularly. Nujol keeps me in good condition."

When people become less active, Nujol becomes even more important for good health. For Nujol not only prevents the excess of body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but aids in their removal.

All of us—old and young alike—lead more or less sedentary lives. But Nujol helps make up for this lack of exercise. It keeps the body functioning as Nature intended.

Even if you think you're perfectly well, try Nujol. It was perfected by the famous Nujol Laboratories, 2 Park Avenue, New York City. Take it for three months and just see if you don't feel better. Nujol can't possibly upset you. It contains absolutely no drugs or medicine. Be sure you get the genuine.

You simply douse it on the scalp full strength and massage vigorously. Keep the treatment up several days. Within two weeks you will be delighted with results.

If infection is present on the surface of the skin, Listerine attacks it. A powerful germicide, it kills bacteria in 15 seconds, the fastest killing time accurately recorded by science.

Listerine helps to dissolve oily crusts and quickly removes them, as well as horny scales. And Listerine quickly relieves that burning, itching sensation. It soothes inflamed or irritated areas of the scalp.

If scalp is excessively dry, a little olive oil may be used in connection with the Listerine shampoo, or independent of it. The oil aids in dissolving crusts and scales and keeps hair from drying out. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

How Russian Revolt Broke Middle Class

Nahum Sabsay Tells Story in First Novel.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Hurricane," by Nahum Sabsay (Scribner's). Published today.

THE hurricane which gives the title to this first novel is the political and social hurricane which blew through Russia in 1917, uprooting the old order. The author tells, with a peculiar vividness, the story of a family of the old régime, a family of the upper bourgeoisie.

NAHUM SABSAY.

We are accustomed to personal narratives of the aristocracy. "The Education of a Princess" was the most popular of all of them, but there have been others of almost equal vividness, as well as memoirs from other social units. But "Hurricane" pictures a layer of society which I, for one, have not met extensively in books of the revolution, although it is the milieu which Dostoievsky, Turgenev, and Chekov almost always chose in their literary pictures of the pre-revolutionary days.

"Hurricane" has something of the power as well as the characters of those old masters. It has the same passion to detail, the same leisurelyness of style, the same discursiveness that they used. But it lacks that vitality and truisms of all characteristics, the pellucidity of thoughts, and emotions, and actions which makes psychoses parts of all the classic Russian novels and short stories. The characters in "Hurricane" are so busy being actual physical disintegration that they have no time to indulge in the typical Russian analysis of their mental states. Although this is Mr. Sabsay's first novel, it has the assurance and the strength of the work of an experienced writer. It is a strangely efficacious mixture of the Russia with modern American in its technique.

The author himself went through the revolutions, was forced to flee from the bolsheviki, made his way to America, finally reached Boston [not San Francisco]. There his brother gave up a job in the Massachusetts General hospital to Nahum, who could speak no English. Courageously, and with determined effort, Nahum put himself through Harvard, became a mining engineer, and through long nights of work taught himself the use of the English language and the writing of it. He began writing "Hurricane" in 1929, and not by any means were exhausted a hundred word that his story, "Behind the Swamp There Was a Village," had been accepted for publication by Scribner's magazine.

I think that bit of personal news about the author at this point to explain the cause of his technique. It is a conscious one, and a conscientious one, the result of much thought and determined and unyielding labor, and the result is extremely interesting. Russian novel and an American one married harmoniously and happily.

"Hurricane" is, on account of its Russian side, an unforgettable picture of terror, and of man's reaction to it. Terror, political, physical, and spiritual, is in the tradition of the Russian novel, and the author of "Hurricane" owes much to the classics of his native country.

On its American side it has a matter of factness, it achieves its ends of being unforgettable less by emotion than by the incessant reiteration of facts. The squalls which burst in the final hurricane which utterly demolishes a whole established order are pictured with a restraint, a lack of psychological intensity which Mr. Sabsay certainly has learned in America.

The story of "Hurricane" concerns [chiefly] a young girl and a man, captain of the company in which her brother is a lieutenant at the front before the revolution. They meet, they fall gently in love, and he returns to the front. Meanwhile the hurricane is brewing and soon vast squalls sweep the people. There are unforgettable pictures of the wreckage, spiritual and moral, as well as physical. The descriptions of the squalls themselves [as the author calls them] are as vivid as anything you have ever read about those days of terror.

There are chapters of the life at the front describing the useless efforts of the officers to make the soldiers realize their duty as soldiers. The Women's Battalion of Death marches by in uniforms that are too big and wearing slippers [because there are no shoes for them]. The victorious offensive fills the pages which are succeeded by the utter disintegration of the army after its failure.

Tag Day for Poor Children Set for Oct. 6

50 Charities to Unite in Seeking Cash.

Needy children throughout the city, regardless of creed, will benefit from a tag day to be held Oct. 6 by the Chicago Children's Benefit league, which assists 50 children's charities. All of the 50 are indorsed by the Chicago Association of Commerce.

It was pointed out by members of the league that the tag day instigated by them is the original tag day in Chicago, and that in the 22 years' existence of the league there has never been such need for generous contributions. The goal set by the league for this year's tag day is $100,000. Last year $96,932.02 was collected.

"With the existing business depression, unemployment, and hard times," said Mrs. Thomas G. English, president of the league, "many of our homes and children are affected seriously. These conditions will be more deplorable as the winter approaches.

"Distress has followed want in many homes. Few persons living in ideal surroundings in daily contact with only their own friends have any conception of the sad plight in the homes of those who may have been blessed with many gifts at one time. The homeless, the hungry, those in distress are legion.

"The question of finances in our nurseries is a most serious problem," she continued. "The number of children in the various institutions is increasing every day. Mothers are asking our institutions to provide their children with free lunches. This is the only way many of them can be certain that their children will be fed.

"We have not attempted to make profit from any of our institutions, but we have tried to make them self-supporting. However, this cannot be accomplished. We must appeal to the generous public."

Presbyterians to Start Go to Church Campaign

A program of united spiritual activity which will be opened Nov. 1 in the various churches of the presbytery of Chicago and vicinity was outlined at the fifth annual retreat held yesterday in the Second Presbyterian church, Oak Park. There were 425 ministers present.

The meting was opened under the direction of Dr. George B. Dowey, head of the national board of the Presbyterian church.

The six weeks of spiritual activity will be conducted in an effort to bring back religious interest to those who have strayed from the church and to induce families to go to churches.

Figures Show Growing Power of Middle West

Geographic Society Tells Historic Moves.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Pointing out that the center of population of the United States has traveled steadily westward for a distance of about 589 miles in the last 14 years, the National Geographic society today declared that each westward jump has been due to some important event in our national life.

During the last decade, according to the census bureau, the center of population moved westward 22.3 miles and southward 7.6 miles to a point at Stockton township, Greene county, Ind. Since the first census in 1790, the geographic society stated, the movement has averaged three miles a year, mostly along the 39th parallel of latitude, with occasional jogs to the north and south.

Trace the ten year movements of the centers of population since 1790, the Geographic society declared, "and for each important event in our national life, a corresponding jog in the center of population will be noticeable."

The first census in 1790 placed the center of population near the city of Baltimore. In the next ten years it shifted almost forty miles west and a trifle south, due, according to the Geographic society, to the Louisiana purchase.

"The growing south," the society's bulletin went on, "continued to exert a steady pull on the population center during the next thirty years, although the greatest movement was toward the west.

The increasing population of the southern states and the annexation of Florida during this period pulled the population center down by 1830 to a point in what is now West Virginia.

"Growth of the prairie states and of Michigan and Wisconsin turned the tide northward again between 1830 and 1840," the bulletin continued, "and also sent it on a long jump westward to the vicinity of Clarksburg, W. Va. In the following decade, from 1840 to 1850, the annexation of Texas is clearly discernible in the southward movement of the population center."

The progressive period preceding the civil war jumped the population center from West Virginia well into Ohio, the bulletin stated, while the devastation of the southern states in the war was responsible for a sharp northward movement in the decade which followed.

Illinois Methodists Stress Mission Work as Their Budgets Fall

Galesburg, Ill., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—A solution of the question of how to carry on missionary and educational work while ministers are taking cuts in salaries, was sought by the Illinois Methodist conference in its sessions here today. Nearly the entire day was devoted to a discussion of the problem.

Local church budgets were raised under very difficult conditions this year, it was pointed out. However, the conference voted in favor of a resolution that "disaster would ensue should our mission enterprises be permitted to decline, and this must be avoided even at the cost of sacrificial giving." To promote the home and foreign missionary enterprises it was decided to hold district meetings in November and December. At them Bishop Edwin H. Hughes will appear to make appeals for funds for world service. The dates for such meetings were set as follows: Bloomington, Dec. 4; Paxton, Nov. 23; Shelbyville, Nov. 24; Jacksonville, Nov. 30; Peoria, Dec. 3; Carthage, Dec. 1; Aledo, Dec. 2.

Sunday, Oct. 18, was designated as world service day in all the churches of the conference. Special missionary sermons are to be preached then.

Taking issue with what he called "training the big guns on missionary work," President W. J. Davidson of Illinois Wesleyan university declared that while he is heartily in favor of world service efforts, more consideration should be given plans for promoting Christian education at home.

"The Christian colleges are going. Methodism has not a single four year school left in Missouri and our others are threatened," he declared. "There is a serious struggle going on over whether our colleges can continue to preach the doctrine of Christian leadership. Illinois Wesleyan and MacMurray college are receiving less than 25 per cent of the aid given them 10 years ago."

Further discussion of the educational problem was deferred until Monday.

The preachers' aid society in making reports this morning revealed a serious curtailment in revenue, due to losses from stocks and farm values The society pays pensions to 275 retired ministers from its endowment fund of nearly $1,000,000. It was said that reductions of pensions was possible.

Bishop Hughes in the anniversary sermon for the preachers' society paid tribute to the ministers' work and said pastors should be given a comfortable living with assurance that they would be cared for in old age. The spirit of the pioneer circuit riders is needed today, he said.

The conference voted to give an honorable dismissal to Rev. John S. Neal of Decatur, who asked to be allowed to withdraw from the Methodist church. He will enter the ministry of another denomination.

THE STAGE

THE THEATER GUILD has started off its New York season—the fourteenth annual—with Alfred Savoir's ironic comedy, "He," which the Guild's Chicago subscribers saw at the Illinois last spring. The Broadway play reviewers have given the play a thorough sneering. For example, Mr. Lockridge of the Sun says:

"Over it all there hangs the vapor of self-consciousness. It is very precious and is no niggard in giving itself airs. It contains many of the vices of Pirandello's plays—philosophical hollowness and pseudo-profundity, for example—without the dramatic power that is never absent from a Pirandello drama."

Maude Adams, true to the tradition of a lifetime, refuses to be interviewed about her impending return to the stage as Portia to Otis Skinner's Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice." A Broadway paragrapher recently trapped her in an elevator and tried to extract a statement from the little lady of mystery. Miss Adams shook hands with him, murmured "Sh-h!" put her finger to her lips, and said, "Mustn't talk."

The Adams-Skinner company will begin rehearsals Oct. 5. The first performance will be given Nov. 2 in the McCarter theater of Princeton university.

Richard B. Harrison, the Lawd of "The Green Pastures," will make a pulpit appearance next Sunday at 11:30 a. m. in the Christian church of Oak Park. He will discuss the play in its relation to his career.

Sylvia Field, who acted here in the spring of 1930 in "Many a Slip," and since then has been a much sought after heroine of Broadway plays, has been engaged for Rachel Crothers' new comedy, entitled "Caught Wet." A mid-October premiere in New York is the plan for this production.

Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur, authors of "The Front Page," have proved that they can write another play by hurrying from Hollywood to New York with a manuscript in their luggage. It is called "Twentieth Century"; its story takes place on the railway train which bears that title; and its central character is a caricatured Morris Gest. Jed Harris will stage it if he likes the last act, which the authors probably completed on the run from Albany to the Grand Central station.

John Galsworthy's latest drama, "The Roof," will be Charles Hopkins' first offering of the new season. He announces its premiere for Oct. 27. Mr. Hopkins' successful production of last season, "Mrs. Moonlight," will come to the Harris theater Nov. 2 under the auspices of the Dramatic League of Chicago. C. C.

D. W. Morrow Helps Researches in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 24.—(AP)—An archeological expedition, financed by the National university and private individuals, including former Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, will start work at Monte Alban, Oaxaca, next month to uncover ruins which are expected to throw light on the connection between the ancient Indian civilizations of Mexico and Central America.

U. OF C. FRESHMEN'S START IN COLLEGE FULL OF EVENTS

Freshman week began yesterday at the University of Chicago with a round of speeches, tests, fraternity rushing and social functions. Members of the freshman class gathered last night at a reception in Ida Noyes hall where they were greeted by President Robert Maynard Hutchins and deans of the various colleges.

Approximately 775 freshman men and women will enter the university this fall. It will be the first class to start from the beginning in the university's new educational plan.

The responsibility that is theirs in making the new plan workable and successful was stressed by President Hutchins earlier in the day. He welcomed the newcomers in Leon Mandel hall on the campus. "These are very trying and distressing times to the world at large, but very exciting and hopeful times for the university," the president said. "This will be the first class under our new educational plan and the first to have the unusual opportunity to profit fully by their own initiative."

President Hutchins told the group that they would be the first class that can participate "in a game of trying to beat the faculty."

Speeded Living Puts Man Under Unique Strains

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

The social science course may be regarded as the second step in the new plan of general education which is being put into effect at the University of Chicago this week.

It has been learned in the study of the biological sciences, which naturally underlie the social field, that communal life is a normal, constant, and universal fact in the animal kingdom, to which man is related. The wasps, bees, ants, and man present the best examples of highly integrated social organizations.

The new syllabus on social science has been prepared by Harry D. Gideonse, associate professor of economics, as chairman, with the coöperation of Jerome Kerwin and Louis Wirth of the political science department. It is largely suggestive and topical, rather than an exposition of agreed facts, and contrasts the social order that preceded the industrial revolution with contemporary society. Its coherence must be sought by the student out of attached selected readings, outside readings, discussions, and lectures.

The approach to this science is suggested in selections from many authors scattered through the syllabus, but there is a method outlined, and a distinct synthesis might be built on the following quotations:

"To expect to look modern life in the face and comprehend it by mere inspection, is a philosophy whose weakness can easily be tested."

"The great institutions (state and church, laws and customs, systems of industry and education) are the outcome of that organization which human thought naturally takes on when it is directed for age after age upon a particular subject, and so gradually crystallizes in definite forms—enduring sentiments, beliefs, customs, and symbols."

"Natural resources are not unchanging geological facts, but reflections of what man's training enables him to see and make use of in the world about him."

"Today the external conditions of life in civilized communities differ more from those in 1830 than did the conditions of 1830 from those of the time of Noah's flood. And this change, the real world revolution, has only just begun."

"We require such an understanding of the present conditions as may give us some grasp of the novelty which is about to produce a measurable influence on the immediate future."

"Our system may be a bad system, but it is a system of some sort; it is not chaos. If a man holds a book too close to his nose he cannot read it; and so it is with the world of industry. If we look at it from too close a standpoint we can only see a blur."

"The potential and redeeming strength of the United States in the face of this situation [world depression] is that we are economically more self-contained than any other great nation."

"Change is the primary social fact as surely as motion is the primary physical fact."

"Life is movement, and consequently history is movement, for history is the sum and result of the phenomena of life. This history of mankind is composed of a series of movements and counter-movements, just as is the history of plants and animals."

"All things by immortal power
Near or far,
Hiddenly
To each other linked are,
That thou canst not stir a flower
Without troubling of a star."
FRANCIS THOMPSON.

"The industrial revolution must be seen in a perspective of this kind: as a departure in which man passed definitely from one world to another, as an event bringing confusion that man is still seeking to compose, power that he is still seeking to subdue to noble purposes."

"It used to be said that 'the laws of nature are the thoughts of God'; now we say that they are the investigator's formulae summing up regularities of recurrence."

"The forms of industry, the forms of family, the notions of property, the constructions of rights and the type of religion show the strain of consistency with each other through the whole history of civilization."

"All the social problems of history are no more than variants of the eternal, the supreme, the unique social problem—how can man find happiness, not only through work, but in work?"

"In seeking a political theory that is to be useful at a given moment, what is wanted is not the invention of a utopia, but the discovery of the best direction of movement."

"We are forever hearing sermons about what ought to be done from people who do not stop to consider whether what they preach can be done."

"The art of government is largely the art of adapting laws to the foibles of mankind."

"Progress, degradation, survival, revival, modification, are all modes of the connection that binds together the complex network of civilization."

"The rise of a social problem is an augury of something better, or at least more effective, in the way of doing things, and that the bigger and more complicated the problem, the greater the change it portends."

"All the difficulties about financing, labor, prices, and so on are indicative of the fact that the habitual activities of men have broken down or are breaking down, which is the first step to a change to a new set of habits."

U. S. Will Not Join Disarmament Parley

Washington, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The United States will not participate in the proposed world disarmament conference, it was officially announced today.

Secretary of State Stimson, in a statement, said that the United States would not be represented at the conference because it was not a member of the league of nations.

"The United States has not been invited to participate in the proposed conference," Stimson said. "It is not a member of the league of nations and has no intention of becoming a member. Therefore, it will not be represented at the conference."

Know the truth

before accepting substitutes for Kotex

DON'T be confused by the careless expression, "just like Kotex." Perhaps the substitute looks the same. But demand to know more. Where was this substitute made? By whom? How? Who stands back of it? Is it hygienically safe . . . the kind of sanitary pad a hospital would select?

Last year more than 10,000,000 Kotex pads were used in hospitals. This is the pad that meets hospital requirements! You should be equally strict in selecting an accessory so definitely related to health. Insist on Kotex. It's the world's standard. In addition, Kotex is supremely comfortable. Shaped to fit. Soft—and stays soft. Adjustable. May be worn on either side.

Debate Divorce at Sessions of Episcopalians

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 24.—Marriage, education of young people for it, annulments, remarriage of divorced persons, prohibition of divorces, birth control, all were subjects of discussion today at the general convention of Episcopal church here.

Proposals for remarriage of such persons as might be approved by church courts, liberalization of the grounds on which the church would approve divorce were presented to the house of bishops by Bishop Herman Page of Michigan, former rector of St. Paul's church, Chicago, and chairman of a commission on marriage and divorce.

Bishop Page asserted his commission was appointed to study and to induce people to think. He denied any intent of the commission to be propagandists. He called attention, however, to the fact that a commission of 14 men agreed on 6 sections of a new canon and that even on the 7th section the vote was 11 to 3. He said that persons seeking divorces at Reno, Nev., represent many states, even in South Carolina, which allows no divorce.

Bishop Page declared that proposals not to recognize divorce by tightening up canon law fails to work as divorces increase even in England where they have the absolute restriction and in Canada. He said in one year 1,300 Canadians came to the United States to be divorced. His commission has definite suggestions.

The question he argued was to interpret the mind of Christ, as forgiveness and mercy are features of his teaching. Churches always faced the temptation to sit in judgment and to force people to be good.

Bishop Page insisted that if the new canon is adopted there will be less remarriage of divorced persons than under the present canon and that condemnation will be removed from the man and woman who want to live a better life—in matrimony.

According to Prof. Joseph Beale of the Harvard law school the problem is that of distinction between marriage under civil law and the solemnization of matrimony by a church.

"Marriage is a civil procedure," Prof. Beale said, "and the right to perform marriage ceremonies has been given to the clergy by the state. If the church says certain persons are not married when in the eyes of civil law they are married, they are married. If, on the other hand, the church says certain persons are married when the state says they are not, they are not. The power of the church is a teaching power and not a judicial power."

Prof. Beale declared a church cannot prevent divorced persons from remarrying, as the civil law prevails, and in the final analysis has no power to regulate marriage and divorce. At present, he declared, the Episcopal church simply is saying to those who come to it for remarriage after divorce:

"You must go around the corner."

Dr. William S. Keller, a Cincinnati physician, charged that "doctrinal and theological theories" about marriage are not enough for youth. Pleasure, he said, is the measure of success in the minds of young people regarding marriage.

The Rev. William B. Stoskopf of Chicago declared the church must stand on the theory of monogamy; that if the proposal for remarriage of divorced persons is adopted it would be a virtual sanction of polygamy.

The Rev. Dr. Frank H. Nelson of Cincinnati argued that the public seems to feel "we are trying to introduce a Reno into our church."

Members of the women's auxiliary were told in their afternoon session that birth control is here and that contraceptives are being advertised even by conservative newspapers and sold at drug stores throughout the country. The speaker was May S. Brisley, executive secretary of a church.

She declared the question is whether the church will "shut its eyes to the facts or face them. We cannot keep this knowledge from our young people. The only ones who do not have it are those poor and illiterate families that need it most. Knowledge given by a skilled physician is to be preferred to the present situation."

In an earlier session of the woman's auxiliary it was proposed that clergymen should be prepared to give birth control information.

WEDDING

The marriage of Miss Marianna Rogers Ruffner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rogers Ruffner of Highland Park, to Harrison Tyler Todd, son of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Henry D. Todd of Washington, D. C., was solemnized at 5 o'clock last evening at the Presbyterian church in Highland Park. A small reception followed the ceremony at the residence of the bride's parents.

The bride and her attendants wore gowns of First Empire inspiration. Miss Ruffner wore an Empress Josephine model of white transparent velvet with a square neckline and white satin sandals. Her veil fell from a band of opalized orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Her maid of honor, Miss Virginia Ruffner, and the bridesmaids, Miss Louise Ruffner, Miss Harriett Todd, Miss Emily Snow Brewer of Utica, N. Y., and Miss Margaret S. Ferguson of Upper Montclair, N. J., wore white satin gowns of the same period with gold lace directoire jackets and gold sandals. They carried sprays of gardenias.

Old Hibbard Mansion Is Wrecked by Fire

Fire destroyed the old Hibbard mansion at 1701 Prairie avenue yesterday. Built by William G. Hibbard, one of the founders of Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co., it was one of the show places of the city when the Prairie avenue section was Chicago's gold coast. The house has been deserted for several years, and firemen believe hobos, who have been sleeping in the building, started the fire. The damage was estimated at $4,000.

Debs Register for Roles in Musical Show

BY THALIA——

There was a mild hubbub on the fifth floor of the Medinah Athletic club yesterday morning as more than half a hundred young girls—most of them debutantes of the new season—hastened in to register for the first tryout for "Hit It Up," the 1931 Service club show. Some of them came by motor, some by train from Lake Forest and Winnetka, and others on foot from their near north side abodes.

Naturally, the proceedings couldn't be conducted in very orderly fashion, for everybody had to take time out to exchange greetings with returned vacationers and to pose for the photographers. In the midst of the chaos, however, Director Steele managed to put the entrants through a few dance steps and to divide them into blond and show girl classifications. With this accomplished, most of the young things skipped off to luncheon engagements.

Work Begins in Earnest Tomorrow for Show Girls.

Tomorrow, of course, things will be different, for they'll all come prepared to get into their practice rompers and start in earnest at the daily grind of rehearsing until the show is in shape for its presentation on Oct. 24, just a month from yesterday, at the Civic Opera house.

Of the 43 girls listed for the chorus, at least thirty-five are debutantes. That indicates that practically the entire crop of the winter's buds will appear in the show, with the exception of those girls who have gone back to school. Some of those who are being considered for solos or principal parts are Florence Carr, who already has piloted fame for her dancing; Grace Bennett, Ann Elizabeth Walsh, Jane Brown, Buffy Pope, and Betty Bird.

Observing them yesterday with a professional eye to style tendencies, we looked in vain for a Eugenie hat. To new variations of the sailor and toque, to be sure, and hats with the dips and twists of the new mode, but not one that resembled an authentic Eugenie.

Mrs. John Dern II., who was busy about the Service club publicity, looked lovely in a lavender suit with a three-quarter length coat to which an elbow length cape banded in tan fox gave that new wide shouldered look. Her hat, a shade deeper than the suit, was a small, perky affair with a pleated brim cut high over the right eye and dipping down over the left.

Majorie Horton wore a black wool tailored dress and one of the flattering, shallow brimmed derbies; Mrs. Frank Sims, also in tailored black with a silver fox scarf, wore a black velvet hat with a large white ribbon pinwheel on one side. Mrs. Scott Dow's [Louise Badgerow] rolled knitted turban matched her two piece brown wool dress with a fresh white pique vest. Florence Carr also wore one of the popular snug turbans—black and close fitting—with her black and emerald green ensemble. The president, Mrs. Stanley Zaring, wore a brown and green two piece dress and a brown tricorn hat.

The 24 boys who are being enlisted for the show by George W. Dixon Jr. held their first rehearsal last night.

Millburn Hunts to Start Sunday First of Autumn.

The horn of the hunter will be sounded at Millburn on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock for the first formal hunt of the season. The hunts will continue thereafter on Sundays at the same time, on Tuesdays at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and on Thursdays at 6:30 in the morning. Pink coats will be worn on Sundays, but not on week days.

⊸

The Arts club's familiar white cards reappear in the autumn mail with the announcement of the opening of the club rooms next Thursday with a tea from 4 to 6 o'clock. The restaurant service of luncheon and tea will be resumed on the following day.

⊸

Parents of college students are finding continued cause for concern in the eastern infantile paralysis situation. Smith students have now received notification that the opening of school is postponed from Sept. 28 and 29 until Oct. 12 and 13 because of the prevalence of the disease in the Connecticut valley. The Vassar opening has been postponed again, also.

⊸

Knollwood Harvest Home Party Set for Tomorrow.

The Knollwood "Harvest Home" dinner dance, which is always a sort of formal good-by to the summer season, will be held tomorrow evening. Dinner will be served at tables set on the club terrace and the tent which shelters the outdoor pavilion will be hung with autumn leaves for the dancing.

85th Year Opened at Rockford College; 44 Chicagoland Girls

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 24.—Opening this morning its 85th year, Rockford College for Women welcomed an unusually large and representative freshman class, of which 44 are from the Chicago area. It also inaugurated a new policy in its curriculum, in line with the progressive educational trend of the institution in recent years, by which each member of the incoming class is required to select one course in the expressive or creative arts.

On the theory that every student possesses some leaning toward an artistic expression of some sort, the freshman are offered their choice of music, painting, drawing, dramatics, public speaking, writing or dancing. The idea is to test the ability of the student as well as to raise the artistic appreciation of the whole college.

"The whole trend of our colleges of recent years has been in the direction of a critical study of the social sciences and away from a remote isolation from everyday affairs," President William Arthur Maddox said in his opening address. "A good deal of the future depends on your goodwill, intelligent patriotism and grasp of human affairs."

WOMEN ARE WISE

By Peggy Martin
Famous Beauty Authority

Smart women realize that it is neither sensible nor necessary to pay more than 25c for a fine quality face powder. No more do they pay high prices for fancy boxes and French names. They know that the powder inside is the most important thing. That's why three million American women are regular users of Plough's Favorite Bouquet Face Powder. It clings for hours and blends perfectly with your complexion. Agrees with every skin. None finer. Always ask for Plough's Favorite Bouquet in the square-shaped red box, the largest selling face powder in the world for 25c.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Fish Webster have arrived for their autumn stay at Briarcliff lodge.

Edward J. Berwind gave a dinner last night at the roof garden of the Hotel Pierre for Mr. and Mrs. James W. Ferard and Mrs. James B. Haggin.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Cushing III. are at 4 East Seventy-second street for the autumn and winter. They passed the summer at the estate of Viscountess Ridley at Dorking, Surrey, England.

Mrs. Clarence Winthrop Bowen and her daughter, Mrs. Roxana Van Rensselaer, returned today from their summer hours at Woodstock, Conn.

Mrs. Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte gave a luncheon yesterday in the Japanese garden of the Ritz-Carlton for Mrs. Reginald V. Hiscos.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—A decision as to whether taxes should be revised upwards at the coming session of congress probably will not be reached by President Hoover before the early part of November, treasury officials indicated today. Secretary Andrew Mellon and Ogden Mills, undersecretary of the treasury, are both understood to incline toward steps to boost the declining national revenues, but will not make any definite recommendations to the White House until after further study.

Should the treasury recommend tax revision, it now seems certain it will oppose a general sales tax, but will advocate broadening the tax base to increase the number of those paying taxes, some increase in surtaxes on incomes above $100,000 and certain modifications of the present revenue machinery designed to stabilize receipts from year to year.

Warned by Mellon.

Mr. Mellon already has called attention to the failure of the income taxes to produce sufficient revenues in times of business depression.

A thorough study of the various proposals for tax revisions suggested by members of congress as well as other ways of raising revenues to a point where the American budget can be balanced, at least by 1934, will be initiated by Secretary Mellon and Mr. Mills this coming week. The business outlook around Nov. 1 is expected to be one of the determining factors in their decision.

Figures available to Sept. 22 showed that income tax receipts had fallen about 322 million dollars from the same period last year. Through Sept. 22 for the current fiscal year the collection was $305,594,500.

Total government receipts for this period were $549,962,700, a drop of $241,000,000 from last year. Customs collections gained somewhat and miscellaneous internal revenue declined.

On Sept. 22 the deficit was $369,702,800, compared with a surplus of $49,643,300 a year ago.

The general program of tax legislation has been under scrutiny ever since it became apparent that the rates of the 1928 revenue act would not provide sufficient income in periods of business inactivity to keep the government out of a deficit.

MAKES POLITICIAN BUY SWEATERS FOR WOMEN'S BALL TEAM

Joseph De Salvo, 38 years old, 305 South Halsted street, was ordered yesterday by Municipal Judge Edward B. Casey to buy sweaters for the fifteen members of a women's baseball team who supported him last spring when he ran for the Republican nomination for city treasurer.

Miss Eleanor Bartell, 20 years old, 1646 West Erie street, was the complaining witness. She charged that several weeks ago De Salvo called her to his apartment and asked her to clean it up in preparation for a party which he planned to give for her and other members of the team. She scrubbed floors in eight rooms, she said, only to be told when she returned that evening that the party had been called off. When she asked him to pay her $2.25 for the work he threw her out, she charged.

BIRNEY JOINS MAROON LINEUP FOR TOMORROW

Half Back Declared Eligible.

Joe Birney, Grand Island, Neb., fullback, a regular on the 1930 squad, was declared eligible yesterday and joined the Maroons in the semifinal practice for the opening game with Cornell and Hillsdale tomorrow afternoon on the Midway.

Punting and passing again was stressed by Coach Stagg, with Birney who probably will be in the line-up tomorrow, throwing the passes to Fay, veteran end, and Teigo, one of the promising candidates who will be on the line in the opener.

Carl Gabel, one of Stagg's four leading backs, who returned to the squad late in night after it seemed that he had dropped out of competition. Gabel is a nerve that was irritated by the recent work in the line. Doctors said his that they could not relieve the condition but that he could play if it would to do so.

The Maroon back field against Cornell tomorrow will consist of Paul Fay, quarter back; Gene Buzzell, Joe Birney, and Vinson Sahlin. Bob Zuber will be at quarter back when Hillsdale, and his back field mates will be Birney, Allan Summers, and George Mahoney. Summers, the last an high school experience, has shown promise, and Mahoney is a capable sophomore.

CORNELL SCRIMMAGES

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—With only one practice session coming before the game with the University of Chicago on Saturday, Coach Dick Barker sent the Cornell varsity through a long scrimmage today.

A few members have been handicapped by early season bruises, but all will be in condition for Saturday's game. Reichardt will play center, with Bennett and Osborn, two sophomores, at the guards. Warner and Kahler seem first choice for the tackle with Richter and Kuhnke at the ends. In the back field Campbell is probable quarter back, while Hunter and Gabrielsen will get the call at the halves and Adamson at full back.

INDIANA NEARLY READY

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Indiana university football squad have narrowed the field of probable starters in the Ohio university game Saturday to 24 men and tomorrow afternoon will be able to put a probable lineup.

Only four letter men from the 1930 squad are expected to start Saturday. They are Raecker, tackle; Zeller, end; De Doser, quarter back, and Hunt, Banach, a letter man of two years ago who was unable to start season last year on account of an emergency operation, will be a likely candidate for one of the ends.

OHIO PROMOTES CARROLL

Columbus, O., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Scrimmage was stressed in two scrimmages at Ohio State today.

Bill Carroll, who warmed the bench most of last season, was promoted to the first team back field. He is a good open field runner and an excellent passer and receiver. The addition of Carroll was the only change in the first string lineup. With him in the back field were Cramer at quarter, Hutchinson at the other half, and Schmidt at full back.

The line was made up of four veterans, one senior, and two juniors. Sophomores are Smith at center, Hall at one tackle, Gailus at one guard, and Gillman at end; while Vorner at guard and Hunt at end, with Haubrich, the senior, at the other tackle position. Hopkins said today that the injury to Baumgarten, first string guard, was not serious and that he will return to uniform Monday. He worked on ankle in Tuesday's scrimmage.

ILLINI TO PLAY FROSH

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—After three successive days of scrimmage against the freshmen, the University of Illinois football squad turned to fundamentals today. The squad will play a regulation game Saturday afternoon against the freshmen.

Coach Bob Zuppke's search for athletes to bolster the Illini lineup is still in progress. The development of Red Grange as a tackle has brought an emergency note to offset Zuppke's statement that his line is weak from end to tackle. "Frankly," Zuppke said today, "is symptoms' of becoming a tackle." He was shifted this from end.

PURDUE EASES UP

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Following yesterday's scrimmage, Coach Elmer Klaer allowed a slight workout this afternoon in the Purdue field house and devoted the practice largely to smoothing out the wrinkles which were evident against the freshmen. Klaer gave most attention to the passing and tackles. Assistant Coach Perry Carideo directed a long session for the backs, in which they worked on a defense for the type of attack Illinois is expected to use Oct. 15.

CHARITY WINS $21,000 PURSE ON CRETE TURF

Sundot Takes Feature as 10,000 Look On.

BY FRENCH LANE.

A charity day of racing at Lincoln Fields yesterday attracted a crowd of 10,000 and provided about $21,000 for the governor's fund for the unemployed of Will county.

All gate receipts, on which a complete check had not been made last night, went into the charity fund, along with a donation of $5,000 from the Lincoln Fields Jockey club. While the charity crowd, which brought many new faces to the race track, showed much enthusiasm during the running of the seven events, it wasn't a big betting crowd, the regulars from Chicago doing a greater part of the speculating.

Cities, towns and villages in Will county were represented, and the crowd from Chicago was larger than usual on a week day.

Sundot Wins Feature.

Sundot, a 3 year old from Norman W. Church's Northway stable of Los Angeles, won the Joliet Associated Charities purse, which was the day's feature.

He did it in right fancy fashion once he started his drive in the stretch, and got up in time to beat the favorite, Cheers, by a length. He was drawing away when the finish came. Ulunio, which loomed up dangerously soon after the stretch run started, was guided into a tight pocket near the rail as the field neared the finish and while seemingly he was running easier at the finish than any of the others, the best he could get was third money.

Cheers raced out into an early lead, but had to shake off Dedicate nearing the lower bend. He was comfortably in front as he wheeled around the last turn and headed for home. Sundot had been fighting it out with Lady Fingers and Dédicate for second place. Ulunio was back near the rear part of the parade.

Pays $17.92 to Win.

Jockey Moran went to arm and heel on Sundot at the head of the stretch and he soon drove the son of Herodot up on even terms with Cheers. The latter never was noted for having much heart, so he only feebly answered the challenge and then dropped back and was content to save second money.

Sundot ran the six furlongs in 1:12 2-5 and didn't muster much support in the charity day crowd. He paid $17.92 to win, $8.06 to place, and $3.82 to show. It was the best race he has run in Chicago this season.

The Joliet Holly club purse, engaging some fashionable 2 year olds, fell to the odds on choice, Unencumbered, which came from behind and nipped Fireflash as they neared the finish line. Marse Robert, which also had many backers, wound up in third place, but was no match for the winner.

In the early stages Fireflash and Higher fought it out for the lead. Unencumbered was far back. Allen didn't move with Unencumbered until they were heading for home.

TED ROSS BEATS BILLY BAKER IN 8 ROUND BOUT

Battalina Loses Nontitle Bout to Bushy Graham

FOOTBALL for the FAN

BY WILFRID SMITH.

When a team has made a touchdown it is given the opportunity to add another point [the seventh]. This attempt is made from scrimmage with the ball on or behind the opponents' two yard line.

The extra point long has been subject of contention by players, fans and coaches. Each season many important games are lost by failure to score the extra point. Purdue lost two games last year and the Big Ten title through these failures. Michigan won from Purdue, 14 to 13, and Indiana won, 7 to 6. On the other side of the record Purdue whipped Wisconsin 7 to 6. And so on.

We are not concerned with retention or abolition of the extra point. The play is fair to both teams and it does prevent many tie scores. Further, it protects, in some instances, the team which has been scored on "luckily" if any score can be lucky. For instance, Schwartz of Notre Dame ran 54 yards through the Army last fall at Soldiers' field for a touchdown. Carideo kicked the extra point. Then the Army blocked one of Carideo's punts and recovered in the Notre Dame end zone for a touchdown.

Drop Kick Fails, So Notre Dame Wins.

An Army substitute failed to drop kick for the extra point. Notre Dame won, 7 to 6. Notre Dame certainly had proven its ground gaining superiority over the Army, but the game would have been tied except for the extra point.

After several experiments the rule makers have made the try for the extra point a TEAM play. The try for the point may be scored in three ways. Placing the ball on the opponents' two yard line makes all three feasible. The methods of scoring the extra point are:

1. By a field goal [place kick or drop kick].
2. By carrying the ball to or across the opponents' goal line.
3. By completing a forward pass into the opponents' end zone.

The field goal is most common. If the defending team sends too many players through the line to attempt to block the kick, it reduces the number of secondary defenders against wide runs and forward passes. This increases the chance of success for the pass or run. For a team with a great plunger, a direct smash for two yards through the line may be the proper play.

Some teams apparently will prepare to kick but, instead will fake the kick and then run or pass. This fake is presumed to increase the chance of success for the pass or run.

The Kicker Must Be Specialist Under Fire.

The place kick or drop kick depends on specialists. And if the team is fortunate enough to have a player who possesses the ability to kick under fire this method is used almost to the complete exclusion of passing or running.

The drop kick is not as certain under all weather conditions as the place kick. However, when the drop kick is attempted there are three backfield men blocking opponents while during a place kick only two backfield men are in position to block.

The entire line of the team attempting the place kick for the point blocks. Two back field men [BB] block. The back field man [H] holds the ball when it is passed back. [K] is the kicker.

If it is apparent that a place kick will be attempted one of the back field men of the defending team [1] may come up into the line and attempt to charge through. But it is poor judgment to change the positions of back field men 2, 3 and 4. They protect for flanking runs and passes.

Here's a Change in the Foul Rule.

The rule covering the try for the point this year has been amended. If a foul is committed [most common fouls are holding or offside] the customary penalty is inflicted and the try for the point is attempted a second time unless the offended team declines the penalty.

For example, if a lineman of the defending team is offside and the field goal or other scoring play is successful, the offensive team will decline the penalty and take the point. If the point try fails the offensive team will demand the penalty and try for the point again.

If the offensive team is guilty of a foul and the point is made the defending team will demand the penalty and the point must be attempted again. However, if the try has not been made the defending team will decline the penalty and there is no second chance to score the extra point.

Any foul which calls for the loss of a "down" nullifies a second attempt for the extra point. This is infrequent.

Williams Busy Writing a Release for Joe Boley

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Not in the business office but out on the ball field a kid named Dib Williams is engaged in writing the release of Joe Boley from his job as shortstop for the Athletics. Williams is a slow writer, so he may not get the document finished until some time toward the middle of the season of 1932. But when Boley is let go at last after a long career with the Athletics, he will know that a nimble young fellow from Greenbriar, Ark., was the one who filled in the blanks on his walking papers.

Williams is one of the two prize infield upstarts of the 1931 crop, the other being Boob McNair, his roommate and colleague in the Athletics' infield. Williams is a little larger all around than McNair but he is of about the same age, being 21, and of the same country boy temperament.

McNair comes from a place in Mississippi so small that the natives of his home town refer to Meridian as the city. Williams is out of a little stringtown strewn along a country road in Arkansas whose people think of Jonesboro as a sort of New York. In fact, so deep in the bush lies Greenbriar that young Mr. Williams says a year elapsed before the new size dollar bills were seen down there and then the people were inclined to regard them as counterfeit.

Williams hit harder than McNair and a little more often, but his hitting

SOX CRIPPLES TO PARK CRUTCHES FOR CITY SERIES

Bush Sees Chance to Cheer a Bit.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Business from the White Sox playing standpoint threatens to pick up for the impending city series with the Cubs. The cripples, whose absence undoubtedly served to nudge the south siders into eighth place, are coming back to assist in providing Manager Bush with what it is hoped will be a more formidable battle front.

Carl Reynolds who recently tossed aside a pair of crutches as proof that his broken ankle has mended, expects to warm up for the post season event by getting into action when the Sox start their last series of the season at St. Louis.

Bill Cissell will engage in the same sort of preparatory work. Spider Bill has been leading a life of ease for the last several weeks because of pulled leg tendons. Another recent invalid, Catcher Benny Tate, who cracked a finger, will rejoin his mates at St. Louis. That will leave Hal McKain the sole absentee and he will not return until spring.

Cubs Have Advantage.

Bush has reason to cheer at least a bit over the prospects of having Reynolds in service. This is indicated by the current figures on the hitting of the Comiskey fly chasers. Lew Fonseca, converted into an outfielder because there was no room for him any place else, tops his class with .312. Reynolds is next with .295, which is quite a shrinkage over his mark of last season. The three others are practically tied at .286, but even with his modest mark, Jolley, one of the three, might get up in a pinch and prove that averages for a long period mean nothing in a short series.

It is hitting as a whole that gives the Cubs another tremendous advantage, their pitching being the other. As a team the National leaguers are swinging 30 points more effectively than the American leaguers, but some of this edge means nothing because a couple of the Cubs' ranking hitters will not be in action. Hornsby, for instance, with a mark of .329, doesn't intend to play unless necessary. Stephenson, who broke an ankle two months ago when his figure was .319, will confine his city series activity to listening in on the radio at his home down in Alabama.

Cubs Practice.

Here are the batting marks of the men who have the best chance to break into the event as regulars or pinch men:

WHITE SOX.		CUBS.
Blue,1b	.302	English,ss	.319
Sul'van,3b	.285	Herman,2b	.352
Reynolds,of	.295	Cuyler,cf	.329
Fonseca,of	.312	Bell,3b	.280
Jolley,of	.279	Hornsby,3b	.329
Watwood,of	.289	Barton,rf	.340
Fothergill,of	.261	D.Taylor,lf	.294
Appling,ss	.220	Grimm,1b	.333
Cissell,ss	.220	Blair,1b	.250
Kerr,2b	.300	Hartnett,c	.294
Grube,c	.219	Hemsley,c	.277
Teig,c	.261

The above doesn't tell everything about the difference in the attack of the two teams. The 11 White Sox members mentioned have been the authors of 23 home runs this season. The ten Cubs have slapped 63 drives out of the park, Hornsby and Barton being the leaders with 16 and 12, respectively. Cuyler, who by his hitting, fielding and throwing must be conceded the outstanding center fielder in either league, has nine homers to his credit.

The Sox, after a day of idleness, departed for St. Louis last night for single games today and tomorrow and a double header Sunday. The Cubs, so as to avoid staleness in their four successive off days, worked at Wrigley field for two hours. They'll have today to themselves.

Invite Nine Wrestlers to Meet Lewis

Recognition of the heavyweight wrestling title claims of Strangler Lewis by the Illinois state athletic commission was seen yesterday in an invitation from Gen. John V. Clinnin, chairman of the commission and president of the National Boxing association, to nine of the country's leading wrestlers to meet Lewis here in a match for the world's championship.

Acting in his dual capacity as head of the state athletic commission and as a member of the benefits division of the joint emergency relief fund of Cook county, Gen. Clinnin proposes to stage the title bout for the local relief fund.

Londos Included.

In his invitation to each of the nine, Gen. Clinnin stated:

"Mr. Ed Strangler Lewis has posted his forfeit in the amount of $1,000 with the Illinois state athletic commission and issued a challenge to meet any heavyweight wrestler in the world for the title of heavyweight wrestling champion. As chairman of the Illinois state athletic commission, I herewith transmit this challenge and take leave to inform you that Mr. Lewis is ready to enter into a contract to meet you.

May Raise $100,000.

"The joint emergency relief fund is desirous of consummating a world's championship contest, the net proceeds to be given to the committee for its worthy objects in caring for the unfortunate men and women who are in destitute circumstances in this community."

J. Russell Forgan, chairman of the benefits division of the joint emergency relief fund, said: "We earnestly hope Gen. Clinnin is successful in his efforts to bring Lewis and some other worthy opponent together in a title match for the local relief fund. If the right opponent is found for Lewis it should mean at least $100,000 for the fund."

HAWKS' CHIEFS GO TO NATIONAL HOCKEY MEETING

Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, president of the Chicago Blackhawks, and William Tobin, business manager, left yesterday for Montreal to attend the annual meeting of the National Hockey league. Among the propositions up for discussion is the application of the Chicago Shamrocks for membership. The Shamrocks now belong to the American Hockey association. Unanimous approval of the league members is necessary for the admission of a club to the National league. Maj. McLaughlin left without indicating whether or not he would support the Shamrocks' application.

Thompson Fails to Sign; Declare Corbett Champ

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Young Corbett of Fresno, Cal., was hailed tonight by the California state athletic commission as the world's welterweight boxing champion. Sixty days ago the commission agreed to recognize the stocky southpaw as title holder if Young Jack Thompson, Negro, who wears the crown, had not agreed to defend it against Corbett. During the time all efforts to sign the pair failed.

Enid Wilson Meets Helen Hicks.

Semi-Final Pairings

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Pairings for the 18 hole semi-final matches in the women's national golf championship tomorrow are:

Miss Virginia Van Wie vs. Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare.

Miss Helen Hicks vs. Miss Enid Wilson.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Aided by a putter that flashed magic at the crucial moments, Virginia Van Wie of Chicago today defeated Maureen Orcutt, Englewood, N. J., 2 and 1, in the quarter finals of the National Women's Golf championship.

In the three other matches, favorites triumphed rather handily. Glenna Collett Vare, defending her title for the fifth time, eliminated Mrs. Leo G. Federman of Long Island, 5 and 4. Helen Hicks of Hewlett, L. I., whipped Mrs. Leona Pressler of San Gabriel, Cal., and Enid Wilson, the British champion, defeated her countrywoman, Marjorie Kerr, by 4 and 3 margins.

Women Brave Gale.

Play was surprisingly good in view of the weather. A cold, blustery gale blew in from Lake Erie, changing the gallery from a summery clad army to a band of heavy coated, woolen scarfed enthusiasts.

A fair sized group trailed Mrs. Vare but the greater portion of the gallery followed the Van Wie-Orcutt match.

It was the sixth time these girls have met in important events. Up to this morning the count stood three victories to two in Miss Van Wie's favor. She was certain she could make it four. Maureen's victory in the finals of the north-south championship at Pinehurst last spring rankled the popular Chicago lass.

Overcomes Early Lead.

Miss Van Wie won, but it was all work and no play. Miss Orcutt went into an early lead. At the turn Virginia was even, playing magnificent golf without any putting breaks. Not only did the long ones fail to drop but the three footers were evading the cup.

A break came at the 12th and the Chicago star pounced upon it. Miss Orcutt's chip overran the green. Miss Van Wie moved into a lead by playing the hole cagily.

Neither could gain an advantage for the next three holes. At the 16th Miss Van Wie retaliated by giving Miss Orcutt her big chance. She had an eight foot putt, Miss Orcutt a three footer. Miss Van Wie holed out, and Miss Orcutt was so surprised she missed.

Meets Mrs. Vare.

Then came one of the most dramatic finishes in the history of the event. Both were down the middle of the fairway. Their third shots left them on the green, Miss Orcutt 30 feet short and Miss Van Wie 12 feet past the flag. Miss Orcutt, putting gamely for a par four, had the discouraging experience of seeing her ball go in and out of the hole, whereupon Miss Van Wie electrified the gallery and dashed her opponent's hopes by holing out a partial stymied 12 footer for a par four and victory.

Miss Van Wie meets Mrs. Vare in the 18 hole semi-final tomorrow. In their last meeting, in the 36 hole final of the national in Los Angeles in 1930, Mrs. Vare defeated Miss Van Wie, 6 and 5. Miss Hicks and Miss Wilson meet in the other semi-final match.

KLEIN'S AVERAGE DROPS 2 POINTS AGAINST PIRATES

Chuck Klein, the only National league batting leader to play a regularly scheduled game yesterday, yielded his place in the big six to Jim Bottomley of St. Louis, slipping off to fourth in the National league standing.

Klein failed to get a hit against Pittsburgh, and dropped three points to .328. Al Simmons was the only other big six member to get into action. He lost two points, hitting safely only once in five times up. The standing:

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 24.—They gurgle a great deal in St. Louis about the class of the Cardinal outfield, but when they do it they focus principally on the batting average of Chick Hafey and the speed of Pep Martin and George Watkins. Little is said of the luckiest player in the National league, Wallie Roettger, who was traded from the tailend Cincinnati club in the Taylor Douthit deal.

Hafey unmistakably is head and shoulders above his outfield companions, though he has not been able to approach his regular season form in any of the three world series in which he has participated. The following figures, based on his season average and his series average, reveal that he never has improved his mark in the big money event.

	Regular season.	World series.
1928	.371	.185
1930	.337	.300
1930	.336	.375

The official figures show that this year Hafey is batting .353. This tabulation was built up, however, by a whirlwind campaign during the last six weeks. Chick was a most persistent holdout last spring and did not swing into action as early as usual.

Doc Has Hafey Seeing the Same.

Hafey, as most fans know, hits the ball frequently and for great distances despite the handicap of wearing specs. It is said that Chick's ailment isn't solved by the use of glasses, but that he must visit an oculist every day. Hafey's success, therefore, and quite incidentally, would seem to hold out some comeback hopes for Mack Wilson, providing Hack can choose the right kind of glasses.

During the last five years, or since he has been having his eyes treated, Hafey's season mark never has been under .330 nor more than .339, which shows that his eye doc has him seeing the same year after year. Chick is only 28 years old, so it looks like plenty of work for oculists for another seven or eight years.

Watkins has suffered a big falling off in his batting work in this his second year with the Cards. Last season he was the National league's freshman sensation with a mark of .375, which this year has faded to .283. Though George has failed to hit so well he has had a big part in some of the Cards' most gratifying victories, in which 13 homers have been factors. He also has been fourth in knocking triples, with a total of 13, according to the last official figures.

Watkins Bounced Around the Farms.

Watkins is one of the fellows to whom players on other teams point in reciting the horrible effects of the Cardinal chain store system. Though only a second year man, George is past 29 and had been bouncing about the chain beginning with Houston in 1926. Watkins has virtually given up the idea of hitting lefthanded pitching, which makes his prospect for constant appearance in the impending world series a rather bleak affair.

Pep Martin, who chased the veteran Douthit out of center field this year, is another player who spent his early twenties under wraps in the Cardinal Farm chain. Pep is 27 years old, which is a lot of age for a fellow playing his first year in the majors.

Pep says he likes the majors, only he has to do a lot of running to keep in shape. He says that when he used to play in the East Texas league he drove a display wagon advertising the game mornings, then went to the ball park and got the grounds in shape before practice. Then he would pitch and hit in practice and play in the game in most any position to which he was assigned.

Martin, who also is known as the Wild Horse of the Osage, though of vast energy, determination, speed and general zeal, has not built up a reputation from extreme cunning on the baselines.

What's a Triple Play to Martin?

Recently in Cincinnati the Reds perpetrated a triple play against the Cardinals and Martin was one of the victims. Pep refused to be convinced immediately that a triple play was sufficient to retire the side and, seeing the Reds a little relaxed but pausing for some reason or other, started running bases, first from first to second and then from second to third. He was about to steal home when some one roped him and brought to his attention the fact that the other Cardinals had taken their defensive positions. The dashing about of the Wild Horse so befuddled the official scorer that he forgot to set down a triple play and an official announcement was made the next day that a triple play had been completed.

Roettger, the league wanderer, probably will play in the world series games pitched by Grove, and Walberg, if any. Wally is a very aloof young man, but still a fair ball player even though the adulation of Bloomington, Ill., basketball fans [he's coach at Illinois Wesleyan, you know] may have made him take himself a little bit too seriously. But confidence never hurt a ball player, anyhow.

Becker's Land of Takatu Appears in Book Form

Land of the Takatu, the Brazilian adventure story, which ran in ten installments in the sport pages of THE TRIBUNE last spring, appears today in book form.

This story of the thrilling adventures of three Boy Scouts in the jungles of Brazil was written by Bob Becker and was based on his experiences while hunting and exploring in the Amazon country for the Field museum. Several new episodes have been added to the story for its publication by Reilly & Lee, Chicago.

Mr. Becker also has written a 350 page illustrated book of fishing adventures and angling lore which will be published Oct. 7 by Bobbs-Merrill of Indianapolis.

Sharkey Hurt; Delay Carnera Bout 2 Weeks

New York, Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, today won his plea before the New York state athletic commission for a two weeks' postponement of his bout with Primo Carnera, scheduled for Oct. 1 at Ebbets field, and Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia stepped in the breach and accepted a match with the Italian giant for Oct. 1. Although the Loughran-Carnera 15 round bout was not definitely announced, it was learned the match had been made and will be announced tomorrow.

The Sharkey-Carnera bout was postponed to Columbus day, Oct. 12, giving the Boston heavyweight more than two weeks to recover from his injury.

Sharkey had complained of a severe pain in the little finger of his left hand, his voice rising to such a pitch that the commission called a special meeting this morning to have four doctors examine the digit.

The four doctors — Dr. William Walker, Dr. Joseph Sheridan, Dr. Alexander Schiff and Dr. Joseph Baldwin—after an examination reported that Sharkey should be allowed "a short time to recover completely from the ailment complained of."

Meantime Carnera, who had been training for the Sharkey bout for five weeks, presented his complaint, demanding that he be allowed to fight Oct. 1 as scheduled. The commission then granted the Italian the right to fight.

James J. Johnston, promoter of the Sharkey-Carnera bout, left the commission's office and went into a lengthy conference with Joe Smith, manager of Loughran. Later Smith announced he had accepted terms for a 15 round bout.

Williams Busy Ousting Boley from His Job

wouldn't earn him the job of shortstop with the A's if he didn't have a young and nimble pair of legs and a loose, accurate throwing arm which enables him to come up with close decisions over the runners on long throws from deep short to first.

This will be no news to Boley, of course, for every ball player with a steady job and a great reputation realizes that the time comes closer every day when some young fellow will come along and get his job the way he got it himself. Still, Boley is so fond of playing ball and he has put so much into his work for years that he may be pardoned if he feels a little private resentment.

Up to now, it is true, Williams is not as suave in his work as Boley has been for years. Boley's fielding has been so smooth and calm, his instinct for the right play in all cases is so reliable that a young fellow just a year out of the taped ball leagues cannot be expected to match him in style and grace.

But Williams is improving fast and, furthermore, at a time when both Boley and Max Bishop are showing more plainly the wear and tear of their service, he is paired with this kid McNair in a combination that may develop into a completely satisfactory replacement.

Now that Al Simmons' leg is better and Mickey Cochrane's nerves are less feverish and Mule Haas' left wrist is sufficiently well to let him play in the world series, there is only one member of the troupe who is pretty sure to give way to an understudy some time during the world series. That one is Joe Boley, the industrious Pole who was ready for the major leagues and waiting in Baltimore with the Orioles for almost five years while the major league magnates waited for his purchase price to drop. When this happens, Williams of Greenbriar, Ark., will be the name and address of the substitute.

Schriver Keeps Jiu Jitsu Title; Beats Schaeffer

V. John Schriver, national brown belt jiu jitsu champion, defended his title yesterday by defeating J. C. Schaeffer, Pacific coast champion, 15 points to 10, in a match at the Jiu Jitsu studio at 22 East Huron street.

Schriver won the last three falls to score his winning points after Schaeffer had thrown him twice and seemed about to score a shutout. Starting with the preliminary duels in which the opponents seize each other by the coat lapels and perform a modified schottische while sparring for an opening, Schaeffer slipped Schriver over his hip onto the small of his back and applied an elaborate hold known as a side arm lock. Schriver surrendered just when it appeared that he was being separated into his component parts.

Schaeffer followed up his advantage by planting his right foot in the pit of Schriver's stomach and tossing him in a parabola onto the large of his back and gaining the second fall with another arm lock.

Schriver took the third fall, forcing the coast champion to give up after a few seconds of suffering under the torture of a blood choke. The blood choke is an improvised garrote, the garroter using his forearms as a pair of scissors to choke off the flow of blood to the head, thereby making the head virtually useless for practical purposes. It was explained that unless the victim of the choke surrenders while still in possession of his faculties, he must regain consciousness within 15 minutes or forfeit the match, the only compensation for failing to give up being the privilege of having his name inscribed upon a headstone.

Schriver took the fourth and fifth falls in quick order by using the choke hold, Schaeffer apparently having weakened under the first.

PROPOSE CHANGE IN HARMSWORTH CUP RACE RULES

New York, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Recommendations which would make the competition for the Harmsworth trophy, premier speed boat racing event of the world, safer for the competitors and prevent any such occurrence as marred the last race at Detroit have been made by Charles F. Chapman of New York to the three organizations under whose control the race is run.

Chapman, secretary of the racing commission of the American Power Boat association, suggested twelve changes in the rules. The most important of which would prevent false starts. He suggested that the start be paced, with the competing boats approaching the line abreast, instead of the present system which allows a boat to cross the starting line at full speed within five seconds of the fall of the last starting ball.

Another important change would limit each country to one boat and another would lengthen the course from five to ten miles providing straight runs of three miles.

Chapman's recommendations were addressed to the Royal Motor Yacht club of England and the family of the late Lord Northcliffe [Sir Alfred Harmsworth], donor of the trophy. He represented those two groups on the international commission. The other organization having a voice in the race is the Yachtman's Association of America.

200 POUNDERS IN NEBRASKA'S LINE WORRY WILDCATS

Froberg Is Shifted from Center to Tackle.

While most of the activities in the Northwestern football camp point toward the Notre Dame game Oct. 10, there is a growing realization that the game with Nebraska Oct. 3 will give the Wildcats a busy afternoon.

The Cornhuskers will invade Evanston with a veteran line headed by Hugh Rhea, national collegiate shot put champion, who plays tackle. The forwards average 200 pounds.

Lloyd Evans and George Dilley appear to be entrenched as regular guards, but the reserves lack both weight and speed. The leading candidates other than the regulars are Hi Cassidy, Joe Larocque, Jimmie Vail, and Paul Youngberg.

Contact work yesterday was confined to a forward pass scrimmage between the first and second teams. Pug Rentner, Ollie Olsen, and George Potter, the latter two sophomores, did most of the throwing. Eyler and Manske led the ends at receiving.

Capt. Marvil turned up with a leg injury which will keep him out of action for several days. Reb Russell will be able to resume practice after being out since last Saturday. Others still incapacitated are Koetbade and Gosling, ends, and Al Moore, halfback.

Tickets for the Notre Dame game will go on sale today at Spalding's in the loop and at Dyche stadium in Evanston. All mail order applications have been filled and will be released tomorrow.

PICK GOPHER LINEUP

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—The last scrimmage before the opening games of the season today provided a good indication of the Minnesota starting lineup against the North Dakota Aggies Saturday afternoon.

Robinson and Tooter will be at the ends, Roland and Gay at the tackles, Horn and Rathbun, guards, and Stein, center. Manders will be at full back, with Swarts and Wally Hass at the halves and Pete Somers at quarter.

Horn's punting was spectacular, one of his kicks carrying more than 60 yards. The ends failed to show improvement in getting down under punts.

Rudolf Anderson, veteran end, practically has decided to turn in his uniform for this season because of a heavy classroom program and the ankle he has been having with an injured knee.

MICHIGAN SKULL DRILL

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Coach Harry Kipke sent the University of Michigan football squad through a rehearsal of plays during its morning session today and handed out new formations to his regulars in the afternoon. Second stringers were put through a scrimmage.

Ten who may be regulars or will join the first reserve were unable to take part during the scrimmage on the group who will play the "B" games. In fact, they were saved from being sent in by fumbles. In the B group was Jarvis Hicks, gulf star, who for the first time is seeking gridiron honors.

Bradley and Yost, ends; Goldsmith and Bernard, tackles; Sikkenga and Judd, guards; Cooke, center; Westover, quarterback; Stinespring and Kinnel, halfbacks; and Brymen, fullback, made up the heavier group, while Hamm and Kelley, ends; Savage and Chabot, tackles; Conover and Johnson, guards; Winston, center; Bidwell, quarterback; Hicks and Kinnel, halfbacks; and Hayes, fullback, made up the "B" eleven.

Joe Morrison was given special work in covering passes, while Goldsmith, Everhardus and Petoskey practiced kicking off. Goldsmith was best, having several over the goal line.

MAKE SCHWARTZ A PUNTER

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—While the third string was holding scrimmage this afternoon, Assistant Coach Jack Chevigny concentrated on efforts to uncover a varsity punter for Saturday's game with the Drake troops.

Efforts to make a triple threat man out of Marchy Schwartz by adding passing to his running and passing ability are proving successful. Marchy seems to be the only man on the squad capable of placing his punts.

Others, Charlie Jasikwhich, Mike Koken, Ray Brancheau, and Al Mohat all got plenty of distance, but none had the necessary control. Kosky, one of the smallest men on the squad, boots the longest ball, most of his efforts traveling more than 60 yards in the air.

KNOX TO MEET MACOMB GRID TEAM TOMORROW

Galesburg, Ill., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Coach Burt Jackson sent the Knox football team through a light drill this afternoon in the closing practice for the game here Saturday against Western Teachers of Macomb. Jackson will have seven letter men in the starting lineup.

The showing made on the field Saturday will decide who will make the trip to New York the following week when Knox plays the Army. Twenty-two players, Coaches Jackson and Trevor and one student manager will go on the eastern trip.

SULLIVAN TO PITCH.

Jerry Sullivan, star semi-pro hurler for several years, will pitch for the Duffy A. C. in a double header against the Mills stadium Sunday.

Goldenberg, Veteran Back, Joins Badgers

Madison, Wis., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Wisconsin's football squad put on its best practice of the week today before several hundred students and townspeople. The ball carriers flashed numerous long runs and completed a good percentage of passes. Rebholz and Linfor made sprints of 15 and 20 yards through broken fields, and Rebholz, for the first time since his freshman days, showed ability to cut back effectively. Stout, 240 pound tackle; Kabat, and Kranheld were outstanding linemen.

Buckets Goldenberg of Milwaukee, leading blocker of last year's Wisconsin back field, unexpectedly rejoined the squad this afternoon and was put to work with the fourth team. Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite said that Goldenberg will be advanced to a regular position if and when his play warrants it.

Bo Cuisinier, freshman coach, had 155 candidates out today. The number is expected to reach 200 by Saturday. With the exception of about a dozen men, the men appear light.

CAPTAIN'S LEG BROKEN

Magnussen, a senior, was chosen co-captain elect for the 1930 team at the close of the 1929 season, but was later declared ineligible for a breach of discipline.

Rated as one of the best men in the Hawkeye line, weakened by the loss of most of last year's veterans, Magnussen was being depended upon this year to steady the entire forward wall. His place probably will be filled by Lyman Case, a veteran reserve for two years, or Ed Dolly, guard, who held the pivot post last year.

PERSCHE MEETS EMIL PAPPAS IN FRONTON FIGHT

Three feature bouts and five others are on the amateur boxing program tonight at the Fronton A. C., Clark street and Lawrence avenue. Light heavyweights are featured in two of the bouts.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE: Johnny Arata, whom oldtimers from around 37th and the Grove will remember as dispenser for Kerwin and Johnson, was one of the most ardent turf fans of the neighborhood. After opening up at 8 o'clock, Johnny studied the dope until customers dropped in on their way to work when he gave them his "one best bet."

Back in 1906, when the ponies were making their merry-go-round at Roby, one of the stables there was owned by Judge Watkins of Petersburg, Ill. The Judge owned The Hero, a short-bred sire, which he bred each season to some shorter-bred mares. Each spring he brought to the races a flock of 2-year-olds and many a "good thing" was put over by this stable, each of which Johnny knew about because the Judge made his home during race meetings with a relative in the neighborhood. What made the prices longer was that the Judge was not a heavy bettor, being content with the purses.

In this string was a colt named Silver Fringe. He was run once or twice to educate him, then placed where it was thought he could win. So Johnny, with ambitions for a bankroll, probed among his customers for one with courage to bet $100, finally found him and took him to the track that day.

When odds of 8 to 1 were posted, John's customer lost part of his courage. John had him all pepped up again, however, when who should come shoving and rushing through the ring but the Judge. Seeing Johnny, he shouted to him, "There's 7 to 1," and scurried on to the block man. John's friend rushed after him in time to see the Judge hand a brand new crisp $1 bill into the dollar book.

John's man shoved his $100 back in his pocket, remarked, "Just how well did you say the Judge liked his horse?" went up in the stand and watched the race. Silver Fringe won in a romp.

P. S.—Hugh E. Keough (Hek), first conductor of The Wake, could vouch for this story were he alive.

Where Did You Get That Hat?

I'm writing today for no good reason
Of the girlies' hats this autumn season.
Those derby-shaped "lids" are all out of bounds
On a lady who never rode to the hounds.

But on some of the lassies it sure looks like—well!
Empress Eugenie, yours is the sin—

Again, when we asked Pat Joyce, railroad man and owner of that gallant steed (not speed) Dick O'Hara, if he could get a fast train stopped at a non-stop station to accommodate a party of school girls, wouldn't it be just like him to ask, "How long do you want it stopped, a couple of days?"

St. Mel Beats St. Patrick in League Opener, 7 to 0

St. Mel High school won its opening game in the north section of the Catholic league last night by defeating St. Patrick, 7 to 0, at Mills stadium. Eddie Lain scored for the victors on a 40 yard end run in the first quarter.

St. Philip, north section title contender in the Chicago Catholic High School league, will seek its second victory of the season tonight at Mills stadium, Kilpatrick avenue and Lake street, when it meets Fenwick High school of Oak Park.

Capt. Mahoney and Pat Keanelly, veteran linemen injured in practice, will not be in the St. Philip lineup. St. Philip defeated St. Ignatius in the season opener last week.

"We are depending on Capt. Bob Schwartz and Eddie Belser to bring Oak Park its 17th victory in the 19th annual game with Austin of the west section Saturday afternoon," writes George Schustek. "The Villagers' back field is not heavy, but it is fast."

Bowen, which will go to Benton Harbor, Mich., tomorrow, scrimmaged with Mount Carmel yesterday at Bessemer park. The Catholic leaguers scored a 6 to 0 victory when Fulf Back McKernan intercepted a pass and ran 40 yards.

Evanston, Suburban league champion, will open the 1931 season tomorrow afternoon against Senn of the north section. Senn dropped its opening game last week, losing to Loyola academy.

St. Louis Plays Millikin in Opening Game Tonight

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 24.—(AP)—The St. Louis university billikens will open the local football season tomorrow night when they tackle James Millikin university at Decatur, Ill., champion of the Little Nineteen conference, at Edward J. Walsh Memorial stadium.

BOOTH RETURNS TO LINEUP AND ELI VARSITY WINS

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Dispelling all reports that he is not in the best of condition, Capt. Albie Booth this morning entered into the scrimmage of the first string regulars against the scrubs and tallied the only touchdown that had been scored against them in three successive sessions of scrimmage practice this week. Booth ran through a hole opened by Ed Rotan, the intercollegiate heavyweight wrestling champion, and Eddie Doonan, to score from the 12 yard mark.

Along with Booth in the regular back field were Pat Sullivan at quarter back, Tom Taylor at right half and John Muhlfeld full back. Though they were frequently stopped by the alert scrub team, the forward passing was the best seen for three days.

STADIUM DICKERS FOR GRIFFITH AND SCHAAF REMATCH

Negotiations for a rematch between Ernie Schaaf and Tuffy Griffith were continued last night by the Chicago Stadium. If the bout is made it will be fought the latter part of next month.

While the fighters are agreeable, the contracts have not been signed, but Matchmaker Lewis expects to have the papers in order within the next few days. Johnny Buckley, Schaaf's manager, left for home yesterday.

Grinnell Seeks 13th in Row Over Coe Tonight

Grinnell, Ia., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Grinnell college will try to increase its string of victories over Coe college to 13, when they meet here tomorrow night. In 21 games the Pioneers have won 12, tied 1, and lost 8.

Tackles Are Big Problem at De Paul

De Paul university instituted a search for tackles yesterday as the Blue Demons worked in preparation for the North Dakota university game a week from tonight.

The Dakotans have won the championship of the North Central conference for three consecutive years and in that time have lost only one game, that to Army.

The North Dakota team has two big tackles, while De Paul has been weakened in this department since the injury of Johnny O'Brien. Pete Burskis, in his first varsity game, played the latter part of the Detroit game in O'Brien's place and probably will start against the Dakotans. Hal Cherne will be at the other.

Where Line Coach Ben Conner's problem begins is finding suitable reserve tackles. Frank Hamilton has been on the verge of a regular job several times but always has displayed a weakness in blocking. Casey, Fitzgerald, and Sexton are the other three striving for recognition.

Coach Anderson devoted most of yesterday's drill to perfecting offense. The Demons proved themselves greatly advanced in defense in the Detroit game, having little trouble breaking up both the Titans' running and passing plays.

STECHER BREAKS WYKOFF'S RIBS WITH SCISSORS

Columbus, O., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Lee Wykoff, brother of the Cardinal pitcher, Dick Wykoff, a former University of Missouri athlete, was in the hospital here today as a result of his match with Joe Stecher, former world's heavyweight wrestling champion, last night.

HAIR HEALTHY

This town is full of men whose appearance is almost perfect. And the "almost" is because they're careless with their hair.

They don't realize it. They don't know that the care of the hair begins where the hair begins—in the scalp.

The scalp gets dry. Parched. Tight. It can't keep healthy without a workout any more than your muscles can! It needs exercise. It needs massage. It needs a 60-second workout twice a week!

Take that much time—just two minutes a week, a tenth of the time you spend shaving—to rub Vitalis into your dried-out scalp.

Instead of being parched and "lazy," your scalp will be fed anew by the oils that keep hair healthy. Instead of itching with dandruff, it will be healthy and clean. And your hair will remain thick, naturally lustrous, always in place—without a trace of the "patent-leather" look!

Give your head the 60-second workout today. Repeat it every three or four days. All druggists and barbers have Vitalis. It's pure. It's what your hair needs. Get it today!

Ask your Barber

Your barber gets a close-up of your hair every time you go to him. He sees what it looks like—and he knows what it needs. When he suggests Vitalis, listen to him! He's giving you sane, sound advice—and you'd better take it!

New York, Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Another long shot captured the featured race at Aqueduct today when the Belair stud's Pardee, at 12 to 1, got home in front of half a dozen others in the Babylon handicap. It was the third successive time that William Woodward's color bearers have won this stake. In 1929 Flying Gal was first and last year Ormesby was the winner in the renewal which saw Twenty Grand finish out of the money.

Pardee led from start to finish under 115 pounds and was good enough at the end to hold off Cambal, which finished a length and a half ahead of Fall Apple.

The time for the six furlongs was the slowest in the history of the stake except for the inaugural running in 1917. Jack Hare Jr. won in 1:14 1-5 in that year and Pardee scored in the same time today.

Worthy Wood Takes Circuit Trot Feature

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Worthy Wood won the forty-third renewal of the Transylvania at the Grand Circuit track here today. He is owned by Harry Wood, Mechanicburg, O. Peter Patch, star stake trotter of the year in his division, was suffering from a slight lameness and finished among the also rans.

The Hollyrood for 2:18 pacers proved the best of the day. The Indiana mare, Myrtle Mckylo, won the first heat in 2:00 1-4. The Calumet farm four year old, Calumet Alden, was a handy winner in succeeding heats, making a new record of 2:01½ in the second.

The western trotter, Maxhall, won the opening race by taking the first two heats and setting a new record of 2:03. Rose Marie Abbe had little difficulty in beating the three year old pacers.

Field of Nine Is Named to Start in $10,000 Race

A field of nine is in prospect for the renewal of the $10,000 added Marquette handicap at Lincoln Fields tomorrow afternoon. The race is at a mile and a furlong.

Pittsburgher and Dark Sea both worked brilliantly for the race yesterday. Other starters will include Plucky Play, Brown Wisdom, Satin Spar, Paul Bunyan, Chief John, Don Leon, and My Dandy.

Col. Edward R. Bradley is to be represented in the Hawthorne Gold Cup. His colorbearer will be Kai Feng. Bradley paid $30,000 for the colt out of the Rancocas dispersal sale of horses. On Labor day Kai Feng ran a mile in 1:36 at Belmont Park, which indicates he can run about as fast as any man's horse.

C. W. Hay, general manager of the Washington Park track, sold ten yearlings of his own breeding in the paddock at Lincoln Fields yesterday. Dick Morris of Chicago paid top price for a bay colt by Paicines-Bit o' Glory. The colt went to the Chicagoan on a bid of $2,000. This youngster is a half-brother to Scotland's Glory, which won a number of races early in the season.

REPORT SHOWS STRENGTH OF U. S. CURRENCY

Huge Gold Sum Back of Paper Money.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The American dollar now stands up like a mountain in a plain. It hasn't been devaluated and it is firmly backed up by gold. All this is shown in the weekly statement of the federal reserve system, issued last night. And this statement is particularly interesting and illuminating in view of the British suspension of the gold standard this week.

The bulk of American paper money are liabilities of federal reserve notes. There were $2,045,005,000 of such paper currency outstanding last Wednesday. But on that day the reserve banks held $3,227,433,000 in gold and of this great treasure they set aside $2,363,361,000 exclusively against their paper currency. In other words, every dollar in federal reserve paper money issued was backed by more than $1.07 in gold.

Confidence in Currency.

There is no doubt that the American people have full confidence in their currency. Federal reserve notes in circulation increased $39,109,000 in the last week. It is the criticism of bankers that the recent almost steady expansion in paper currency represents hoarding by ultra-timid persons who have withdrawn their money from banks. The present state of trade hasn't necessitated any particular increase in money. But the hoarding of money is hampering the normal use of credit and delaying business recovery.

Whether temporary or not, the federal reserve system is expanding its credit facilities and the stronger demand for such credit is a sign pointing to some improvement in trade and industry. The member banks of the system in the last week increased their borrowings from the reserve banks by $44,853,000 and the reserve banks themselves also furnished additional credit by purchasing $25,419,000 of bankers' acceptances, although this was somewhat offset by the sale of $8,615,000 of government securities.

Credit Is Available.

The reserve system is in position to furnish additional credit as needed, as it loans to the member banks now outstanding only $309,827,000 and its holdings of bankers' acceptances are only $345,189,000. Its holdings of government obligations total $737,985,000. Another interesting item in the report is the fact that foreign banks have $162,973,000 on deposit in our reserve banks, although they have reduced this item by $35,224,000 in the last week. Total deposits fell off $9,133,000, which was largely responsible for gold and total reserves declining $153,306,000 and $156,254,000, respectively. The ratio of total reserves to all liabilities now stands at 77 per cent, compared with 78.4 per cent last week.

No Change in Rate.

The New York reserve bank yesterday made no change in its 1½ per cent rediscount rate, despite rumors of an advance. Its report showed an increase of $7,166,000 in member bank borrowings, which now total $53,841,000. Bankers' acceptances receded $1,057,000. Deposits dropped $125,347,000. Reserves declined $109,983,000, and the reserve ratio eased to 78.9 per cent, compared with 79.6 per cent last week.

The Chicago reserve bank reported an increase of 27,102,000 in member bank borrowings, which total $32,684,000. Bankers' acceptances expanded $3,767,000, but government securities declined $2,098,000. Deposits fell $16,000,000. Reserves declined $46,735,000, and the reserve ratio sagged to 81 per cent, compared with 85.7 per cent last week.

Anaconda Copper Company Omits Quarterly Dividend

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 24.—Directors of the Anaconda Copper Mining company decided today to omit the quarterly dividend on the capital stock "because of continued lack of demand for the metals and metal products of the company and the extremely low prices prevailing."

In each of the last two quarters Anaconda paid 37½ cents a share, which followed a succession of reductions from the $7 annual rate in force from May, 1929, to May, 1930. The annual basis was cut to $3.50 in August, 1930, to $2.50 in November of that year and to $1.50 last May.

Incidentally, this is the second time since 1900 that Anaconda common has been taken off a dividend basis. Payments were omitted in 1921 and 1922 as a result of conditions in the copper market which were similar in many respects to recent events. Disbursements in varying amounts have been made in all other years of the current century.

Largest Copper Producer.

The company with its subsidiaries is the world's leading producer of copper and one of the leading makers and fabricators of copper products. It is also an important producer of other metals. Mines are currently operating at about 40 per cent of normal capacity, it was announced today.

Following omission of the dividend the board said:

"Compensation of all salaried officers and employés, except those in the minimum classes, were reduced from 5 to 15 per cent as of July 1 and wage adjustments have also been made."

The Liquid Carbonic company declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents, placing the stock on a $2, annual basis against $3.00 paid previously. The dividend is payable Nov. 1.

Directors of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company declared today a dividend of 50 cents a share compared with the previous rate of $1 paid in March and June this year. Prior to June the company had been paying $1.50 quarterly.

The latest declaration reduces the annual dividend rate to the lowest amount in more than fifty years. Since the beginning of the current century, Lackawanna has distributed annual dividends ranging from $4 to $65 in addition to substantial stock dividends from time to time.

Passes Quarterly Dividend.

Directors of the New York Air Brake company have passed the quarterly dividend on the common stock due at this time. Three months ago the rate was reduced from 40 cents to 25 cents.

Omission of the quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the preferred stock of the Kelsey Hayes Wheel corporation was voted by the board. The usual extra dividend of 6¼ cents a share was declared on the participating preferred of the Brooklyn Borough Gas company.

The Pere Marquette railway has omitted the dividends on the prior preferred and preferred shares due at this time. The Pepperell Manufacturing company voted a reduction in its quarterly common dividend from $1.50 to $1.

The directors of the Reading company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent on the common stock. The General Realty and Utilities corporation decided today to defer payment of the dividend due Oct. 15 on the $6 cumulative preferred stock.

MONETARY GOLD HELD IN U. S. DECREASED BY $118,000,000

Washington, Sept. 24.—(AP)—A decrease of $118,000,000 in the amount of monetary gold held in the United States for the week ending Sept. 23 was announced tonight in the federal reserve board's weekly statement.

The decrease reduced the total held by the United States to $4,897,000,000 and constituted the first sizeable reduction in gold held in this country in more than a year. The principal operation which caused the decrease was the ear marking of $123,000,000 of gold for foreign accounts. At the same time there were shipments of $5,000,000 to the United States making the net loss $118,000,000.

The New York federal reserve bank today reported that an additional $64,000,000 in gold had been set aside for foreign account, making a reduction in American monetary gold stock of approximately $180,000,000 this week. These losses in monetary gold, coming just as American stocks had topped the $5,000,000,000 mark, are interpreted as reflecting the desire of foreign central banks to have large stocks of metal available during the current European unsettlement.

BROKERS' LOANS DROP

As the result of the decline in the stock market in the last week brokers' loans dropped $64,000,000 to a new low total of $1,207,000,000. The current total compared with $3,222,000,000 a year ago, marking a decline of $2,015,000,000. The interior banks withdrew $58,000,000 and nonbanking lenders took down $14,000,000.

HEARST BORROWS $600,000 ON HIS RANCH HOLDINGS

San Luis Obispo, Cal., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—One of the largest realty loans of recent record in this county, both in money and acreage involved, was effected here today with the recording of a trust deed to 85,000 acres of land belonging to William Randolph Hearst and pledged as security for $600,000 loaned by the Financial Holding company of Los Angeles to the Piedmont Land and Cattle company. The latter is a corporation owned practically in its entirety by Mr. Hearst.

The land figuring as security for the loan lies in San Luis Obispo and Monterey counties and includes the major Hearst ranch, excepting about 2,000 acres surrounding his ranch home at San Simeon. The property is officially known as the Piedra Blanca ranch of some 51,000 acres. Also included are the San Miguelito ranch and the El Piojo ranch lying in Monterey county. They comprise about 25,000 acres and are also owned by Hearst's land and cattle company. The whole acreage pledged is said to be valued at close to $1,500,000.

The Piedra Blanca, one of the largest of the old Spanish ranches of central California, has a frontage of some sixteen miles on the ocean and extends inland for several miles. The publisher's home estate, which is not included in the mortgage, is known as the San Simeon ranch proper and lies immediately north of San Simeon bay and the village of the same name.

Chicago Power Output Is Slightly Under Last Year

Output of electricity in the Chicago district for the week ended Sept. 19 totaled 101,015,000 kilowatt hours as compared with 101,702,000 kilowatt hours in the same week of 1930, a drop of 7-10 of 1 per cent. Output in the two preceding weeks averaged 94,227,000 kilowatt hours, indicating that a belated seasonal increase in consumption is taking place.

BANKERS' ACCEPTANCE MARKET DISTURBED; DISCOUNT RATES UP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 24.—Turmoil prevailed in the market for bankers' acceptances today, accompanying heavy offerings of bills, mainly, it is said, by foreign central banks and other foreign banks in the face of a light demand, with the result that discount rates were again raised, this time ¼ of 1 per cent for all maturities. New rates are:

	Bid.	Asked.
For 30, 60 and 90 days	1⅝	1½
Four months	1⅝	1⅝
Five and six months	1⅝	1⅝

Predictions were heard that another advance of ¼ of 1 per cent might be expected at any time. Forward rates on bankers' bills fluctuated from current discount rates to as high as 2 per cent.

The bill market has been unable yet to adjust itself to new conditions resulting from the British crisis. It was explained today that the market had been prepared to receive large offerings of bills owing partly to the large spread in rates between New York and London markets, but that the flood of offerings which came today was much larger than had been expected.

This was ascribed to selling by foreign banks which had American balances invested in the bill market but now desired to take their balances home to strengthen their positions.

Probably a large amount of these bills are being passed on to the federal bank, possibly under repurchase agreements. The amount of foreign holdings of American bills is shown by the latest report of the reserve banks as about $233,000,000.

Farm Interests Assail Plea for Rate Increase

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—Middle western state representatives in argument before the interstate commerce commission today attacked the plea of the railroads for permission to increase their freight rates and charges 15 per cent.

Organized agriculture, through Clyde M. Reed, formerly governor of Kansas, registered its emphatic objection to any increase in rates on products of the farm. Mr. Reed spoke for the leading farm organizations of the country.

Repeal of the transportation act was predicted by Mr. Reed if the commission increased freight rates on the authority of that law.

"The railroads must accept in common with other industries a drastic cut in earnings in every major depression," he declared.

Criticizes Rail Policy.

"In view of the fluctuations in traffic there is only one way in which railroad income could be measurably stabilized, and that would be to raise rates temporarily in every period of depression and lower them in every period of prosperity. Such a policy would be the exact reverse of a sound policy. Ideally, railroad rates, like taxes, ought to be increased in periods of prosperity and lowered in periods of depression. The proposition now before the interstate commerce commission is the precise reverse of a sound economic policy."

Mr. Reed declared this is the first time that the railroads had asked for an increase in freight rates "in a period of profound business depression."

("It is true that the income of the railroads is reduced below normal, but that is equally true of business in general, and the net income of agriculture has completely disappeared," he said.

An "Intolerable Burden."

Mr. Reed charged that freight rates were now already 50 per cent higher than during the former period of equivalent or higher price levels and that it would be an intolerable burden to cast upon an industry that was prostrate an increase of 15 per cent in freight rates.

"There is no emergency in railway credit or railway operation that justifies the imposition of such a burden," he said.

Similar argument was made by Henry N. Benson, attorney general of Minnesota; Hugh La Master, assistant attorney general of Nebraska; M. B. Hollifield, assistant attorney general of Kentucky, and counsel for the state regulatory commissions of Iowa, Kansas, Wisconsin, South Dakota, Washington and Oklahoma.

FURTHER CURB ON COPPER OUTPUT BELIEVED NEAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 24.—While copper continued to move at a better rate in the open market, it was believed in copper circles today that producers soon would make a move to bring about further curtailment of production to balance supply and surplus.

"It is quite well understood in copper circles that producers will meet in about two or three weeks to review the general situation and attempt to bring about some degree of order in the copper market," Metal and Mineral Markets reports in its weekly summary.

Customer Smelters continued to take business at 7 cents a pound on domestic shipments. Considerable demand for the metal at 7 cents was reported, but producers remain out of the market. Foreign demand also held up at a moderately quickened pace, about 1,500,000 pounds having been taken in the early dealings for shipment abroad at 7⅛ cents.

The British pound fluctuated erratically yesterday and finally closed at $3.82, which was a drop of 29 cents from the previous day's final quotation. On the New York money market the pound was quoted between $3.82 and $3.95, finally closing at the latter figure, which is only 6 cents above the low point reached since the English abandoned the gold standard. The low of $3.75 was reached Monday immediately following the announcement of the change.

On Wednesday the pound gave promise of stabilizing when it steadied around $4.11 after fluctuating between $4.09 and $4.15. Tuesday the closing quotation was $4.19. Hope is expressed in London that the pound will eventually stabilize around $4.40. Some English economists believe that no attempt should be made to stabilize the pound above $4.

NEW YORK CITY $51,000,000 LOAN MADE AT 1⅜ PCT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 24.—New York City borrowed $57,000,000 in Wall street today at the lowest interest cost in its history. The city obtained a loan of $51,000,000 for three months at the annual rate of 1⅜ per cent, and $6,000,000 for four months at an annual rate of 1½ per cent. The nearest approach to today's terms was that of 1.45 per cent rate on a three months' loan of $20,000,000, which was arranged on Sept. 10.

Today's short term borrowing was interpreted in banking circles as indicating that the city will not elect to market a long term bond issue until later in the year. This financing, when it is done, will probably run in excess of $75,000,000.

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE STOCKS

A strong opening was followed late in the day by a sharp reaction and a close well below Wednesday. Volume increased to above 10,000 shares. Chicago Great Western preferred closed 2% higher in the face of the decline in other stocks.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 24.—They knocked the props from under the boys down on the stock exchange this afternoon. The banks which had come to the "support" of the market in its hour of trial last Monday suddenly decided to release their holdings while the releasing was good. About the same time the big professionals of the bear camp decided the time was ripe for an old fashioned killing and cut loose with a shower of short selling orders in all directions.

The flood that followed carried prices down from 2 to more than 15 points throughout the list, completely wiping out yesterday's spectacular gains and replacing most of them with net losses. Closing prices were around the lowest of the day.

Wall street found itself at a loss to account for the overnight reversal of sentiment and various excuses were offered for the market's sudden rightabout. There was nothing in the foreign news except the continued disruption in foreign exchanges to cause such a disturbance and about the worst news in the domestic budget had to do with continued wage cuts and dividend cuts, both of which are old stories to the stock trading community and therefore no longer to be reckoned as factors of top grade importance in the market situation.

Pace Too Fast.

It was generally admitted that the pace of yesterday's "prosperity" boom had been far too fast to endure and that something in the nature of a "secondary reaction" might be looked for in the course of the day or by tomorrow at the latest, but no one expected the selling movement to assume such fearsome proportions as it did this afternoon. The break, coming as it did when everything was looking so rosy, was a big blow to those who have been saying that the market must lead business back to prosperity and suiting action to their convictions by buying stock on the slightest provocation and it left the street gloomier than it has been in a long time.

Obviously every such performance is making it more and more difficult to restore confidence—that necessary ground element of returning affluence.

As in yesterday's sensational upswing the wide price movements extended to every department of the list. By the same rule, the railroad shares which had led the recovery were the foremost in the decline today. Atchison, recognized leader of the group, tumbled 15½ points to 109, or only a little more than half of what it was selling for earlier in the year. Union Pacific crashed 11⅞. Baltimore and Ohio dropped 5½. Rock Island 4½, New York Central 7, New Haven 7⅞, Southern Pacific 8, Norfolk and Western 14, and Illinois Central 3½ points.

Rail Sentiment Depressed.

Bohn Aluminum and Brass.

I have been advised to buy Bohn Aluminum and Brass corporation stock at the present price. Do you know what the earnings were for the first half of this year? I would like general information on the company. —C. L. C.

Bohn Aluminum and Brass corporation is one of the largest manufacturers of aluminum and brass castings in the world. It sells about 40 per cent of its output to the automobile trade. Demand for its products has been developed in the refrigerator, electrical equipment, airplane, and other fields. A special type of piston has been adopted as standard equipment by Ford, Chrysler, Buick, Chevrolet, Studebaker and other automobiles.

Net income for 1930 was $725,596, or $2.06 per share, against net of $2,619,722, or $7.43 per share for 1929. For 1928 net income was $3,185,092, for 1927, $1,181,606, and for 1926, $873,744.

For the first half of 1931 net income was $325,537, or $2.63 per share, against $688,766, or $1.95 per share for the first half of 1930.

The company has effected numerous economies since 1929. At present it is estimated that its volume can drop to 23 per cent of normal capacity without showing a loss. The effect of this is apparent in comparing 1931 earnings with those for the first half of 1930 in view of the substantial shrinkage in volume of business in the 1931 period.

The decrease in earnings in 1930 as compared to 1929 is attributed primarily to lower volume and expenses incidental to the development of new lines and installation of more efficient methods of operation. On Aug. 4, 1931, a press dispatch stated that operations were above 23 per cent of normal capacity. Business from Chrysler corporation occasioned by the introduction of the new Plymouth car was responsible for a substantial volume.

On Dec. 31, 1930, current assets were $5,610,429, and current liabilities were $581,207. Cash and marketable securities alone were in excess of $1,177,000. Working capital was $5,029,222, against $5,075,646 the year before.

The common has been on an annual $1.50 dividend basis since Oct. 1, 1930, previous to which date it had been on a $3 basis.

TIDE OF SELLING WASHES CHICAGO ADVANCES AWAY

All Classes of Securities Suffer Losses.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Easily won price gains were even more easily lost yesterday when a tide of outright liquidation and short selling washed over the market, knocking support from under all classes of stocks and wiping out all trace of Wednesday's price puff.

To La Salle street the change of events was not entirely unexpected, but it came as a rude awakening to speculators who for a few short hours had lived in a world of rising prices and soaring sentiment.

No class of securities was spared in the rush to sell on the Chicago exchange. Utilities, motor accessories, merchandise, investment trust, and miscellaneous shares were pulled off the perch on which they roosted for one day.

Buyers Hard to Find.

The volume of trading continued at about the same rate, but buyers were hard to find. Conditions which accounted for the swift change in the trend were not very clear. The foreign news was not bullish and there was talk of other European countries abandoning the gold standard. But even this unfavorable factor and the adverse character of the dividend news was hardly enough to bring out sufficient short selling to effect the sudden collapse. There was evidence of substantial outright selling in the market on which nobody seemed to agree on the source. There was talk of necessitious liquidation by important groups, but it was guess work at the best.

It was generally agreed that the technical position of the market had been weakened by the two day prohibition on short selling and it did not take much to start the market headed down.

High Priced Stocks Slip.

Attention centered in the utility stock here. In the higher price bracket Public Service no par and Commonwealth Edison each surrendered about five points and the smaller unit issues suffered proportionately. Insull Utility common broke 2 and Middle West, which was the most actively traded in share, was off 10⅝ from its previous closing quotation.

Marshall Field stock, which is still on a $2.50 annual dividend basis, fell 2⅛ to close at 15 on sales of only a few hundred shares. Swift International stood up under the selling early, but finally tugged down and closed a fraction under its previous price. Walgreen, U. S. Radio, U. S. Gypsum, and Swift & Co. were all lower. Bendix was off 2 and Borg-Warner was down 1⅛.

GRAIN MARKETS STRONG AT START BUT DROP LATER

Losses Recorded Despite Bullish Sentiment.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The grain markets made a strong start and a weak finish yesterday. Fairly general buying was in evidence early, with wheat ½@1c and corn ⅛@⅜c above the finish of the previous day at the high point, but bullish ideas were replaced by a feeling of pessimism later when the stock market started to break badly, and a rush to sell all grains followed with wheat breaking 1¼@1⅝c from the top and corn ⅝@1¼c. Final trades were around the inside figures.

Sentiment among wheat traders was more bullish than heretofore, relative strength in Liverpool having some effect, and the prospect of war between China and Japan came in for more attention.

The trade became rather enthusiastic over the prospect of inflation in the price of agricultural commodities due to the depreciation in foreign money, but nervousness over the situation abroad was in evidence later, as sterling exchange broke sharply, and the drop in the latter practically offset the sharp advance in quotations in Liverpool. Wheat futures in the latter market were 3¼@3¼d higher for the day, but in American money they showed ½c higher to ¼c lower as compared with Wednesday, with December quoted at 54¼c.

Winnipeg Wheat Strong.

Houses with eastern connections which were on the buying side of wheat on Wednesday were good sellers yesterday, and there was some selling here against purchases at Winnipeg. The trade paid some attention to reports of a good export business having been worked over night, but all bullish influences were ignored later, and the finish was ⅝c lower with September, 47⅝@47⅞c; December, 48⅝@48¼c, and May, 52⅜@52¾c.

A message from Winnipeg to Lamson Bros. & Co. saying the trade there regarded it probable that Canada would follow the example of England and abandon the gold basis caused some comment on the market, especially as the Winnipeg wheat market was higher, and closed with net gains of ⅝@⅝c, with December at 55⅝c in Canadian currency. Exchange with that country was quoted at 6⅛@7 per cent discount during the day. Better weather conditions prevailed in the prairie provinces and the forecast was for generally fair which is expected to result in a resumption of threshing operations and heavier country offerings.

A local house was a good buyer of December and May wheat early, which was regarded as against sales at Liverpool to close spreads. Russia continues to export heavily, clearances during the last week being 4,720,000 bu, and about 500,000 bu were reported as having been sold to Europe yesterday. Reports to the United States department of agriculture on the Russian situation took a gloomy view regarding the continuation of exports on a large scale.

Cash Interests Buy Corn.

Eastern cash handlers are credited with as having bought around 500,000 bu September corn in the last few days and as having secured the cash article by a delivery on futures. Part of the grain was loaded into a boat yesterday for shipment. Scattered liquidation developed in the nearby future during the day and it declined to 38¾c, equaling the lowest figure of the season, and closed there, with a net loss of ⅝c. New crop months were off ⅜@¾c, with December, 36⅛@37c, and May, 40¾c.

The bulk of the trade in corn was of a local character, and a weakened technical condition was disclosed toward the last. Country offerings to arrive were limited, and shipping demand slow.

Oats and rye showed independent strength early, only to react with other grains later, and oats finished ¼@⅜c lower with September, 21c; December, 22¾c, and May, 25¾c. Rye was ⅝@1⅛c lower, with September, 37c; December, 38½c, and May, 40¼c.

BUTTER AND EGGS HIGHER

Egg futures recorded a good advance on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, closing ¾c higher, while butter futures continued firm, up ⅝@¾c at the close. Potatoes were 1c lower to 1c higher. Butter and eggs were well supported as a result of favorable news on production and the storage movement. The four markets reported 248,000 lbs more butter out and 2,500 cases more eggs out, compared with the year ago movement. The Centralizers' report on production recorded decreases from last week and the same week last year, while reports of egg receipts at packing plants showed sharp decreases from last year. This combination of bullish news brought in new buying and induced a degree of covering, while selling pressure was not as heavy as recently. Sales: Butter, 1,363,300 lbs; eggs, 1,416,000 doz; potatoes, 920,000 lbs. Prices follow:

LARD AT NEW LOWS

Deferred futures of lard declined to the lowest of the season as well as to the lowest in recent years. There was selling attributed to eastern interests and support came mainly from shorts cash interests who were taking profits. The close was at net losses of 2½@10c, the latter in January. Liverpool lard was 3d to 3s 6d higher. Exports were 926,750 lbs. Bellies were up 27½@37½c on futures, September leading. Cash trade was fair to good and packers report a generally satisfactory business in both lard and meats. Stocks in packers' hands are said to be decreasing, but there is a large supply in cold storage warehouses. Pork loins have met a fair demand. Hog prices were off 10c for a new low. There were deliveries of 200,000 lbs of lard and 300,000 lbs of bellies on September contracts. Prices follow:
